30,000 Due In Regina As Protest

Will Demonstrate Against Medicare

REGINA, Sask. (AP) — Thousands of citizens from all parts of Saskatchewan converged on this provincial capital today for a demonstration against the government's compulsory medical care plan.

Appeal for Calm

Leaders of the protest move expressed confidence there would be no violence, but some officials indicated concern by issuing appeals for calm and restraint.

Cavalcades were expected from all leading cities and towns. Estimates of the number of persons taking part ran as high as 20,000 to 30,000. They planned to mass before the provincial legislative building to voice opposition to the medicare plan.

The demonstration is sponsored by the Keep Our Doctors Committee, most vocal group backing the doctors strike which began July 1.

A majority of the province's 700 active physicians have joined in the strike against the controversial plan, claiming it opens the door for government control of the medical profession.

The plan, designed to provide medical care for everyone, is financed by single person and family assessments and by general taxation.

Premier Woodrow Lloyd said he would not appear before the demonstrators, but that he would receive a small delegation if they asked to be heard.

Lloyd said he believed he could make "a pretty astute guess" as to what their message would be.

"I don't think the government is going to be influenced by this kind of demonstration," the premier said.

Streets Barricaded

Streets approaching the legislative building were barricaded, but Lloyd said this was only to pre-

Pageant Success Is Credited to All Cooperating

The 1962 Miss New York State Pageant which took place here last week was a big success due to the voluntary work of many persons, the generous help and cooperation from city departments and the fine support by all local press and radio. It was a real community effort.

This was a statement released today by Albert Kurdt, manager of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce, who served as coordinator for the various phases of the 1962 Pageant.

"It's surprising," Kurdt said, "how big and effective a job volunteers can do when they work together. It is difficult to estimate the total number of extra man hours worked by the volunteers to stage this major statewide event. The comment heard many times, especially from visitors from larger cities was, How can you possibly do the job with all volunteers and with such a small budget?"

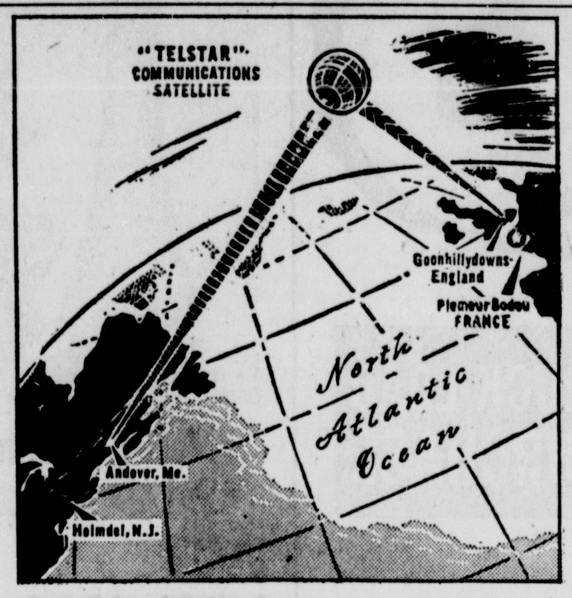
Publicizes City

"Staging the State Pageant in Kingston brings us many thousands of dollars worth of favorable publicity," Kurdt continued, "and it's the only state-wide event held here. There are other beauty contests but Kingston has the only franchise to conduct an official preliminary for the Miss America Pageant in New York State outside New York City."

The 1962 Pageant was the fourth successive Miss New York State Pageant conducted in Kingston. Miss Leonora Slaughter, executive director of the Miss America Pageant in Atlantic City, who was in Kingston for all three days of the State Pageant, was pleased with the results and impressed with the tremendous amount of professional quality work done by volunteers.

George Moore, president of the Miss New York State Pageant for 1961-62, has called a meeting of the board of directors for Thursday night at the Chamber of Commerce office. The results of the 1962 Pageant will be reviewed.

The State Pageant franchise is now held by a board of directors of 12, six appointed by the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce and six by the Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce. The group recently incorporated as a non-profit, membership corporation under the name "Pageant, Inc." The by-laws provide for continued control by a board of directors appointed by the two sponsoring organizations. Directors will serve for three years, two being named by each organization each year. The officers of Pageant Inc., will be elected in the near future but will not take office until September 15, after the Miss America Pageant.



TELSTAR IN ORBIT—Remarkably clear television pictures and a loud and clear telephone call meant a triumphant baptism for Telstar, America's chatterbox new sattelite, which was launched Tuesday from Cape Canaveral. French television officials planned to beam a return program to the U. S. late today or early Thursday. Ground stations in Goonhilly, England and Plemeur Bodou, France, will participate in tests, planned to take place in about a week. (NEA Newschart.)

Four Districts Approve Budgets for Schools

Budgets for 1962-63 in the Rondout Valley, Arlington, Catskill and Saugerties Central School districts were approved Tuesday, and voters in the Highland Central School district defeated the proposed budget.

Budgets as approved were: Rondout Valley—$1,726,410; Arlington—$3,091,744.22; Catskill—$881,055; Saugerties — $1,949,386.85. The defeated Highland budget was $1,392,360.

Voters in the Highland Central School District Tuesday night defeated the proposed $1,392,360 budget for 1962-63 by a vote of 199 to 114 with three ballots voided.

Increase Was $324,792

The budget showed an increase of $324,792 over last year's budget, which was approved at a hearing attended by 71 persons.

Highland voters will go to the polls today from 2 to 9 p. m. to elect a member of the Board of Education. Seeking the post now held by Martin Dayton, who is not seeking another term, were, Frank J. Roberto, an employe of Daystrom, Inc., Poughkeepsie, who has endorsement of the Highland Citizens Committee for Better Schools, and Louis DiPrima, an employe at the Montgomery Ward Store at Poughkeepsie.

Rondout Valley Central School district voters Tuesday night approved a $1,726,410 budget for 1962-63 by a vote of 129 to 44, with one void ballot.

A school district official said the new budget is about 10 per cent higher than last year, but with increased funds from the state the local contribution will show about a three per cent increase over the 1961-62 budget.

Trustees Elected

Board of Education members were elected. Clarence V. Coogan, Plattekill, was elected to succeed Howard Osterhoudt, who did not seek another term. Re-elected were Board members Kevin Reynolds, Rosendale; J. Richard Sheil, RFD, Kingston, and Herbert Siemer, Stone Ridge.

Arlington Central School District voters on Tuesday approved a $3,091,744.22 budget for 1962-63 and elected two members of the Board of Education. The new budget showed an increase of $311,843 over last year.

The vote on the budget was 168 to 27, with six ballots voided.

Dr. A. Berry Credle was elected for a five-year term. He defeated Oscar A. D'Luhosch, incumbent president, and Albert G. Moore. The vote was: Credle 495; D'Luhosch 402; Moore 69.

Richard L. Jetto was named for a five-year term. He defeated Leslie C. Roe, incumbent, and Thomas J. Ingrao. The vote was: Jetto 455; Roe 276; Ingrao 195.

The district voters also approved a proposition calling for $21,468 for the purchase of a new school bus. The vote was 169 to 26, with six votes voided.

31 Persons Vote

A budget of $881,055 was approved unanimously Tuesday by voters in the Catskill Central School district. A school official said 31 persons voted The 1961-62 budget was $807,907.

Catskill voters also approved

India Sends New Peiping Warning On Troop Moves

NEW DELHI (AP) — India accused Red China Tuesday night of a new aggressive thrust onto Indian soil in Ladakh and warned Peiping it will be held wholly responsible if a shooting war results.

Prime minister Nehru, from his vacation spot in Pahlgam, Kashmir, dictated the final contents of a protest note handed to the Communist Chinese embassy here.

The note charged nearly 400 Chinese soldiers penetrated the Galwan Valley in the China-Ladakh border area Tuesday and encircled the Indian military post there.

If the Chinese overrun the post, it would make the sixth Red military base, by India's count, set up in the disputed border area since 1960.

A note last Sunday from Peiping to the Indian government charged that the Indians had established a post in the Galwan area to isolate a Chinese post in the lower reaches of the Shyok River.

An Indian reply said the Chinese were nowhere in the valley when they sent the note and added that they had no business to be there.

Dry Spell Presents Threat Of Crop Damage and Fires

ALBANY, N.Y. AP)—The eastern half of New York State is caught in the dusty grip of a prolonged dry spell that presents a threat of severe crop damage and a critical danger of forest fires.

The peril of fire in parched forests is said to be "the worst in 18 years" in some areas. No major fires have been reported, but many small ones have broken out and more are feared.

The growth of most crops has been "severely retarded," a spokesman for the State Agriculture Department said Tuesday. He added that the situation was growing more critical each day.

"Many grazing pastures are burned out," he said. "They just don't have anything growing on them."

In St. Lawrence and Tompkins counties, dairy farmers have appealed for state and federal disaster aid. The State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee in Syracuse said there would "undoubtedly be more requests" for aid.

In many communties, issuance of burning permits has been suspended, and use of water has been restricted.

The State Conservation Department reported that the levels of most reservoirs were far below normal. Several boating accidents have resulted from low water-levels in lakes and rivers.

The Weather Bureau said rain in some Eastern New York counties during May and June averaged nearly 4½ inches below normal.

Scattered light showers or thundershowers were forecast for today.

A short-lived heavy rain over the weekend brought some relief, but an agriculture spokesman said it was not enough.

Hay crops in many areas are one-third to one-half below normal. Because of the dry pasture conditions, many farmers have had to feed livestock from an already short supply of stored hay.

The Agriculture Department said berries of all varieties have dried up. However, fruit trees, which have deep roots, have not been damaged much by the drought.

Dairy farmers are looking to the federal government for permission to use their idle soil-bank land for grazing and harvesting hay.

In the western part of the state, in contrast to eastern sections, the farmers had no complaints on the weather.

Mrs. FDR Speaks at New Paltz

Corps to Benefit U. S., She Says

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt presented a series of three talks at the State University College at New Paltz Wednesday. The talks began at 10 a. m. and continued until 2 p. m.

Her first address was to 38 members of the Senior Citizens Group, consisting mainly of retired teachers on the campus for a two week session under the direction of Robert Decormier, president of the New York State Retired Teachers Association.

The group presented her with an honorary life membership in the association.

Mrs. Roosevelt then talked with 60 Peace Corps trainees studying at the college for eight weeks to prepare for high school teaching positions in the African country of Sierra Leone beginning this fall.

Her third address was to a group some 800 students, faculty, and guests in the afternoon.

A member of President Kennedy's National Advisory Committee on the Peace Corps, Mrs. Roosevelt spoke on that topic and also gave advice to young college people. She said the primary obligation of young people in education is "to learn how to learn. You must train your mind as an instrument rather than learn to cram your mind with facts that may not be facts tomorrow.

U. S. to Benefit a Lot

She predicted that the main value of the Peace Corps will be to the United States because "groups of people will be coming back to us who have lived for two years with people of other countries."

Mrs. Roosevelt indicated that through the experience of Peace Corps volunteers the United States would learn about some of the mistakes that were made in foreign policy and would learn why the people of the United States are sometimes misunderstood.

She cautioned the trainees that they "must have respect for the habits and cultures of the people of other nations," and emphasized that "You can't cram down their throats the ways of the American people."

She told the summer session college students that "We are living in an age of scientific revolution which will effect the whole economic system and our social customs and educational future. This is not just happening to us, but to the whole world," she emphasized.

Following her main talk Mrs. Roosevelt answered a number of questions from the audience.

In response to a question about the values of fallout shelters she commented, "anywhere in an area where there is a direct hit the idea of a fallout shelter is just nonsense."

In answer to a question about the race being assimilated in a hundred years she said "the strongest race in the end will win, but I haven't any idea which is the strongest race. It is quite likely that the white and colored races will be living side by side a hundred years from now."

Regarding the Supreme Court decision banning the Regents Prayer she said, "I can't understand all this emotion. The decision, in essence, said anyone can have a prayer in school, but we can't have Regents writing the prayer and saying you must pray that prayer."

Mrs. Roosevelt was introduced by Dr. William J. Haggerty, president of the college.

Showdown Is Prospect As Algeria Talks Fail

Apparently backed by the bulk of the 45,000-man National Army of Liberation, Ben Bella planned a triumphant advance into western Algeria from Rabat, Morocco, where talks with Ben Khedda's emissaries broke down early today.

Victory Parade Planned

A vanguard of 2,000 troops of the liberation army, with Soviet-built artillery, was moving to Oran, in western Algeria, the nation's second largest city. A big victory parade was planned in advance of Ben Bella's arrival there Thursday, apparently to demonstrate his popularity. Then the leader, who advocates a Socialist revolution in Algeria, will address a mass meeting.

Ben Bella, it appeared, counted upon a procession of triumph from his entry at Marnia, his birthplace on the Moroccan border, to Tlemcen, where he planned to stay tonight, and on to Oran and perhaps Algiers.

No New Talks Set

No new amity talks were scheduled in Rabat.

Holds to Hard Line

He was pictured as confident of the backing of the national liberation army in any showdown with the Algiers regime.

Ben Bella arranged to leave Rabat for the Algerian frontier on his way to Tlemcen, in western Algeria, camp site of the heavily armed troops faithful to him.

Western Algeria prepared a hero's welcome for the radical leftist's return to Algeria for the first time since the North African territory became independent of France eight days ago.

Ben Bella supporters control virtually all of western and eastern Algeria, principally through the 45,000-man national liberation army returning from exile in Tunisia and Morocco.

Ben Khedda's control is limited largely to the Algiers area. Of the six guerrilla zones in Algeria, only one is avowedly supporting Ben Khedda.

Olive Bridge Man Rescues Wife in Early Fire Today

Awakened by dense smoke early today, Charles Biegler, of Olive Bridge, dashed from a first floor bedroom of his burning home to the second floor and rescued his wife and the family pet dog and then ran to the nearby home of a son and summoned firemen.

Chief Alfred Fox of the Olive Fire Department was notified of the fire about 3:30 a. m., and because of a water shortage he ordered volunteers with pumpers from Olive Bridge, Shokan, West Shokan, Krumville - Samsonville and Boiceville fire companies. The department emergency truck also was dispatched to the scene.

Chief Fox said Mr. and Mrs. Biegler were asleep in their two-story frame home on Route 212 almost opposite the entrance to the Onteora Raceway, when Biegler was awakened by smoke, which filled all rooms of the residence.

Biegler groped his way to a second floor bedroom through a smoke-filled hallway and rescued his wife and the family dog. Once outside the burning house, Biegler ran to the nearby home of a son, Howard, smashed a window to awaken him and telephoned fire headquarters.

According to Chief Fox, who was assisted by Deputy Chief Robert Adsit in organizing the operation of firefighters and equipment at the scene, the fire evidently started in the second floor bedroom. Biegler said when he entered the room to get his

Slow on Antimissiles

Think Soviet Far From War System

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Informed U.S. officials believe the Russians still are a long way from achieving a combat ready antimissile-missile system.

They are not disputing that the Russians may have developed an antimissile rocket, as Soviet Premier Khrushchev claimed Tuesday. But they stress that development of such a rocket is only part—and not the most difficult part—of the problem of fashioning a complete antimissile system, with its associated radar and other highly sensitive and complex gear.

One of the biggest problems—as the United States has found in its work with the Nike Zeus antimissile system—is to perfect radar that can discriminate between oncoming warheads and decoys sent out by an enemy to confuse and foil the defenses.

One official familiar with intelligence reports said the Russians have been emplacing large numbers of fairly powerful radar units, but that this radar is believed able to reach no higher than perhaps 100,000 feet and apparently is part of defenses against manned bombers.

He said there is no information here to indicate the Russians have developed an operational warhead, as distinguished from a research and test model.

It is known that the Russians last September exploded high above earth a nuclear test device that had some of the characteris-

Temporary Guard Rail Put Up

Traffic Is Restored On Washington Viaduct

Traffic was restored this morning on the Washington Avenue viaduct which had been closed since a section of concrete along its western grade fell away taking guard rail with it Sunday.

It was decided after a Tuesday afternoon inspection tour, Mayor John J. Schwenk said, to impose speed and and weight limitations and to maintain daytime one-lane travel on the west end while repair work is in progress. Two-lane travel under protection of lighted barricades and supervised by a watchman will be permitted at night.

Guard Rail Installed

Charles J. Cole, public works superintendent, today said a temporary wooden guard rail has been completed along the damaged section.

Decision to permit traffic on the structure as repair work continues, the mayor said, came after Tuesday's inspection tour, and was based on the opinion of City Engineer Arthur F. Hallinan. The latter was with the mayor, Superintendent Cole, Police Chief Robert F. Murphy, state engineers Jeff Parkerson and John Meara.

Two public works department flagmen will direct traffic over the one-lane section during daytime working hours.

Limits Are Set

A weight limit of six tons has been set mainly to eliminate heavy vibration, and vehicles will be limited to a speed of 15 miles an hour.

Illuminated and reflective signs will be placed at proper locations to notify drivers of weight and speed limits and of all conditions calling for caution. Repair work is expected to last about a week.

Mayor Schwenk noted that the state engineers complimented the local public works department for the repair work in progress. They served generally as consultants on the tour and conferred with Superintendent Cole on repair of a section of the overpass above the strip of Washington Avenue leading into Taylor Street.

To Replace Bridge

A Public Service Commission order early in 1960 calls for razing of the 48-year-old structure and re-establishment at grade on Washington Avenue of the remaining railroad which has a schedule of only a few trains a week. The narrow Esopus Creek Bridge will be replaced as part of the project.

State engineers have completed plans to the point of forwarding copies to Mayor Schwenk last month. Property appraisal and local legislation are required before the state public

General to Take Over for Franco, Cabinet Shuffled

By HAROLD K. MILKS

MADRID (AP)—Gen. Francisco Franco has designated Spain's highest ranking soldier as his official successor and shuffled his Cabinet in a predicted prelude to political and economic reform.

Many experts here described the move as directed toward an early restoration of the monarchy in Spain.

Named Vice President

By naming Capt. Gen. Augustin Munoz Grandes, 66, as vice president the 69-year-old chief of state cleared up the long-pending question of who will succeed him if he dies.

Munoz Grandes has been chairman of the high military staff since 1957. Before that he was army minister for six years. He was secretary-general of the Falange party in 1939, and was an outstanding officer during the Spanish civil war.

A close associate of Franco in his 25 years of rule, Munoz Grandes commanded the Spanish Blue Division that fought alongside Nazi German troops on the Russian front in World War II.

Franco's decree appointing Munoz Grandes said he will continue to act as general commander of the high staff.

Seven New Ministers

It added he will be charged with the coordination of the national defense departments and will carry out those functions he is expressly ordered by the president of the government, whom he will replace in case of vacancy, absence or illness."

Seven new ministers were named in the first Cabinet changes Franco had made since Feb. 25, 1957.

Hitler Link Angers Moses, Bolts Fire Island Meeting

JONES BEACH, N. Y. (AP) — The quoting of an old letter likening Robert Moses' actions toward Fire Island to Adolf Hitler's toward the Sudetenland sent the longtime public official walking out of a public hearing here. The meeting collapsed.

The incident occurred Tuesday at a hearing that included consideration of Moses' plan to build a four-lane highway on Fire Island a presently roadless string of summer resorts off Long Island's Atlantic oceanside accessible only by ferry.

About 1,500 year-round and summer residents of Fire Island came to the hearing to oppose the Moses plan.

Charles Collingwood, radio - television commentator and chairman of the Fire Island Voters Association's Committee on Legislation, quoted the old letter—which was written to a newspaper by the late news commentator Elmer Davis on Oct. 3, 1938.

It said:

"Mr. Moses wanted to 'save' Fire Island 10 years ago, but luckily hard times came along and he didn't have money enough to do it. Luckily, because he would save Fire Island the way Hitler is saving the Sudetenland—"

The letter had gone on to say "to the distress of many of the inhabitants," but Collingwood was drowned out by applause and then by boos and jeers as Moses rose and walked out.

Assembly Speaker Joseph Carlino, chairman of the hearings, rapped for order and declared:

"It is very strange when we can generate applause by a comparison of Adolf Hitler to one of the greatest public servants this country has ever known."

Collingwood later said he meant no offense.

The Fire Island Voters Association has led the opposition to the Fire Island roadway, part of a proposed $106.4 million program for rebuilding and stabilizing the storm - torn Atlantic shoreline along the 120-mile length of Long Island.

TV Fine, Calls Loud And Clear

France Will Beam Return Show Here

As Telstar, America's chatterbox new satellite, zoomed through lonely space today on its pioneering mission, new praise for its first successes came from Europe in cheering the arrival of space-age television.

"A clear triumph for America," headlined London's Daily Herald.

'Total Success:' France

This seemed to sum up what people said on buses, trains and on the subways as they went to work this mornig.

"It was a total success," commented the French newspaper L'Aurore.

In triumphant baptism Tuesday night, it sent television pictures spanning the Atlantic to France and England, as well as into U.S. homes. It relayed a telephone call from Maine to Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson in Washington as loud and clear as the best of local calls.

Pictures Remarkably Clear

Then for an encore, the versatile Telstar—only a yard wide—simultaneously transmitted news stories at a 1,000-word-a-minute clip, relayed photographs perfectly and supplied two-way telephone calls with perfect aplomb from a 3,000-mile height in space.

Remarkably clear television pictures were received in France, and were to be relayed by tape into French homes today.

French television officials planned to beam a return program to the United States late tonight or early Thursday French time, which is six hours ahead of New York in Eastern Standard Time.

A Paris dispatch said this would include a song by Yves Montand, several views of Paris, and a message from Jacques Marette, French communications minister.

Britons Stay Up Late

In Britain, faint and fleeting pictures were picked up as Telstar received, amplified and re-radiated the program beamed into space from a powerful horn antenna in the little town of Andover, Maine. The first telecast via space opened with a view of

California Says New York Wrong About Industry

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A statistical report on industrial development in New York State was a new element today in the cross-country controversy between Gov. Rockefeller and California Gov. Edmund G. Brown over economic growth.

The report, issued by Rockefeller's offce, listed 90 new plants and expansion of 735 existing plants in New York State during 1961.

Rockefeller, a Republican, has made frequent claims in recent months of a growing boom in economic activity in the state since he took office in 1959. His contentions have been challenged by Brown and also by New York State Democrats.

Brown, a Democrat, objected to a recent speech by Rockefeller in which the New York governor claimed that the number of new plants under construction in New York State last year was three times the number begun in California.

Both governors seek re-election this year. Rockefeller is widely regarded as a leading contender for the 1964 GOP presidential nomination.

Brown argued that neither state had an accurate record of the number of new plants. But Rockefeller, in a letter of reply, offered to send Brown a list.

The list was released here yesterday after the governor's office received several requests, including some from reporter.

In his speech, Rockefeller cited figures in an industrial-development magazine that showed "352 new plants for New York State in 1961...."

In the report issued Tuesday, "825 major new firms and expansions in 1961" were claimed for the state. The report was prepared by the State Commerce Department.

New or expanded plants on the list were thos that involved an

A school district official said the new budget is about 10 per cent higher than last year, but with increased funds from the state the local contribution will show about a three per cent increase over the 1961-62 budget.

Trustees Elected

Board of Education members were elected. Clarence V. Coogan, Plattekill, was elected to succeed Howard Osterhoudt, who did not seek another term. Re-elected were Board members Kevin Reynolds, Rosendale; J. Richard Sheil, RFD, Kingston, and Herbert Siemer, Stone Ridge.

Arlington Central School District voters on Tuesday approved a $3,091,744.22 budget for 1962-63 and elected two members of the Board of Education. The new budget showed an increase of $311,843 over last year.

The vote on the budget was 168 to 27, with six ballots voided.

Dr. A. Berry Credle was elected for a five-year term. He defeated Oscar A. D'Luhosch, incumbent president, and Albert G. Moore. The vote was: Credle 495; D'Luhosch 402; Moore 69.

Richard L. Jetto was named for a five-year term. He defeated Leslie C. Roe, incumbent, and Thomas J. Ingrao. The vote was: Jetto 455; Roe 276; Ingrao 195.

The district voters also approved a proposition calling for $21,468 for the purchase of a new school bus. The vote was 169 to 26, with six votes voided.

31 Persons Vote

A budget of $881,055 was approved unanimously Tuesday by voters in the Catskill Central School district. A school official said 31 persons voted The 1961-62 budget was $807,907.

Catskill voters also approved

India Sends New Peiping Warning On Troop Moves

NEW DELHI (AP) — India accused Red China Tuesday night of a new aggressive thrust onto Indian soil in Ladakh and warned Peiping it will be held wholly responsible if a shooting war results.

Prime minister Nehru, from his vacation spot in Pahlgam, Kashmir, dictated the final contents of a protest note handed to the Communist Chinese embassy here.

The note charged nearly 400 Chinese soldiers penetrated the Galwan Valley in the China-Ladakh border area Tuesday and encircled the Indian military post there.

If the Chinese overrun the post, it would make the sixth Red military base, by India's count, set up in the disputed border area since 1960.

A note last Sunday from Peiping to the Indian government charged that the Indians had established a post in the Galwan area to isolate a Chinese post in the lower reaches of the Shyok River.

An Indian reply said the Chinese were nowhere in the valley when they sent the note and added that they had no business to be there.

Dry Spell Presents Threat Of Crop Damage and Fires

ALBANY, N.Y. AP)—The eastern half of New York State is caught in the dusty grip of a prolonged dry spell that presents a threat of severe crop damage and a critical danger of forest fires.

The peril of fire in parched forests is said to be "the worst in 18 years" in some areas. No major fires have been reported, but many small ones have broken out and more are feared.

The growth of most crops has been "severely retarded," a spokesman for the State Agriculture Department said Tuesday. He added that the situation was growing more critical each day.

"Many grazing pastures are burned out," he said. "They just don't have anything growing on them."

In St. Lawrence and Tompkins counties, dairy farmers have appealed for state and federal disaster aid. The State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee in Syracuse said there would "undoubtedly be more requests" for aid.

In many communties, issuance of burning permits has been suspended, and use of water has been restricted.

The State Conservation Department reported that the levels of most reservoirs were far below normal. Several boating accidents have resulted from low water-levels in lakes and rivers.

The Weather Bureau said rain in some Eastern New York counties during May and June averaged nearly 4½ inches below normal.

Scattered light showers or thundershowers were forecast for today.

A short-lived heavy rain over the weekend brought some relief, but an agriculture spokesman said it was not enough.

Hay crops in many areas are one-third to one-half below normal. Because of the dry pasture conditions, many farmers have had to feed livestock from an already short supply of stored hay.

The Agriculture Department said berries of all varieties have dried up. However, fruit trees, which have deep roots, have not been damaged much by the drought.

Dairy farmers are looking to the federal government for permission to use their idle soil-bank land for grazing and harvesting hay.

In the western part of the state, in contrast to eastern sections, the farmers had no complaints on the weather.

Mrs. FDR Speaks at New Paltz

Corps to Benefit U. S., She Says

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt presented a series of three talks at the State University College at New Paltz Wednesday. The talks began at 10 a. m. and continued until 2 p. m.

Her first address was to 38 members of the Senior Citizens Group, consisting mainly of retired teachers on the campus for a two week session under the direction of Robert Decormier, president of the New York State Retired Teachers Association.

The group presented her with an honorary life membership in the association.

Mrs. Roosevelt then talked with 60 Peace Corps trainees studying at the college for eight weeks to prepare for high school teaching positions in the African country of Sierra Leone beginning this fall.

Her third address was to a group some 800 students, faculty, and guests in the afternoon.

A member of President Kennedy's National Advisory Committee on the Peace Corps, Mrs. Roosevelt spoke on that topic and also gave advice to young college people. She said the primary obligation of young people in education is "to learn how to learn. You must train your mind as an instrument rather than learn to cram your mind with facts that may not be facts tomorrow.

U. S. to Benefit a Lot

She predicted that the main value of the Peace Corps will be to the United States because "groups of people will be coming back to us who have lived for two years with people of other countries."

Mrs. Roosevelt indicated that through the experience of Peace Corps volunteers the United States would learn about some of the mistakes that were made in foreign policy and would learn why the people of the United States are sometimes misunderstood.

She cautioned the trainees that they "must have respect for the habits and cultures of the people of other nations," and emphasized that "You can't cram down their throats the ways of the American people."

She told the summer session college students that "We are living in an age of scientific revolution which will effect the whole economic system and our social customs and educational future. This is not just happening to us, but to the whole world," she emphasized.

Following her main talk Mrs. Roosevelt answered a number of questions from the audience.

In response to a question about the values of fallout shelters she commented, "anywhere in an area where there is a direct hit the idea of a fallout shelter is just nonsense."

In answer to a question about the race being assimilated in a hundred years she said "the strongest race in the end will win, but I haven't any idea which is the strongest race. It is quite likely that the white and colored races will be living side by side a hundred years from now."

Regarding the Supreme Court decision banning the Regents Prayer she said, "I can't understand all this emotion. The decision, in essence, said anyone can have a prayer in school, but we can't have Regents writing the prayer and saying you must pray that prayer."

Mrs. Roosevelt was introduced by Dr. William J. Haggerty, president of the college.

Showdown Is Prospect As Algeria Talks Fail

Apparently backed by the bulk of the 45,000-man National Army of Liberation, Ben Bella planned a triumphant advance into western Algeria from Rabat, Morocco, where talks with Ben Khedda's emissaries broke down early today.

Victory Parade Planned

A vanguard of 2,000 troops of the liberation army, with Soviet-built artillery, was moving to Oran, in western Algeria, the nation's second largest city. A big victory parade was planned in advance of Ben Bella's arrival there Thursday, apparently to demonstrate his popularity. Then the leader, who advocates a Socialist revolution in Algeria, will address a mass meeting.

Ben Bella, it appeared, counted upon a procession of triumph from his entry at Marnia, his birthplace on the Moroccan border, to Tlemcen, where he planned to stay tonight, and on to Oran and perhaps Algiers.

No New Talks Set

No new amity talks were scheduled in Rabat.

Holds to Hard Line

He was pictured as confident of the backing of the national liberation army in any showdown with the Algiers regime.

Western Algeria prepared a hero's welcome for the radical leftist's return to Algeria for the first time since the North African territory became independent of France eight days ago.

Ben Bella supporters control virtually all of western and eastern Algeria, principally through the 45,000-man national liberation army returning from exile in Tunisia and Morocco.

Ben Khedda's control is limited largely to the Algiers area. Of the six guerrilla zones in Algeria, only one is avowedly supporting Ben Khedda.

Olive Bridge Man Rescues Wife in Early Fire Today

Awakened by dense smoke early today, Charles Biegler, of Olive Bridge, dashed from a first floor bedroom of his burning home to the second floor and rescued his wife and the family pet dog and then ran to the nearby home of a son and summoned firemen.

Chief Alfred Fox of the Olive Fire Department was notified of the fire about 3:30 a. m., and because of a water shortage he ordered volunteers with pumpers from Olive Bridge, Shokan, West Shokan, Krumville - Samsonville and Boiceville fire companies. The department emergency truck also was dispatched to the scene.

Chief Fox said Mr. and Mrs. Biegler were asleep in their two-story frame home on Route 212 almost opposite the entrance to the Onteora Raceway, when Biegler was awakened by smoke, which filled all rooms of the residence.

Biegler groped his way to a second floor bedroom through a smoke-filled hallway and rescued his wife and the family dog. Once outside the burning house, Biegler ran to the nearby home of a son, Howard, smashed a window to awaken him and telephoned fire headquarters.

According to Chief Fox, who was assisted by Deputy Chief Robert Adsit in organizing the operation of firefighters and equipment at the scene, the fire evidently started in the second floor bedroom. Biegler said when he entered the room to get his

Slow on Antimissiles

Think Soviet Far From War System

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Informed U.S. officials believe the Russians still are a long way from achieving a combat ready antimissile-missile system.

They are not disputing that the Russians may have developed an antimissile rocket, as Soviet Premier Khrushchev claimed Tuesday. But they stress that development of such a rocket is only part—and not the most difficult part—of the problem of fashioning a complete antimissile system, with its associated radar and other highly sensitive and complex gear.

One of the biggest problems—as the United States has found in its work with the Nike Zeus antimissile system—is to perfect radar that can discriminate between oncoming warheads and decoys sent out by an enemy to confuse and foil the defenses.

One official familiar with intelligence reports said the Russians have been emplacing large numbers of fairly powerful radar units, but that this radar is believed able to reach no higher than perhaps 100,000 feet and apparently is part of defenses against manned bombers.

He said there is no information here to indicate the Russians have developed an operational warhead, as distinguished from a research and test model.

It is known that the Russians last September exploded high above earth a nuclear test device that had some of the characteris-

Temporary Guard Rail Put Up

Traffic Is Restored On Washington Viaduct

Traffic was restored this morning on the Washington Avenue viaduct which had been closed since a section of concrete along its western grade fell away taking guard rail with it Sunday.

It was decided after a Tuesday afternoon inspection tour, Mayor John J. Schwenk said, to impose speed and and weight limitations and to maintain daytime one-lane travel on the west end while repair work is in progress. Two-lane travel under protection of lighted barricades and supervised by a watchman will be permitted at night.

Guard Rail Installed

Charles J. Cole, public works superintendent, today said a temporary wooden guard rail has been completed along the damaged section.

Decision to permit traffic on the structure as repair work continues, the mayor said, came after Tuesday's inspection tour, and was based on the opinion of City Engineer Arthur F. Hallinan. The latter was with the mayor, Superintendent Cole, Police Chief Robert F. Murphy, state engineers Jeff Parkerson and John Meara.

Two public works department flagmen will direct traffic over the one-lane section during daytime working hours.

Limits Are Set

A weight limit of six tons has been set mainly to eliminate heavy vibration, and vehicles will be limited to a speed of 15 miles an hour.

Illuminated and reflective signs will be placed at proper locations to notify drivers of weight and speed limits and of all conditions calling for caution. Repair work is expected to last about a week.

Mayor Schwenk noted that the state engineers complimented the local public works department for the repair work in progress. They served generally as consultants on the tour and conferred with Superintendent Cole on repair of a section of the overpass above the strip of Washington Avenue leading into Taylor Street.

To Replace Bridge

A Public Service Commission order early in 1960 calls for razing of the 48-year-old structure and re-establishment at grade on Washington Avenue of the remaining railroad which has a schedule of only a few trains a week. The narrow Esopus Creek Bridge will be replaced as part of the project.

State engineers have completed plans to the point of forwarding copies to Mayor Schwenk last month. Property appraisal and local legislation are required before the state public

General to Take Over for Franco, Cabinet Shuffled

By HAROLD K. MILKS

MADRID (AP)—Gen. Francisco Franco has designated Spain's highest ranking soldier as his official successor and shuffled his Cabinet in a predicted prelude to political and economic reform.

Many experts here described the move as directed toward an early restoration of the monarchy in Spain.

Named Vice President

By naming Capt. Gen. Agustin Munoz Grandes, 66, as vice president the 69-year-old chief of state cleared up the long-pending question of who will succeed him if he dies.

Munoz Grandes has been chairman of the high military staff since 1957. Before that he was army minister for six years. He was secretary-general of the Falange party in 1939, and was an outstanding officer during the Spanish civil war.

A close associate of Franco in his 25 years of rule, Munoz Grandes commanded the Spanish Blue Division that fought alongside Nazi German troops on the Russian front in World War II.

Franco's decree appointing Munoz Grandes said he will continue to act as general commander of the high staff.

Seven New Ministers

It added he will be charged with the coordination of the national defense departments and will carry out those functions he is expressly ordered by the president of the government, whom he will replace in case of vacancy, absence or illness."

Seven new ministers were named in the first Cabinet changes Franco had made since Feb. 25, 1957.

Hitler Link Angers Moses, Bolts Fire Island Meeting

JONES BEACH, N. Y. (AP) — The quoting of an old letter likening Robert Moses' actions toward Fire Island to Adolf Hitler's toward the Sudetenland sent the longtime public official walking out of a public hearing here. The meeting collapsed.

The incident occurred Tuesday at a hearing that included consideration of Moses' plan to build a four-lane highway on Fire Island a presently roadless string of summer resorts off Long Island's Atlantic oceanside accessible only by ferry.

About 1,500 year-round and summer residents of Fire Island came to the hearing to oppose the Moses plan.

Charles Collingwood, radio - television commentator and chairman of the Fire Island Voters Association's Committee on Legislation, quoted the old letter—which was written to a newspaper by the late news commentator Elmer Davis on Oct. 3, 1938.

It said:

"Mr. Moses wanted to 'save' Fire Island 10 years ago, but luckily hard times came along and he didn't have money enough to do it. Luckily, because he would save Fire Island the way Hitler is saving the Sudetenland—"

The letter had gone on to say "to the distress of many of the inhabitants," but Collingwood was drowned out by applause and then by boos and jeers as Moses rose and walked out.

Assembly Speaker Joseph Carlino, chairman of the hearings, rapped for order and declared:

"It is very strange when we can generate applause by a comparison of Adolf Hitler to one of the greatest public servants this country has ever known."

Collingwood later said he meant no offense.

The Fire Island Voters Association has led the opposition to the Fire Island roadway, part of a proposed $106.4 million program for rebuilding and stabilizing the storm - torn Atlantic shoreline along the 120-mile length of Long Island.

TV Fine, Calls Loud And Clear

France Will Beam Return Show Here

As Telstar, America's chatterbox new satellite, zoomed through lonely space today on its pioneering mission, new praise for its first successes came from Europe in cheering the arrival of space-age television.

"A clear triumph for America," headlined London's Daily Herald.

'Total Success:' France

This seemed to sum up what people said on buses, trains and on the subways as they went to work this mornig.

"It was a total success," commented the French newspaper L'Aurore.

In triumphant baptism Tuesday night, it sent television pictures spanning the Atlantic to France and England, as well as into U.S. homes. It relayed a telephone call from Maine to Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson in Washington as loud and clear as the best of local calls.

Pictures Remarkably Clear

Then for an encore, the versatile Telstar—only a yard wide—simultaneously transmitted news stories at a 1,000-word-a-minute clip, relayed photographs perfectly and supplied two-way telephone calls with perfect aplomb from a 3,000-mile height in space.

Remarkably clear television pictures were received in France, and were to be relayed by tape into French homes today.

French television officials planned to beam a return program to the United States late tonight or early Thursday French time, which is six hours ahead of New York in Eastern Standard Time.

A Paris dispatch said this would include a song by Yves Montand, several views of Paris, and a message from Jacques Marette, French communications minister.

Britons Stay Up Late

In Britain, faint and fleeting pictures were picked up as Telstar received, amplified and re-radiated the program beamed into space from a powerful horn antenna in the little town of Andover, Maine. The first telecast via space opened with a view of

California Says New York Wrong About Industry

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A statistical report on industrial development in New York State was a new element today in the cross-country controversy between Gov. Rockefeller and California Gov. Edmund G. Brown over economic growth.

The report, issued by Rockefeller's office, listed 90 new plants and expansion of 735 existing plants in New York State during 1961.

Rockefeller, a Republican, has made frequent claims in recent months of a growing boom in economic activity in the state since he took office in 1959. His contentions have been challenged by Brown and also by New York State Democrats.

Brown, a Democrat, objected to a recent speech by Rockefeller in which the New York governor claimed that the number of new plants under construction in New York State last year was three times the number begun in California.

Both governors seek re-election this year. Rockefeller is widely regarded as a leading contender for the 1964 GOP presidential nomination.

Brown argued that neither state had an accurate record of the number of new plants. But Rockefeller, in a letter of reply, offered to send Brown a list.

The list was released here yesterday after the governor's office received several requests, including some from repories.

In his speech, Rockefeller cited figures in an industrial-development magazine that showed "352 new plants for New York State in 1961...."

In the report issued Tuesday, "825 major new firms and expansions in 1961" were claimed for the state. The report was prepared by the State Commerce Department.

New or expanded plants on the list were thos that involved an

Rockefeller Urges Justice Dept. to Aid Negro Leader

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller says it is of the "utmost urgency" that the Justice Department "take immediate steps to assure the physical safety" of Dr. Martin Luther King, the Negro integration leader, and three companions, who have been jailed in Albany, Ga.

The governor urged the speedy action in a telegram Tuesday to U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, the President's brother.

The Rev. Dr. King and the other three were sent to jail Tuesday for 45 days for violating a city ordinance that prohibits street demonstrations without a permit. They were convicted of leading a protest march Dec. 16 against segregation policies.

As jail inmates, the minister and his companions are subject to assignment to convict work gangs on public streets.

Rockefeller, in asking for assurances of the Rev. Dr. King's safety, noted "reported threats of harassment, or worse" of the anti-segregation leader as a member of such a gang.

He also asked Kennedy for an immediate investigation to determine "whether constitutional rights of peaceable assembly have been violated in these cases."

Keating Not Sure

Javits Confident Senate Will Pass Medicare Plan

By JOSEPH R. COYNE
Associated Press Special Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., who helped draft the compromise medical care plan for the aged that is now before the Senate, boldly predicts its passage by Congress this year.

But Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., who also worked on the compromise, isn't as optimistic.

Although Keating, like Javits, foresees Senate passage of the bi-partisan compromise, Keating says there's only a 50-50 chance the bill will win House approval, and only if the Kennedy administration puts its full weight behind it.

Lead GOP Efforts

Both Javits and Keating have been in the forefront of Republican efforts to modify the administration's medical care plan for the aged so that persons outside the social security system would be included.

The compromise also would give persons 65 and over the option to retain their private health insurance.

Keating said the administration's willingness in this case to accept Republican suggestions has produced a measure that can win Congressional approval.

"But there is no question that the administration must provide some momentum of its own," he added.

Otherwise, no health-care bill will be passed this year, he said.

Hard Boiled, He Says

Keating said the main reason Congress had accomplished so little this year was what he termed the administration's "all-or-nothing, hard-boiled attitude."

Prior to the recent medicare compromise, Keating said, all Republican suggestions were rejected outright by the administration.

Javits said his prediction for House passage of the medicare compromise stems from the fact all House members must seek re-election or retire this year and they will be under heavy pressure from their home districts to adopt the program.

"Americans like to have an issue decided, pro or con," Javits said.

Considering Bonds

The Treasury Department is considering the feasibility of offering income tax refunds in U.S. savings bonds—an idea broached by John V. Ballard, a New York City attorney.

Ballard suggested this three years ago but until recently the Treasury Department had shown no interest in the idea.

On June 27, however, Javits received a letter from the department expressing interest. The department said the idea might be adopted if technical problems could be resolved.

Javits had forwarded Ballard's letters to the department for study.

Publisher Is Named To State Authority

WATERTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — John B. Johnson, publisher of the Watertown Daily Times, has been elected chairman of the State Dormitory Authority. He had been secretary.

As chairman, Johnson succeeds William C. Warren Jr. of Buffalo who retired from the authority when his three-year term expired June 30.

Russell Scofield of Albany was elected secretary and Homer H. Woods of Buffalo was named assistant secretary. Woods was appointed to the authority last week by the State Board of Regents to succeed Warren.

The authority helps to finance construction of dormitories and other facilities at public and private colleges and universities in the state. Its members receive no salaries.

The election of new officers took place in Watertown Monday.

Sees Burns in Race

Albert Hecht, chairman of the Dutchess County Democratic Committee, made known Tuesday that Irving S. Burns, Cold Spring, Putnam County, is assured of the party designation for state senator from the 35th district, which comprises Putnam, Columbia and Dutchess Counties. Senator Ernest I. Hatfield, of Hyde Park, is expected to receive the Dutchess Republican County Committee designation for an eighth term at the GOP designation dinner meeting Thursday night at the Nelson House, Poughkeepsie. Burns opposed Senator Hatfield in 1958 and 1960.

$400 Million Is Criminal Justice Fee for State

CANTON, N.Y. (AP)—A member of Gov. Rockefeller's staff says the amount state and local governments in New York spend to administer criminal justice each year is exceeded only by education and public welfare expenditures.

Elliot H. Lumbard, Rockefeller's special assistant counsel for law enforcement, said Tuesday night that state and local expenditures for administration of criminal justice totaled at least $400 million a year.

"This total is probably exceeded only by expenditures for education and public welfare," he said.

An annual total of about $860 million is spent on public elementary and secondary school education and about $600 million a year is expended on public welfare in the state.

Lumbard addressed 500 correctional workers at the 13th annual Moran Institute on Delinquency and Crime. The five-day meeting ends Friday.

NEED TO SPEAK UP

Now and again you hear it said that Americans, in high places and low, have become too timid to speak up for their convictions. It is even contended that some people simply have abandoned all conviction and exist in what they think is a safe no-man's-land.

To produce any sort of conclusive evidence would be almost impossible without exhaustive studies in this field. Most efforts to gauge the general strength of people's convictions are fragmentary and of only partial value.

Obviously, extremists exhibit no lack of vocal conviction. Indeed, it is often the very force of their aggressive assaults that produces timidity in countless others of more moderate outlook.

Men fear if they speak up for what they see as reasonable positions in politics, business, education, or whatever, that they may endanger their jobs, their status in a community, the future of their children.

Whether there is actually more of such fear today than in earlier periods is the question. It may be so.

We live in a time marked by incredible complexity. Everything about us seems to exist in shades of gray. Yet man is a creature who likes certainty, a clear choice, a call to action he can understand.

Inevitably, then, many must rebel against the shades of gray. They meet this age by demanding the certainties they see slipping away from them.

They insist on these clear choices not only for themselves but for everybody else. Thus arises the "you are either with us or against us" approach that characterizes a good deal of our public debate on major issues.

If black-and-white attitudes are expressed with great frequency and vigor, then many of those who would normally prefer to tak a more complex, more flexible stand may fear to speak out. They conclude that their views may be labeled fuzzy, or soft, or defeatist.

Some people, of course, have views which deserve such labels. But many others simply are trying desperately to put themselves in tune with these very tangled issues that confront us on a mounting scale.

If it is true that too much of such voices are being silenced by fear, the loss of the nation and perhaps the world is thoroughly clear.

Aware of man's long quest for certainty, we cannot expect human beings today to adjust quickly to an era whose hallmark seems the very opposite.

Yet the great weight of evidence suggests that complexity is here to stay. The sooner we learn to live with it, the more likely is it that men who hold views befitting that complexity will feel generally free to speak their convictions.

Many Korean war taxes have been extended again—proving once more that there almost "ain't no such animal" as a temporary tax.

SAFE AND SANE NOW

The Fourth of July is not as exciting as it used to be in the old days, when it meant a barrage of fireworks from dawn until well past dark, but it is vastly safer. The difference is summed up dramatically in reports that not a single death was caused by fireworks on Independence Day this year. A generation ago, July 4 celebrations throughout the land frequently exacted a toll of more than 100 dead.

The change has been brought about mainly by the fact that most states now have laws against the use of fireworks except in official displays. Enactment of these laws came as a result of widely publicized figures on the carnage—4,290 deaths from fireworks in the 30 years ending with 1934, and countless injuries.

Here and there the laws are still evaded. A few injuries still result every year. But there is no comparison between the "safe and sane Fourth" such as the one just past and the banging, booming, burning riots of fireworks that used to be the order of the day. Despite a loss of zest and excitement, the change is much to the good.

STEALING OUR PRODUCTS

It is not enough that we give European countries military and economic aid, but some of them arrange their laws to damage American firms by encouraging the stealing of the results of American ingenuity and competence. This has long been true in the drug business in which Americans spend hundreds of millions of dollars in research only to find that European firms, mostly Italian, steal their products.

These thefts have been encouraged indirectly by the Pentagon which purchases these stolen products. The Italians can, of course, be the lowest bidders, because they have no cost of research and development; their own cost for obtaining the drugs being the corruption of American employees who do the actual stealing for the Italians and the microfilm on which the results of research are photographed.

The American Cyanamid Company, one of America's foremost chemical enterprises and the owner of the Lederle Laboratories, has gone into court in a suit against Sidney Martin Fox, a former employee, and his company, Kim Laboratories, Inc., obtaining an injunction against Fox and his associates, who, they claimed, conspired with other employees "to divulge confidential information to the conspirators relating to the production of antibiotics and steroids, and that they did use this confidential information belonging to the plaintiff in the development, research, improvement and manufacture of pharmaceuticals, selling them to pharmaceutical companies. . ."

The theft of cultures and documents was disclosed by other employees who swore to affidavits. There ought to be a law about industrial and scientific espionage to make both punishable by a death sentence to discourage further attempts.

The injunction signed by Justice Arthur Markewich states:

"It is also demonstrated that the defendants are continuing with foreign firms through the activities of defendant Fox and other conspirators. . . The power of the court to redress a wrong by civil and provisional remedy is not shackled by a plea of prejudice with respect to pending proceedings arising out of resort to the Fifth Amendment. . ."

Between 1960 and 1961, Italian pharmaceutical companies were manufacturing and selling large quanties of broad spectrum antibiotic drugs. This surprised American manufacturers because it takes many years of research to learn how to make these drugs and requires a large staff of doctors, chemists, biologists, pharmacologists to work on the projects and runs into costs amounting to many millions of dollars.

It is usually known in a technical industry when work is being done. It was known that no research of this nature was being done in Italy. When purchases were made in Italy by the American Government, the American Cyanamid Company took a look-see.

In an affidavit, Walter R. Mansfield says:

". . . the loss in sales to the United States Government alone amounted to more than $4,000,000 during the period from October 1959 to April 1962, because the Italian companies, in the absence of such research and development costs, were able to bid at substantially lower prices. In fact, Italian-made tetracycline and chlortetracycline has been used exclusively to fill the requirements of the United States Government since the middle of 1959. How the Italian companies came into possession of the trade secrets, cultures, and highly technical know-how required to produce these valuble antibiotics was not known to Cyanamid."

It was found, according to an affidavit, "that one Nathan Sharff, a resident of New Jersey, and Biorganic Laboratories, Inc., a New Jersey Corporation of which Sharff was an officer, together with certain other individuals and companies, including Sidney Martin Fox, were engaged in illicitly procuring confidential trade information from American Cyanamid pertaining to the production of antibiotics, steroids, and other drugs; that the conspirators were utilizing such information in developing these pharmaceutical products; and that they were selling and offering for sale such confidential information to various firms, including Italian drug manufacturers."

Fox, at his pre-trial examination, took the old Fifth Amendment plea. So did Sharff.

In another affidavit, John Cancelarich said:

"Later in the summer of 1960, Fox introduced me to Leonard Fine, an analytical chemist whom Fox had known earlier at Squibb. The three of us planned a group, which was subsequently called Kim Laboratories, to engage in sale and marketing of chemicals and laboratory equipment, and in providing consulting services with respect to antibiotics and steroids to Italian and Israeli concerns."

Of women presently employed, more than half are married. And, of these 12 million or so, more than a million and a half are mothers with children 18 years old or younger.

In October, Barnard College, the woman's division of Columbia University, will join with seven other women's colleges in establishing a series of vocational workshops whose purpose is to help college-trained women to re-enter the labor market.

Despite the trend, a majority of undergraduate women at Michigan State University recently subscribed to the belief that "the woman's place is in the home." And most young women of my acquaintance appear to have little ambition beyond obtaining the little gold band that encircles the third finger of the left hand.

What these thoughtless youngsters seem not to understand is the plight they will face when they are forced into the labor market by economic necessity or by sheer boredom in later years when their children are sufficiently mature to leave the nest and their husbands have outgrown them as the result of the wage earner's continuing experiences and contacts in the world that lies outside the home.

WASHINGTON, (NEA)—Organization of a coalition of anti-Communist groups in the United States is off to a slow start.

A first meeting of about 100 right wing leaders was held in Washington last March on the initiative of the Rev. Billy James Hargis of Christian Crusade, Tulsa, Okla. They had planned to hold a second rally in Washington in June. That meeting has now been put off till fall.

THE ORGANIZING Committee under chairman Edward Hunter of Arlington, Va., is meeting in Washington July 12. It has taken the official name of "Anti-Communist Liaison — Committee of Correspondence, 1764-1962."

So far, it has put out two letters to about 1,000 right wing leaders believed to be interested in the movement, without much response.

Other members of the liaison include: Maj. Gen. C. A. Willoughby, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's chief of intelligence, 1939-51; Brig. Gen. Bonner Fellers, MacArthur's chief of information, now national chairman of an anti-foreign aid committee; Benjamin Gitlow, one of the original members of the U. S. Communist party but for the last 40 years one of its principal opponents; Miss Bella V. Dodd, former Communist party lawyer expelled in 1949 and an active anti-Communist since that time; Rep. John H. Rousselot, R-Calif., a member of the John Birch Society; Karl Hess, a former editor of "Counter Attack."

Additionally, the liaison is looking for a United States senator who will work with them, a recognized youth leader and others to bring total membership to about 10.

THE OFFICIAL July 12 meeting will be limited to the committee members listed above. Later, however, the session will be thrown open to interested volunteers.

Principal obstacle to forming the coalition is not lack of members but lack of money. Hunter, a veteran newspaperman and war correspondent, recently completed a swing around the country to meet local rightist leaders.

He found that most of them are having trouble enough raising money to keep their own movements going.

Hunter's present idea is that a list of 1,000 responsible anti-Communist leaders can be mustered. They will be asked to pay $15 a year each to the Anti-Communist Liaison Committee of Correspondence—ACLCC—this will cover costs of preparing and mailing out its intelligence letters to them. In this way their efforts will be coordinated.

IN HUNTER'S first letter to prospective associates of the coalition he declared that, "We shall not compete with any anti-Communist associations or individuals. We oppose merger. Our objective is co-ordination through information. We shall have contacts and not members. . . .

"We will promote contacts between organizations which have already alerted at least 20 million Americans and can alert as many more citizens in a citizens' army to accept their responsibility and actually do something useful."

The second letter which Hunter sent out was largely a review of current literature and congressional hearings.

"We've got the anti-anti-Communist squealing. We've got the pro-Reds scared," Hunter reported. "But everywhere I've gone, instead of finding anti-Communists recognizing their achievements and devising means of exploiting them, I've found people on our side crying on each other's shoulders, behaving as if there were no hope left. . . .

"These cry-babies on the anti-Communist side can lose the fight for all of us and all mankind if they don't shake themselves out of this defeatist trance."

Hunger Seen Setting Stage For Red China Revolution

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

GENEVA — The Communist delegation from Peiping which is attending a 14-member conference here on the Laos problem is worried, mainly about the possibility of an invasion of Red China. This is indicated, too, by a recent speech by Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

The truth is that Red China is in deep trouble. This could erupt into revolution this year or next —in fact, any day now. High British officials believe that the build up of the Red Army on the coast opposite Formosa, supposedly to ward off a Nationalist invasion, is, in fact, a mobilization against an expected uprising on the mainland itself.

For a population estimated at 700,000,000 persons cannot be kept in subjugation when nearly everybody is hungry. Official information is that the Chinese people generally are lacking at least 500 calories a day of normal nutritional needs.

Tragic Suffering

The gravity of the situation inside Red China has been described in authoritative reports which this writer examined before leaving Washington. This was supplemented by information from a few prominent Chinese residents of Hong Kong who were aboard the ship on which this writer traveled to Europe. They said word coming from the interior of China tells a tragic story of human suffering.

The most interesting phase of it is the way the Red China government has tried to placate the 6,000,000-man army. First the soldiers were told there was no famine. They themselves were well fed. But, when letters came from their families telling of the widespread hunger, the army became restive. So the Communist authorities decided to let them bring their wives and children to the various points where the army units are stationed. This means the Communists are feeding nearly 18,000,000 persons in order to keep the army satisfied. But even this is not enough, as all the Chinese have relatives back home who keep writing about the terrible conditions that prevail in the interior.

The significance of all this is that the Communist teachings have been proved false. So long as the Communist regime promised prosperity and a better way of life for the Chinese people many persons, particularly the younger generation, believed in the new ideology. Now, however, that communism has failed to bring even the necessities of life, the government faces a dangerous uprising which could be the signal for Chiang Kai-shek's army to move to the mainland. When the psychological moment for the revolution arrives, the Red Chinese Army may be expected to turn against the government and welcome with open arms the Nationalist troops from Formosa.

Discussions in Capitals

The latest information about Red China is so significant that it has recently resulted in lengthy discussions by high officials, especially among a group of experts in the State Department. A memorandum from a person well informed on the Far East says that the internal affairs of Red China have reached a critical stage, and that the Communist agricultural policies have turned out to be a source of weakness which may portend disaster.

The whole Communist program in Red China, the memorandum adds, was centered on agricultural production for the people of the cities, where workers were to be the core of new industries. Peasants in the rural areas were kept under tight control. The farm system began to suffer in 1958, and now the malignancy has reached into the whole internal life of the country like a growing cancer.

Hunger, however, is only part of the dilemma. Lack of food production has wrecked Red China's export capabilities. Food was all that China had to sell. Since 1958 there has been a 60 per cent drop in Red China's export earnings. This, together with the departure of Soviet technicians, crippled industry. Then came a coal shortage, due to the failure of the miners to produce. They were kept on subsistence diets and were not physically able to mine the coal needed. Over all, industrial output dropped 30 per cent last year, and that's quite a decline.

But this isn't all. People have been forced out of the cities, and, of course, they can't be fed in the country. There is a scarcity not only of food but of jobs.

The Red China government could, to be sure, go back to the private system of farm management, under which the peasant knows his efforts will be turned into profits for himself. He recalls that, under the old method, he was working his own land for himself and for his children and his children's children. To return to this now, the Communists would have to abandon a basic tenet of their philosophy. They would also have to put more emphasis on light industry. They would have to provide chemical fertilizer for the farms. All this means a turn away from communism.

Will the Communists make a complete reversal? If they do, they are bound to have dissension among their leaders. One side or the other would begin to woo the military. Revolution or civil war would then ensue.

What should American policy be in the meantime? Certainly it would be a mistake to send relief supplies to any Communist regime in China, even if the latter asked for such aid. No program could be adequate to meet the need anyway, and such help as might be given would tend to postpone the day of an uprising by the Chinese people—an event which would mean more to the safety and security of the United States than anything else which could happen.

The best policy for America is to keep hands off and let nature take its course inside Red China.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

It is time for the Kennedy Set, for the Government as a great, predatory brute, for all decent members of Congress and all the people of this country to realize that the United States is broke. Our financial disaster is out of control, but we might retrieve things if the people in Washington could be forced to observe decent politeness and the whole labyrinth of Government could realize that we are going the way Germany went. Legally nations can't take bankruptcy. They just go to smash and their enemies take over. Our enemy is Communism and the internal danger has been worse than the external ever since Roosevelt recognized Moscow in 1933 and flashed the green signal to his home-grown or naturalized predators.

People are losing their jobs in layoffs which are not advertised. We don't like to excite ourselves with alarms. Many who still have income from earnings are postponing the purchase of things which they can do without, temporarily or permanently. Workers who otherwise might collect wages for creating those wares will not produce them and therefore will not be paid. It would call for economizing — Canada calls it "austerity" — in all directions. That would mean the reduction of dividends on most stocks, including stocks of companies outside the field of "merchandise." It includes magazines and newspapers which have been having a very hard time in recent years even with inflation. That reduction of dividends will pinch people who had planned a secure existence on their dividend income, social security and pensions.

It might by pleasantly exciting here to argue whether the President's "cold fury" at Roger Blough of U. S. Steel scared "business" and caused the stock market to tumble.

No, this collapse of the stock market was caused otherwise. It was caused by debt and taxes. Not to absolve the Administration, the Schlesinger cult is a radical Socialist school and Business has been on warning about this. Nobody could believe this until Kennedy made a speech to a rally of Senior Citizens in Madison Square Garden. A lot of old people were persuaded that the money which they had squandered for 50 to 60 years had been plucked out of their pockets by—Business.

There have been warnings on all sides, but the big drain was Foreign Aid. We paid Russia to fight for her own life. We subsidized Britain, France, Italy, most of South America, India with billions of our taxes through a process of embezzlement by our own Congress and the White House. Now we are told that most of that money went to the wrong people, the crafty politicians. But the people of the United States had no obligation to feed them, clothe them, rebuild their cities and transportation at the expense of God knows how many generations of us.

We elect a man President who puts on a genteel deal and the next thing we know, his brother's wife and her guests are dunking in a pool as big as the Gulf of Mexico with their clothes on in a wild hell-raising that goes until 5 a. m. This is the cultured set of the President who publicly said his Administration was going to stay on Billie Sol Estes' "tail." He might have said it worse. He did say worse about "all business men." He said they were sons of bitches.

The mayor and other parasitic officers of the Government of New York raised their salaries $10,000 a year and gave themselves new Cadillacs. The Chief Justice of the United States has the gall to draw $16,000 a year from the taxpayers of California, besides his Federal salary of $35,000 plus car and driver, because he served as Governor at the highest salary in all his life to then. A New York judge is convicted of conspiracy and puts in for a pension of $20,000 just the same. These are mere little tiles in a mosaic in a nation which now confiscates the people's earnings to maintain a system of glamorized bankruptcy.

Millions of American mothers have to neglect their children to earn wages to pay taxes for all this. When you owe more than you can possibly pay, you are bankrupt.

NEED TO SPEAK UP

Now and again you hear it said that Americans, in high places and low, have become too timid to speak up for their convictions. It is even contended that some people simply have abandoned all conviction and exist in what they think is a safe no-man's-land.

To produce any sort of conclusive evidence would be almost impossible without exhaustive studies in this field. Most efforts to gauge the general strength of people's convictions are fragmentary and of only partial value.

Obviously, extremists exhibit no lack of vocal conviction. Indeed, it is often the very force of their aggressive assaults that produces timidity in countless others of more moderate outlook.

Men fear if they speak up for what they see as reasonable positions in politics, business, education, or whatever, that they may endanger their jobs, their status in a community, the future of their children.

Whether there is actually more of such fear today than in earlier periods is the question. It may be so.

We live in a time marked by incredible complexity. Everything about us seems to exist in shades of gray. Yet man is a creature who likes certainty, a clear choice, a call to action he can understand.

Inevitably, then, many must rebel against the shades of gray. They meet this age by demanding the certainties they see slipping away from them.

They insist on these clear choices not only for themselves but for everybody else. Thus arises the "you are either with us or against us" approach that characterizes a good deal of our public debate on major issues.

If black-and-white attitudes are expressed with great frequency and vigor, then many of those who would normally prefer to tak a more complex, more flexible stand may fear to speak out. They conclude that their views may be labeled fuzzy, or soft, or defeatist.

Some people, of course, have views which deserve such labels. But many others simply are trying desperately to put themselves in tune with these very tangled issues that confront us on a mounting scale.

If it is true that too much of such voices are being silenced by fear, the loss of the nation and perhaps the world is thoroughly clear.

Aware of man's long quest for certainty, we cannot expect human beings today to adjust quickly to an era whose hallmark seems the very opposite.

Yet the great weight of evidence suggests that complexity is here to stay. The sooner we learn to live with it, the more likely is it that men who hold views befitting that complexity will feel generally free to speak their convictions.

THE ORGANIZING Committee under chairman Edward Hunter of Arlington, Va., is meeting in Washington July 12. It has taken the official name of "Anti-Communist Liaison — Committee of Correspondence, 1764-1962."

So far, it has put out two letters to about 1,000 right wing leaders believed to be interested in the movement, without much response.

Other members of the liaison include: Maj. Gen. C. A. Willoughby, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's chief of intelligence, 1939-51; Brig. Gen. Bonner Fellers, MacArthur's chief of information, now national chairman of an anti-foreign aid committee; Benjamin Gitlow, one of the original members of the U. S. Communist party but for the last 40 years one of its principal opponents; Miss Bella V. Dodd, former Communist party lawyer expelled in 1949 and an active anti-Communist since that time; Rep. John H. Rousselot, R-Calif., a member of the John Birch Society; Karl Hess, a former editor of "Counter Attack."

Additionally, the liaison is looking for a United States senator who will work with them, a recognized youth leader and others to bring total membership to about 10.

THE OFFICIAL July 12 meeting will be limited to the committee members listed above. Later, however, the session will be thrown open to interested volunteers.

Principal obstacle to forming the coalition is not lack of members but lack of money. Hunter, a veteran newspaperman and war correspondent, recently completed a swing around the country to meet local rightist leaders.

He found that most of them are having trouble enough raising money to keep their own movements going.

Hunter's present idea is that a list of 1,000 responsible anti-Communist leaders can be mustered. They will be asked to pay $15 a year each to the Anti-Communist Liaison Committee of Correspondence—ACLCC—this will cover costs of preparing and mailing out its intelligence letters to them. In this way their efforts will be coordinated.

IN HUNTER'S first letter to prospective associates of the coalition he declared that, "We shall not compete with any anti-Communist associations or individuals. We oppose merger. Our objective is co-ordination through information. We shall have contacts and not members. . . .

"We will promote contacts between organizations which have already alerted at least 20 million Americans and can alert as many more citizens in a citizens' army to accept their responsibility and actually do something useful."

The second letter which Hunter sent out was largely a review of current literature and congressional hearings.

"We've got the anti-anti-Communist squealing. We've got the pro-Reds scared," Hunter reported. "But everywhere I've gone, instead of finding anti-Communists recognizing their achievements and devising means of exploiting them, I've found people on our side crying on each other's shoulders, behaving as if there were no hope left. . . .

"These cry-babies on the anti-Communist side can lose the fight for all of us and all mankind if they don't shake themselves out of this defeatist trance."

Hunger Seen Setting Stage For Red China Revolution

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

GENEVA — The Communist delegation from Peiping which is attending a 14-member conference here on the Laos problem is worried, mainly about the possibility of an invasion of Red China. This is indicated, too, by a recent speech by Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

The truth is that Red China is in deep trouble. This could erupt into revolution this year or next—in fact, any day now. High British officials believe that the build up of the Red Army on the coast opposite Formosa, supposedly to ward off a Nationalist invasion, is, in fact, a mobilization against an expected uprising on the mainland itself.

For a population estimated at 700,000,000 persons cannot be kept in subjugation when nearly everybody is hungry. Official information is that the Chinese people generally are lacking at least 500 calories a day of normal nutritional needs.

Tragic Suffering

The gravity of the situation inside Red China has been described in authoritative reports which this writer examined before leaving Washington. This was supplemented by information from a few prominent Chinese residents of Hong Kong who were aboard the ship on which this writer traveled to Europe. They said werd coming from the interior of China tells a tragic story of human suffering.

The most interesting phase of it is the way the Red China government has tried to placate the 6,000,000-man army. First the soldiers were told there was no famine. They themselves were well fed. But, when letters came from their families telling of the widespread hunger, the army became restive. So the Communist authorities decided to let them bring their wives and children to the various points where the army units are stationed. This means the Communists are feeding nearly 18,000,000 persons in order to keep the army satisfied. But even this is not enough, as all the Chinese have relatives back home who keep writing about the terrible conditions that prevail in the interior.

The significance of all this is that the Communist teachings have been proved false. So long as the Communist regime promised prosperity and a better way of life for the Chinese people many persons, particularly the younger generation, believed in the new ideology. Now, however, that communism has failed to bring even the necessities of life, the government faces a dangerous uprising which could be the signal for Chiang Kai-shek's army to move to the mainland. When the psychological moment for the revolution arrives, the Red Chinese Army may be expected to turn against the government and welcome with open arms the Nationalist troops from Formosa.

Discussions in Capitals

The latest information about Red China is so significant that it has recently resulted in lengthy discussions by high officials, especially among a group of experts in the State Department. A memorandum from a person well informed on the Far East says that the internal affairs of Red China have reached a critical stage, and that the Communist agricultural policies have turned out to be a source of weakness which may portend disaster.

The whole Communist program in Red China, the memorandum adds, was centered on agricultural production for the people of the cities, where workers were to be the core of new industries. Peasants in the rural areas were kept under tight control. The farm system began to suffer in 1958, and now the malignancy has reached into the whole internal life of the country like a growing cancer.

Hunger, however, is only part of the dilemma. Lack of food production has wrecked Red China's export capabilities. Food was all that China had to sell. Since 1958 there has been a 60 per cent drop in Red China's export earnings. This, together with the departure of Soviet technicians, crippled industry. Then came a coal shortage, due to the failure of the miners to produce. They were kept on subsistence diets and were not physically able to mine the coal needed. Over all, industrial output dropped 30 per cent last year, and that's quite a decline.

But this isn't all. People have been forced out of the cities, and, of course, they can't be fed in the country. There is a scarcity not only of food but of jobs.

The Red China government could, to be sure, go back to the private system of farm management, under which the peasant knows his efforts will be turned into profits for himself. He recalls that, under the old method, he was working his own land for himself and for his children and his children's children. To return to this now, the Communists would have to abandon a basic tenet of their philosophy. They would also have to put more emphasis on light industry. They would have to provide chemical fertilizer for the farms. All this means a turn away from communism.

Will the Communists make a complete reversal? If they do, they are bound to have dissension among their leaders. One side or the other would begin to woo the military. Revolution or civil war would then ensue.

What should American policy be in the meantime? Certainly it would be a mistake to send relief supplies to any Communist regime in China, even if the latter asked for such aid. No program could be adequate to meet the need anyway, and such help as might be given would tend to postpone the day of an uprising by the Chinese people—an event which would mean more to the safety and security of the United States than anything else which could happen.

The best policy for America is to keep hands off and let nature take its course inside Red China.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

It is time for the Kennedy Set, for the Government as a great, predatory brute, for all decent members of Congress and all the people of this country to realize that the United States is broke. Our financial disaster is out of control, but we might retrieve things if the people in Washington could be forced to observe decent politeness and the whole labyrinth of Government could realize that we are going the way Germany went. Legally nations can't take bankruptcy. They just go to smash and their enemies take over. Our enemy is Communism and the internal danger has been worse than the external ever since Roosevelt recognized Moscow in 1933 and flashed the green signal to his home-grown or naturalized predators.

People are losing their jobs in layoffs which are not advertised. We don't like to excite ourselves with alarms. Many who still have income from earnings are postponing the purchase of things which they can do without, temporarily or permanently. Workers who otherwise might collect wages for creating those wares will not produce them and therefore will not be paid. It would call for economizing — Canada calls it "austerity" — in all directions. That would mean the reduction of dividends on most stocks, including stocks of companies outside the field of "merchandise." It includes magazines and newspapers which have been having a very hard time in recent years even with inflation. That reduction of dividends will pinch people who had planned a secure existence on their dividend income, social security and pensions.

It might by pleasantly exciting here to argue whether the President's "cold fury" at Roger Blough of U. S. Steel scared "business" and caused the stock market to tumble.

No, this collapse of the stock market was caused otherwise. It was caused by debt and taxes. Not to absolve the Administration, the Schlesinger cult is a radical Socialist school and Business has been on warning about this. Nobody could believe this until Kennedy made a speech to a rally of Senior Citizens in Madison Square Garden. A lot of old people were persuaded that the money which they had squandered for 50 to 60 years had been plucked out of their pockets by—Business.

There have been warnings on all sides, but the big drain was Foreign Aid. We paid Russia to fight for her own life. We subsidized Britain, France, Italy, most of South America, India with billions of our taxes through a process of embezzlement by our own Congress and the White House. Now we are told that most of that money went to the wrong people, the crafty politicians. But the people of the United States had no obligation to feed them, clothe them, rebuild their cities and transportation at the expense of God knows how many generations of us.

We elect a man President who puts on a genteel deal and the next thing we know, his brother's wife and her guests are dunking in a pool as big as the Gulf of Mexico with their clothes on in a wild hell-raising that goes until 5 a. m. This is the cultured set of the President who publicly said his Administration was going to stay on Billie Sol Estes' "tail." He might have said it worse. He did say worse about "all business men." He said they were sons of bitches.

The mayor and other parasitic officers of the Government of New York raised their salaries $10,000 a year and gave themselves new Cadillacs. The Chief Justice of the United States has the gall to draw $16,000 a year from the taxpayers of California, besides his Federal salary of $35,000 plus car and driver, because he served as Governor at the highest salary in all his life to then. A New York judge is convicted of conspiracy and puts in for a pension of $20,000 just the same. These are mere little tiles in a mosaic in a nation which now confiscates the people's earnings to maintain a system of glamorized bankruptcy.

Millions of American mothers have to neglect their children to earn wages to pay taxes for all this. When you owe more than you can possibly pay, you are bankrupt.

HowardMansfield Writes Answer to Dickinson Letter

The following letter was written by Howard F. Mansfield, II, and it takes exception to the letter of Cliff Dickinson, published in this column on July 2.

"I would take exception to Mr. Cliff Dickinson's letter, carried on July 2, and the misleading headline under which his statement ran.

Mr. Dickinson, "in defense of the Liberty Party of N. Y. State," has attempted to invoke the blessing of FBI Director Hoover upon his organization, and in so doing, insults the intelligence of his fellow citizens. He might, more carefully, re-read the quotation he used from "Masters of Deceit", and also the references to "Aeospian language," Director Hoover so well describes for us.

The Regional Director has not defended the Liberal Party; he has, in effect, offered his own contribution to the indictment of it.

As a Conservative, I concur with J. Edgar Hoover's analysis of liberalism, for he has defined it as a symbol, a SYMBOL, not a political party, "of great historic tradition."

Just as Aesopian language turns the meaning of words upside down, the historic meaning of liberalism has, as its philosophy, a view diametrically opposed to the modern pseudo-liberal.

After re-reading this so very appropriate quotation Mr. Dickinson selected for us, let's look at the record of the past 30 years of "liberalism."

From the recognition of Russia in the early 30's, to the recent giveaway of Laos; from the consignment of 600 million souls to the Red tyranny of China, to the Berlin wall to hold back another 400 million; from the rape of Tibet, to foreign aid for communist Nations; from a war we would not win, in Korea, to a war we will not fight in Cuba; from a nation of free, sovereign citizens, to apathy and bondage of confiscatory taxation and fantastic national debt; from a proud and mighty nation, to a foreign policy that bribes our enemies, (Tito, Gomulka, Nehru, Lumumba, Gizenga) and destroys our friends (Formosa, Portugal, Katanga, and once upon a time, Cuba).

This is the record of the pseudo - liberal. Appeasement abroad, and the primrose path to the socialism Khrushchev has promised us, here at home.

I, for one, cannot reconcile this record with "historic tradition." We must, therefore, deal with the basic dispute between todays "liberal" and conservative thinking.

The "liberal" assumes his position on the left and, being infatuated with his ideals of "equalitarianism", proceeds to bring about "the new social order" through the use of bureaucracy, and its inherent controls over the individual. Simply stated; enforced equality, a secular "religion".

The "liberal" sees the Communist threat as external, and materialistic, for there are "only" about 10,000 Communists here in our country, and the F. B. I. knows who they are.

The conservative takes his position on the right and, believing in that symbol "of a great historic tradition", he holds to the self evident truths "that all men are created equal", that their rights to life, to liberty, and to the pursuit of happiness are God given; that these rights can be enjoyed only within the framework of limited, Constitutional government; that when government assumes the responsibility of ordering the lives of the people, the ultimate end is tyranny.

Any conservative, worth his salt, has studied the problem in sufficient depth to recognize that one does not have to be a communist to do their work, any more than one has to be an ass to pull a wagon.

The statements, heretofor issued by the Conservative Party, are statements of fact. The Liberal Party, and its bedfellows of the A.D.A., have been dragging the Democrat Party farther and farther to the left. The Rockefeller-Javits combine is no better.

Conservatives of both major parties are beginning to realize, the pseudo-liberal approach is as empty of success as the record of the past 30 years has so well proven.

The Conservative charges against "liberalism" are, in fact, a tribute to their effectiveness. Does Mr. Dickinson reject this recognition of his cause? And by the way, The Conservative Club of Woodstock did not label liberals as communists. If Mr. Dickinson believes in his cause, let him fight honorably for it, and not try to put words, that are not there, in someone elses mouth."

St. Gregory's To Have Music At French Bazaar

Music throughout the day is scheduled for "Paris in Woodstock," the benefit French bazaar scheduled at the parish house of St. Gregory's Episcopal Church on Saturday.

Seven gifted young accordion pupils of Clementine Nessel will play. They are Michele Spinelli, Warren Pelham, Josephine Reichel, Armand Leighton, Debbie Allen, Francis Barry, Barbara Lackner.

The bazaar is slated from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. and a delicious buffet luncheon has been arranged. Many gay gift, thrift and food booths will carry out the French theme of the occasion.

Christian Science Topic Sunday Is 'God'

Freedom from enclavement of every kind is available through mighty power of God. This is the encouraging theme of the Lesson-Sermon entitled "God" which will be presented at Christian Science churches Sunday. Church Services and Sunday School are held in Woodstock, 85 Tinker Street, at 11 a. m.

Bible readings will include this verse (Revelation 11): "We give thee thanks, O Lord God Almighty, which are, and wast, and art to come; because thou hast taken to thee thy great power, and hast reigned."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy this selection will also be read (p. 228): "The enslavement of man is not legitimate. It will cease when man enters into his heritage of freedom, his God-given dominion over the material senses. Mortals will some day assert their freedom in the name of Almighty God."

Carew Rice at Library Fair

CAREW RICE
(Self Portrait Silhouette)

The Woodstock Library Fair will again welcome back Carew Rice of Green Pond, South Carolina, the artist Carl Sandburg has repeatedly called "America's greatest silhouettist" — and a man who really knows how to enjoy life making fast friends wherever he goes. Not only does Carew Rice claim one's admiration as a practitioner of an unusual portraiture medium, he is an equally skilled banjoist and ballad spinner and singer.

Those attending the Library Fair on July 26 will want to meet with the artist, watch his hands snip and scissor the charming profile portraits which, strangely enough, were named for an eighteenth century comptroller-general of France, Etienne deSilhouette.

Barber of Seville At Opera House

The Barber of Seville, Rossini's famous comedy, will be presented at the Turnau Opera Players' Byrdcliffe Theater in Woodstock on July 14, 16 and 17.

This will be followed by a double bill of Debussy's poetic L'Enfant Prodique and Donizetti's hilarious farce, Il Campanello on July 20, 21, 23 and 24.

Verdi's immortal masterpiece, La Traviata, will be heard on July 27, 28, 30 and 31. The season will be garnished by two special performances of Mozart's The Marriage of Figaro on Aug. 3 and 4 and will be topped off by a double show of Leonard Bernstein's Trouble in Tahiti and Ravel's L'Heure Espagnole on Aug. 10 and 11.

All operas are in English except L'Enfant Prodique.

Mari Galleries To Exhibit Bronze

An exhibition of bronzes will be held in the garden of the Mari Galleries at the opening of the season on July 14 from 2 to 8 p. m.

Ruth Vodica is among the first handful to experiment with welding. Her work shows considerable progress, particularly noteworthy are "Angry Men" and "Silent Requiem."

In the first gallery show are a group of six outstanding Belgian artists whose paintings are highly regarded in Europe.

In the barn gallery the wonderful show of Rudolph Baranik, which has made such a stir, is being continued on request for a few more weeks.

And as always, the very fine group show which the Mari Galleries is noted for will be held in the new large gallery.

3rd Concert Set Sunday, 3 P. M.

Temple block, finger cymba and dragon's mouth are the names of three of the ultra new percussion instruments which, along with tomtoms, rattles, marimbas, vibraphones and bells, will be heard Sunday afternoon at 3 p. m. at the third of the regularly scheduled Maverick Sunday concerts. A performance by the famous Paul Price Manhattan Percussion Quartet, in a program of music by some ultra new composers will be featured.

A graduate of the Music Conservatories of Cincinnati and Boston, Paul Price has been on the faculty of Boston University and Illinois, taken a leading part in music conferences at universities all over the country, given numerous chamber music, concerts, made broadcasts, television appearances and recordings which are widely sold and stimulated a group of composers to write for percussion ensembles. He is head of the Percussion Department at the Manhattan School of Music.

Sunday's concert will include works of Jack McKenzie (on tom toms, wood blocks, temple blocks, etc.); Gerald Strang (using a suspended cymbal, anvil and wood blocks among others); Lou Harrison's Queztecoatl (the dragon's mouth appears in this one); Roman Hauberstock-ramati, Michael Colgrass and Albert Payson.

Highland Driver Fined

After pleading guilty before City Judge Milton Haven at Poughkeepsie Tuesday to a charge of driving an automobile without a license, George Heckinger, 28, of Highland, was fined $50.

Why We Say--

Some one who is successful might be referred to as "making his mark." At one time smiths and pottery makers had individual marks which they put on their products. When these marks or brand names because well known, the person had "made his mark."

New "TELSTAR" relays phone calls and TV pictures for first time!

Bell System microwave-in-sky satellite is latest communications triumph for America arising from telephone research

The world's first private enterprise communications satellite is now being used for dramatic experiments in relaying telephone calls and television internationally.

Its name: Telstar. It was launched from Cape Canaveral at Bell System expense by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Telstar receives signals beamed to it from a ground station, amplifies them and transmits them to another station on the ground below—perhaps an ocean away from the first one. The new satellite thus acts as a microwave relay station in the sky, enabling voices, TV pictures and data messages to leap thousands of miles in a new and exciting way.

The ground stations in the U.S. now being used for Telstar were built by the Bell System at Andover, Maine, and Holmdel, New Jersey. Organizations abroad have built stations in England and France. The latter, a near replica of the station in Maine, is being assembled with Bell System cooperation. A receiving station in Italy will be ready late this year, and another in West Germany next year.

Telstar is a first major experimental step toward a world-wide satellite communications system that was first proposed as a practical venture at Bell Telephone Laboratories. Progress toward such a system would not have reached its present state without continuing research and development by the private communications industry, including six fundamental Bell System contributions—the transistor, the solar battery, the traveling wave tube, ruby masers, the waveguide, and new antennas for the ground stations with innovations in circuitry.

Above all else, Telstar is the latest achievement in an unending Bell System quest—the search for ways to make your telephone service still better, more economical, and more useful.

(Self Portrait Silhouette)

The Woodstock Library Fair will again welcome back Carew Rice of Green Pond, South Carolina, the artist Carl Sandburg has repeatedly called "America's greatest silhouettist" — and a man who really knows how to enjoy life making fast friends wherever he goes. Not only does Carew Rice claim one's admiration as a practitioner of an unusual portraiture medium, he is an equally skilled banjoist and ballad spinner and singer.

Those attending the Library Fair on July 26 will want to meet with the artist, watch his hands snip and scissor the charming profile portraits which, strangely enough, were named for an eighteenth century comptroller-general of France, Etienne deSilhouette.

Barber of Seville At Opera House

The Barber of Seville, Rossini's famous comedy, will be presented at the Turnau Opera Players' Byrdcliffe Theater in Woodstock on July 14, 16 and 17.

This will be followed by a double bill of Debussy's poetic L'Enfant Prodique and Donizetti's hilarious farce, Il Campanello on July 20, 21, 23 and 24.

Verdi's immortal masterpiece, La Traviata, will be heard on July 27, 28, 30 and 31. The season will be garnished by two special performances of Mozart's The Marriage of Figaro on Aug. 3 and 4 and will be topped off by a double show of Leonard Bernstein's Trouble in Tahiti and Ravel's L'Heure Espagnole on Aug. 10 and 11.

All operas are in English except L'Enfant Prodique.

Mari Galleries To Exhibit Bronze

An exhibition of bronzes will be held in the garden of the Mari Galleries at the opening of the season on July 14 from 2 to 8 p. m.

Ruth Vodica is among the first handful to experiment with welding. Her work shows considerable progress, particularly noteworthy are "Angry Men" and "Silent Requiem."

In the first gallery show are a group of six outstanding Belgian artists whose paintings are highly regarded in Europe.

In the barn gallery the wonderful show of Rudolph Baranik, which has made such a stir, is being continued on request for a few more weeks.

And as always, the very fine group show which the Mari Galleries is noted for will be held in the new large gallery.

3rd Concert Set Sunday, 3 P. M.

Temple block, finger cymba and dragon's mouth are the names of three of the ultra new percussion instruments which, along with tomtoms, rattles, marimbas, vibraphones and bells, will be heard Sunday afternoon at 3 p. m. at the third of the regularly scheduled Maverick Sunday concerts. A performance by the famous Paul Price Manhattan Percussion Quartet, in a program of music by some ultra new composers will be featured.

A graduate of the Music Conservatories of Cincinnati and Boston, Paul Price has been on the faculty of Boston University and Illinois, taken a leading part in music conferences at universities all over the country, given numerous chamber music, concerts, made broadcasts, television appearances and recordings which are widely sold and stimulated a group of composers to write for percussion ensembles. He is head of the Percussion Department at the Manhattan School of Music.

Sunday's concert will include works of Jack McKenzie (on tom toms, wood blocks, temple blocks, etc.); Gerald Strang (using a suspended cymbal, anvil and wood blocks among others); Lou Harrison's Queztecoatl (the dragon's mouth appears in this one); Roman Hauberstock-ramati, Michael Colgrass and Albert Payson.

Highland Driver Fined

After pleading guilty before City Judge Milton Haven at Poughkeepsie Tuesday to a charge of driving an automobile without a license, George Heckinger, 28, of Highland, was fined $50.

Why We Say--

MAKE ONE'S MARK

Some one who is successful might be referred to as "making his mark." At one time smiths and pottery makers had individual marks which they put on their products. When these marks or brand names because well known, the person had "made his mark."

New "TELSTAR" relays phone calls and TV pictures for first time!

Bell System microwave-in-sky satellite is latest communications triumph for America arising from telephone research

The world's first private enterprise communications satellite is now being used for dramatic experiments in relaying telephone calls and television internationally.

Its name: Telstar. It was launched from Cape Canaveral at Bell System expense by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Telstar receives signals beamed to it from a ground station, amplifies them and transmits them to another station on the ground below—perhaps an ocean away from the first one. The new satellite thus acts as a microwave relay station in the sky, enabling voices, TV pictures and data messages to leap thousands of miles in a new and exciting way.

The ground stations in the U.S. now being used for Telstar were built by the Bell System at Andover, Maine, and Holmdel, New Jersey. Organizations abroad have built stations in England and France. The latter, a near replica of the station in Maine, is being assembled with Bell System cooperation. A receiving station in Italy will be ready late this year, and another in West Germany next year.

Telstar is a first major experimental step toward a world-wide satellite communications system that was first proposed as a practical venture at Bell Telephone Laboratories. Progress toward such a system would not have reached its present state without continuing research and development by the private communications industry, including six fundamental Bell System contributions—the transistor, the solar battery, the traveling wave tube, ruby masers, the waveguide, and new antennas for the ground stations with innovations in circuitry.

Above all else, Telstar is the latest achievement in an unending Bell System quest—the search for ways to make your telephone service still better, more economical, and more useful.

INSIDE GROUND STATION "RADOME" AT ANDOVER, MAINE. Giant antenna (note man near rim of horn) concentrates signals to Telstar in a narrow, powerful beam. In the same antenna a receiver amplifies signals coming from Telstar ten billion times.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Scientists and engineers report on gravity, Venus, and a system for talkng to machines:

Gravity Theory

New studies substantiate a theory that a rotating body, such as the earth or sun, can generate gravity-like fields, a scientist reports.

Christened "spinetic" fields, they can in principle produce gravitational fields which, in turn, could be used to add to or subtract from the gravitational pull of the earth, says F. T. Fraser, a senior scientist at General Precision, Inc., Pleasantville, N.Y.

But don't look for this to produce antigravity devices to counteract the earth's gravity—the effects are too small.

The theory can qualitatively account for many effects which, so far, are explainable only through the highly complicated general theory of relativity of Einstein, Fraser adds.

While it is known that a light beam is bent when it passes near a star, there should also be a very small additional bending due to the rotation of the star, Fraser says.

The theory, he adds, can also show that even an ideal gyroscope always pointing in the direction in which it is initially set, should change its heading if transported through a gravitational field.

Venus Secrets

This summer, scientists hope two space probes will unveil some secrets of Venus, a sister planet hidden under a dense mantle of gas.

The probes will be aimed to fly close to Venus, and will be equipped to carry out a variety of experiments, says Robert Wyckoff of Jet Propulson Laboratory in Astronautics magazine.

Its hoped the probes will radio back data on Venus' temperature, whether the planet has any magnetic fields or radiation belts, and the density of tiny meteorites between Earth and Venus. Closer to the sun than the Earth, Venus also offers an interesting chance to measure the "solar wind" or gusts of gases which apparently are shot out from the sun.

Machine Talk

Why not talk to a machine, giving it instructions, instead of pushing buttons or flipping levers to make it work?

Studying this idea, Dr. Harry W. Mergler of Case Institute of Technology developed a technique for turning human speech into numbers or digits which can be fed into a computer. The sound is turned into an electrical voltage.

This method might be used not only to give instructions to computers, but perhaps passenger elevators, machine tools, or automated industrial production lines, all obeying man's master voice.

Owen D. Young Dies in Florida

NEW YORK (AP) — Owen D. Young, 87, industrialist and international monetary expert, died today at his home at St. Augustine, Fla. He had been ill several weeks.

His death was announced by relatives here.

Founder of RCA

Young was chairman of the board of the General Electric Co. for 17 years and was the founder and first board chairman of the Radio Corp. of America.

Young was coauthor with Charles G. Dawes of the "Dawes Plan"—a formula for establishing reparations to be paid by Germany after World War I.

Later he played a major role in developing a plan for German fiscal rehabilitation. This became known as the "Young Plan" in tribute to his diplomacy and leadership.

Young was born on a farm at Van Hornesville, N. Y., on Oct. 27, 1874, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Smith Young.

Young attended a one-room red schoolhouse. In later years he financed a $500,000 school for children of the area.

He entered St. Lawrence University at Canton, N.Y., on $1,000 which his father had obtained by mortgaging the farm.

Retired in 1939

Young was graduated at the age of 20 in 1884 and then finished a three-year law course at Boston University in two years.

He began the practice of law in Boston and became a partner in the firm of Tyler & Young.

His law work placed him in contact with the engineering firm of Stone & Webster. This gave him an intimate knowledge of electrical development. His ability attracted the attention of General Electric.

Young joined General Electric as a member of its legal department and became its board chairman in 1922. He held that post until his retiriment in 1939.

Called for Car Fire

Firemen were called at 4:37 p. m. Tuesday for a slight fire in a car owned and driven by Merle Clifford Greene, of 9 Coffey Place, on Clinton Avenue near the Senate House. A short in the car's battery cable damaged the cable. A unit from Wiltwyck station responded.

NO ONE INJURED—Sulo A. Helin, 78, of Route 2, Box 159, New Paltz, escaped injury Tuesday when his car went off the Old Post Road near the junction of Dashville Road, Town of Esopus. Helin reported the car went out of control when "something went wrong". The accident was reported to Highland State Police. Deputy Sheriff Peter Peterson also conducted an investigation. Gardiner

GARDINER—A special service of worship in conjunction with the laying of the cornerstone for the Christian Education building will be held Sunday at 11 a. m. at the Reformed Church. At the end of the service in the sanctuary, the congregation will adjourn to the front of the new building to observe the laying of the cornerstone. Friends and neighbors are invited to attend.

Friday at 10 a. m. the annual Church School picnic will be held at Tillson Lake. All children will meet at the church. Each child or family is to bring a covered dish. Children under six years of age must be accompanied by an adult. In case of rain the picnic will be postponed until July 27.

The Couples Club will meet at the church at 7:30 p. m. and then go to Tillson Lake for an evening of swimming and roller skating Saturday.

Both Sides Rest In Resnick Trial

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Defense and prosecution were to argue instructions with the judge today in the trial of five men charged with the murder of Samuel Resnick, 61, a retired jeweler from Albany, N.Y.

Jurors were recessed until Thursday.

Both sides rested Tuesday after testimony from Clemmie Lee Jackson, 19, who said he wasn't present at the slaying because he didn't want to see Resnick die. He acted as go-between in the alleged kill-for-hire slaying.

Charged with him are R. E. Jackson, 21, his brother; John Henry Lewis Jones, 21; Ernest Spurlock, 20, and Jesse Tillis, 19. All are Phoenix Negroes.

Resnick was strangled last March 1 about 10 miles north of Phoenix.

All five admit the slaying but insist Resnick hired them to do it. They said he told them he had incurable cancer.

Sends Note on Tolls

OTTAWA (AP) — Canada has sent a formal note to the United States on its plan to suspend tolls on the Welland Canal between Lake Erie and Lake Ontario, informants report.

The informants said here Tuesday that the noted was delivered a few days ago. The proposal first was announced last month by Prime Minister John Diefenbaker.

As partners in the St. Lawrence Seaway, Canada and the United States have agreed that any change in seaway tolls must be agreed to by both parties. The canal technically is part of the seaway.

Owen D. Young Dies in Florida

NEW YORK (AP) — Owen D. Young, 87, industrialist and international monetary expert, died today at his home at St. Augustine, Fla. He had been ill several weeks.

His death was announced by relatives here.

Founder of RCA

Young was chairman of the board of the General Electric Co. for 17 years and was the founder and first board chairman of the Radio Corp. of America.

Young was coauthor with Charles G. Dawes of the "Dawes Plan"—a formula for establishing reparations to be paid by Germany after World War I.

Later he played a major role in developing a plan for German fiscal rehabilitation. This became known as the "Young Plan" in tribute to his diplomacy and leadership.

Young was born on a farm at Van Hornesville, N. Y., on Oct. 27, 1874, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Smith Young.

Young attended a one-room red schoolhouse. In later years he financed a $500,000 school for children of the area.

He entered St. Lawrence University at Canton, N.Y., on $1,000 which his father had obtained by mortgaging the farm.

Retired in 1939

Young was graduated at the age of 20 in 1884 and then finished a three-year law course at Boston University in two years.

He began the practice of law in Boston and became a partner in the firm of Tyler & Young.

His law work placed him in contact with the engineering firm of Stone & Webster. This gave him an intimate knowledge of electrical development. His ability attracted the attention of General Electric.

Young joined General Electric as a member of its legal department and became its board chairman in 1922. He held that post until his retirement in 1939.

Called for Car Fire

Firemen were called at 4:37 p. m. Tuesday for a slight fire in a car owned and driven by Merle Clifford Greene, of 9 Coffey Place, on Clinton Avenue near the Senate House. A short in the car's battery cable damaged the cable. A unit from Wiltwyck station responded.

Both Sides Rest In Resnick Trial

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Defense and prosecution were to argue instructions with the judge today in the trial of five men charged with the murder of Samuel Resnick, 61, a retired jeweler from Albany, N.Y.

Jurors were recessed until Thursday.

Both sides rested Tuesday after testimony from Clemmie Lee Jackson, 19, who said he wasn't present at the slaying because he didn't want to see Resnick die. He acted as go-between in the alleged kill-for-hire slaying.

Charged with him are R. E. Jackson, 21, his brother; John Henry Lewis Jones, 21; Ernest Spurlock, 20, and Jesse Tillis, 19. All are Phoenix Negroes.

Resnick was strangled last March 1 about 10 miles north of Phoenix.

All five admit the slaying but insist Resnick hired them to do it. They said he told them he had incurable cancer.

Harriet Chidsey Succumbs Today

Mrs. Harriet Sutton Chidsey, widow of R. Frederick Chidsey, of 60 Maiden Lane, died in this city today after a long illness.

Well known in the community, Mrs. Chidsey had been active in a number of local organizations. She was a past president of Kingston Hospital Auxiliary and a charter member of the YWCA. Mrs. Chidsey was a member of Fair Street Reformed Church and the Women's Guild of the church; Wiltwyck Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution; Ulster County Historical Society and Kingston Unit 150, American Legion Auxiliary.

Surviving are a brother, Nathan R. Sutton of Stone Ridge and a sister, Mrs. Bertha S. DeForest of Kingston. A nephew, Harlow F. DeForest of Kingston, also survives.

Funeral services will be held at the A. Carr & Son Funeral Home, 1 Pearl Street, Friday 3 p. m. Burial will be in Wiltwyck Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home 7 to 9 p. m. Thursday.

Held for Grand Jury

Sends Note on Tolls

OTTAWA (AP) — Canada has sent a formal note to the United States on its plan to suspend tolls on the Welland Canal between Lake Erie and Lake Ontario, informants report.

The informants said here Tuesday that the noted was delivered a few days ago. The proposal first was announced last month by Prime Minister John Diefenbaker.

As partners in the St. Lawrence Seaway, Canada and the United States have agreed that any change in seaway tolls must be agreed to by both parties. The canal technically is part of the seaway.

Memoriam

In loving memory of our darling daughter and loving mother, Vivian Schryver Berry, who passed away July 11, 1960.
Gone is the face we loved so dear,
Gone is the voice we loved to hear.
With all but memories we are blest,
God took you from us to your rest.
But your happy face and smiling eyes,
Locked in our hearts never dies,
May your soul rest in peace.

President Prods Congress Again, GOP Making Hay

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy is prodding Democratic leaders to get the legislative wheels turning in a party-controlled Congress engulfed in a quagmire of protocol and political bickering.

The President is reported sounding a new note of urgency as strategy conferences disclose how deep some of his major proposals have sunk in the gumbo of inaction that has marked what Republicans are calling a do-nothing session.

There are indications that Kennedy himself may seek to mediate a Senate-House dispute over their handling which has prevented final action on any of the regular money bills.

Hinting at this, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., said Tuesday that some drastic measures had better be taken to end a stalemate in which he said Democrats are digging their political graves.

"Every week that this goes on, you can count off a few more Democrats in the November election," he said. "The Republicans will make hay with this."

The Republicans already were busy cutting their hay.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said that "it is doubtful if any session of Congress in the history of the republic ever spent so much time accomplishing so little."

He and House Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana agreed in a statement that "most of the blame belongs on the Kennedy administration."

Regardless of who had to shoulder the responsibility, only a handful of major bills has become law in the more than six months of the session.

Theft Is Bigest Since Goya, 35 Covers $700,000

LONDON (AP)—The theft of 35 paintings valued at $700,000 from a private art gallery was discovered today.

Scene of the robbery was the O'Hana Art Gallery in London's fashionable Mayfair district.

Police said the thieves got in by forcing a rear door.

It was the biggest art thieft in England since the theft of a Goya portrait of the Duke of Wellington from the National Gallery last August.

The Goya, valued at $392,000, is still missing.

The O'Hana Gallery specializes in modern art.

London has had a wave of art thefts in recent months. A Renoir and two Picassos were among 12 paintings stolen last May. Eleven of the paintings were recovered a week afterward.

If you want to be absolutely correct in your table service, do not put the dessert silver on the table at the beginning of the meal. It should be brought on with the dessert plates when the dessert is served.

The second Morrill Act, in 1890, authorized $25,000 annual endowment for each land-grant college.

What is the similarity between children's teeth and trees? According to recent studies, the teeth of children contain growth rings that reflect their development, just as the growth rings of trees reflect the seasons, climate and quality and nutrients in the soil.

Fiore, Other 156 EM to Receive CommissionsSoon

Graduation exercises will be held Friday afternoon for members of the Class of 1962, Officer Candidate School, now undergoing the final phase of training before receiving their commissions as second lieutenants, New York Army National Guard, at the Empire State Military Academy, Camp Smith in Peekskill.

Three enlisted men of the First Howitzer Battalion, 156th Artillery, NYARNG, will be commissioned. They are James H. Fiore, 16 Lindsley Avenue; Robert W. Benjamin Jr., Osborn Hill Road, Wappingers Falls and Joseph R. Parker, Box 482, Amenia, according to an announcement by Lt. Col. Arthur H. Marx, battalion commander. The new officers will be assigned to position vacancies within the command.

Others in First Phase

The Empire State Military Academy conducts training phases of the OCS school during weekends at branch schools from October through April and summer training at Camp Smith for two weeks during the first and second years of the school program. Candidates attend the summer phases in lieu of annual active duty training with their units at Camp Drum.

In addition to the three cadets graduating this week, PFC John W. Marsh, 57 Downs Street, a member of Headquarters Battery, is attending the first phase of the OCS at Camp Smith. Pfc Marsh has been a member of the Army National Guard since October 1960. He is employed by IBM.

A non-commissioned officer school is also conducted at Camp Smith for members of the New York Army National Guard. Members of the 156th Artillery now attending are: Pfc. Michael T. Amato, Kingston (Battery A), SP4 Conrad I. Heisman, Kingston (Hq Battery), SP4 Sherwood Landers, Hurley (Hq Battery), Pfc. Daniel E. Sickles of Kingston (Battery A), CPL Raymond F. Ball, Poughkeepsie (Battery C), SP4 Robert J. Knapp, Poughkeepsie (Battery B), SP4 Francis P. Perillo, Fishkill (Battery B) and Pfc. Frank J. Ruggieri, Poughkeepsie, (Battery C). Students of the NCO School attend in lieu of annual active duty with their units at Camp Drum.

Serving with the staff and faculty of the Empire State Military Academy this year are Captain David H. Jones, Poughkeepsie, in charge of medical service, Warrant Officer Edio G. Ferrari, Accord, an instructor, SFC William J. Ferguson, Kingston, food service; SP5 Francis L. Helke, Saugerties, food service; SFC John A. Abdallah, Poughkeepsie, food service and Pfc. John J. Lane, food service. Members of the staff and faculty from the 156 Artillery attend annual active duty training with the unit at Camp Drum in their normal duty asignments.

Motto of the ESMA is "Learn to Lead." Col. Marx emphasized that "the school is rated among the finest military academies in the country and it offers young men of the Army National Guard an opportunity to advance in the ranks and to secure commisions through excellent physical and mental training development of leadership, ability and initiative, and a well-rounded military education."

Senior Attorney

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) —City Atty. Joe W. Anderson figures he's the granddaddy of all city attorneys—but only by eight days.

Anderson, who recently observed his 72nd birthday, went to work as assistant city attorney on Dec. 23, 1919.

He figures he has eight days over A. C. Van Solem—who went to work as Seattle, Wash., city attorney Dec. 31, 1919.

Auto Racing Star Dies Tuesday of Gunshot Wounds

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich. (AP) —Tommy Milton, 68, a top-ranked star of auto racing's Hall of Fame, died Tuesday of two gunshot wounds after arranging his own funeral, his brother said.

Homer Milton, who lived with his famous brother in a $100,000 home at the mouth of the Clinton River, said Tommy's health had been failing since a heart attack several months ago.

The coroner, Dr. Harold Brockman, termed the case a "probable suicide" and said the gunshot wounds were the cause of death. He said a final determination would be made after an investigation by the Macomb County sheriff's office.

Sheriff's detective Lee Eschenburg called the death an "apparent suicide," but said it would be kept under investigation until details could be explained.

"It looks like other people are involved," he said. "I don't even know what other people, but it looks like that."

He said the body had been moved from the bathroom after the shots were fired and that it was clad in a clean bathrobe, which had no bloodstains.

Homer said Tommy had arranged to be buried Friday.

President Prods Congress Again, GOP Making Hay

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy is prodding Democratic leaders to get the legislative wheels turning in a party-controlled Congress engulfed in a quagmire of protocol and political bickering.

The President is reported sounding a new note of urgency as strategy conferences disclose how deep some of his major proposals have sunk in the gumbo of inaction that has marked what Republicans are calling a do-nothing session.

There are indications that Kennedy himself may seek to mediate a Senate-House dispute over their handling which has prevented final action on any of the regular money bills.

Hinting at this, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., said Tuesday that some drastic measures had better be taken to end a stalemate in which he said Democrats are digging their political graves.

"Every week that this goes on, you can count off a few more Democrats in the November election," he said. "The Republicans will make hay with this."

The Republicans already were busy cutting their hay.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said that "it is doubtful if any session of Congress in the history of the republic ever spent so much time accomplishing so little."

He and House Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana agreed in a statement that "most of the blame belongs on the Kennedy administration."

Regardless of who had to shoulder the responsibility, only a handful of major bills has become law in the more than six months of the session.

Theft Is Bigest Since Goya, 35 Covers $700,000

LONDON (AP)—The theft of 35 paintings valued at $700,000 from a private art gallery was discovered today.

Scene of the robbery was the O'Hana Art Gallery in London's fashionable Mayfair district.

Police said the thieves got in by forcing a rear door.

It was the biggest art thieft in England since the theft of a Goya portrait of the Duke of Wellington from the National Gallery last August.

The Goya, valued at $392,000, is still missing.

The O'Hana Gallery specializes in modern art.

London has had a wave of art thefts in recent months. A Renoir and two Picassos were among 12 paintings stolen last May. Eleven of the paintings were recovered a week afterward.

If you want to be absolutely correct in your table service, do not put the dessert silver on the table at the beginning of the meal. It should be brought on with the dessert plates when the dessert is served.

The second Morrill Act, in 1890, authorized $25,000 annual endowment for each land-grant college.

What is the similarity between children's teeth and trees? According to recent studies, the teeth of children contain growth rings that reflect their development, just as the growth rings of trees reflect the seasons, climate and quality and nutrients in the soil.

Fiore, Other 156 EM to Receive CommissionsSoon

Graduation exercises will be held Friday afternoon for members of the Class of 1962, Officer Candidate School, now undergoing the final phase of training before receiving their commissions as second lieutenants, New York Army National Guard, at the Empire State Military Academy, Camp Smith in Peekskill.

Three enlisted men of the First Howitzer Battalion, 156th Artillery, NYARNG, will be commissioned. They are James H. Fiore, 16 Lindsley Avenue; Robert W. Benjamin Jr., Osborn Hill Road, Wappingers Falls and Joseph R. Parker, Box 482, Amenia, according to an announcement by Lt. Col. Arthur H. Marx, battalion commander. The new officers will be assigned to position vacancies within the command.

Others in First Phase

The Empire State Military Academy conducts training phases of the OCS school during weekends at branch schools from October through April and summer training at Camp Smith for two weeks during the first and second years of the school program. Candidates attend the summer phases in lieu of annual active duty training with their units at Camp Drum.

In addition to the three cadets graduating this week, PFC John W. Marsh, 57 Downs Street, a member of Headquarters Battery, is attending the first phase of the OCS at Camp Smith. Pfc Marsh has been a member of the Army National Guard since October 1960. He is employed by IBM.

A non-commissioned officer school is also conducted at Camp Smith for members of the New York Army National Guard. Members of the 156th Artillery now attending are: Pfc. Michael T. Amato, Kingston (Battery A), SP4 Conrad I. Heisman, Kingston (Hq Battery), SP4 Sherwood Landers, Hurley (Hq Battery), Pfc. Daniel E. Sickles of Kingston (Battery A), CPL Raymond F. Ball, Poughkeepsie (Battery C), SP4 Robert J. Knapp, Poughkeepsie (Battery B), SP4 Francis P. Perillo, Fishkill (Battery B) and Pfc. Frank J. Ruggieri, Poughkeepsie, (Battery C). Students of the NCO School attend in lieu of annual active duty with their units at Camp Drum.

Serving with the staff and faculty of the Empire State Military Academy this year are Captain David H. Jones, Poughkeepsie, in charge of medical service, Warrant Officer Edio G. School Budget Of $1,949,386 Wins aApproval

SAUGERTIES—The estimated budget of $1,949,386.85 for the Saugerties Central School District for the year 1962-63 was passed by a 82-11 vote at the annual school meeting held Tuesday evening at the Saugerties High School auditorium.

The budget was revised on July 6 over the previous estimated figure of $1,939,232.04 to include the $10,154.82 for architects' fees resulting from the defeated bond issues of May 9 and June 21. This charge would have been part of the cost of the new schools, but now must be paid from general funds appropriations.

The tax rate is estimated at $74 per thousand assessed valuation.

Donald Lawson was appointed permanent chairman of the meeting, with Charles Rice, Herman Wilcox, Donald Glass and LeRoy Donaldson acting as tellers.

The reading of the budget was waived by unanimous vote of the more than 93 people present. Gerald Snyder, business manager of the school district, covered several items of the budget in an explanatory manner prior to asking for questions from the floor. There being few questions, registration of eligible voters and balloting took place with the resulting affirmative decision.

Attorney Morris Rosenblum adjourned the meeting until today at 12 noon when the polls will be open at the Main Street School for election of four new members to the board of education. The polls will remain open until 9 p. m.

Candidates who filed their petitions with Mrs. Margaret Marburger, district clerk, to fill the four positions open on the board are Robert Herb, incumbent, and Arthur DeCelle for a three year term; Edwin Olson and Scott Gilpin for a two year term; Norman Nitschke and Stuart Buchan for a three year term; and Jack Pakanen, incumbent, unopposed for a three year term.

NEW OFFICERS INSTALLED—At the meeting this week of Saugerties Lions Club, officers were installed for the ensuing year, and the annual scholarship award was made by the organization. Principals at the event held at Gene Whalen's Restaurant, Ulster Landing, were (l-r) Frank Costello, Lions new president; Miss Patricia Breen, winner of $400 scholarship; J. Wilson Tinney, Port Ewen, district governor of the Lions; Henry Breitenbach, immediate past president of the Saugerties club. (Freeman photo).

Appeal Made For Blood Donors

An urgent appeal to blood donors to attend Thursday night's Blood Bank drawing has been made by Mrs. Helen Gardner, chairman of the committee for the sponsoring organization, the Veterans of Foreign Wars and its Auxiliary, Memorial Post 5034.

The drawing will begin at 7 p. m. at the VFW Home on Livingston Street under the direction of Dr. Herman Ash and Miss Mary Kay Wiseman. At least 50 pints of blood is required to replenish the bank which is now completely depleted. Any healthy person over the age of 18 is eligible to donate.

Refreshments will be served to all donors by Mrs. Ruth Prendergast and a committee of the auxiliary members.

Will Seek Facts In Traffic Death, Patient Involved

An open inquest into the death of Herman Springhorn, 58, Hyde Park, victim of a traffic accident last Saturday at Rhinebeck, will be requested by Dutchess County District Attorney Raymond C. Baratta.

The prosecutor said he would confer with County Medical Examiner Dr. Chester Golding to arrange an open hearing at which, Baratta said, "various facts are expected to be elicited."

Springhorn was killed when his car was struck by a stolen vehicle operated by Jack Proper, 19, Hudson River State Hospital patient, who escaped from the institution hours before the traffic death.

Proper suffered minor injuries.

Dutchess County authorities are considering possible police action against Proper, who was being pursued by state police at the time of the collision.

If you've tried everything else for insomnia try some of the summer replacements on television.

OFFICE CAT

It all originated at a small grocery store where they sold everything from sand to a pearl necklace. A farmer had gone for some liniment to rub on his cow's bad leg. The bungling grocer gave the old farmer, however, some scent instead of liniment.

The day following the farmer came back in a great rage.

Farmer — Look here, I wish you'd be more careful how you chuck things over that counter. You gave me parfume yesterday, instead of liniment, an' I'd put it on the blessed cow 'fore I knowed.

Grocer (in a molifying tone)— I hope it hasn't done her any harm.

Farmer — Harm be hanged! That 'ere cow won't eat now, nor allow herself to be milked. The only things she does is to sigh the whole day long, and go look at her reflection in the pond.

Real Estate Agent — Why don't you give your new bungalow a name? Something appropriate. Other people do. There's Seldom Inn, Walk Inn, Cozy Inn, and a lot of others.

Owner — That's an idea. As I've just finished paying for it, I'll name it All Inn.

A minister was telling a group of parishioners about the prodigal son.

Minister — What would you have done in this poor prodigal's place? Sleeping with the swine. No home. No friends. No food. I ask you, what would you have done?

The answer came quickly from a practical-minded man in the last row:

Man — Mister, I would have killed a pig.

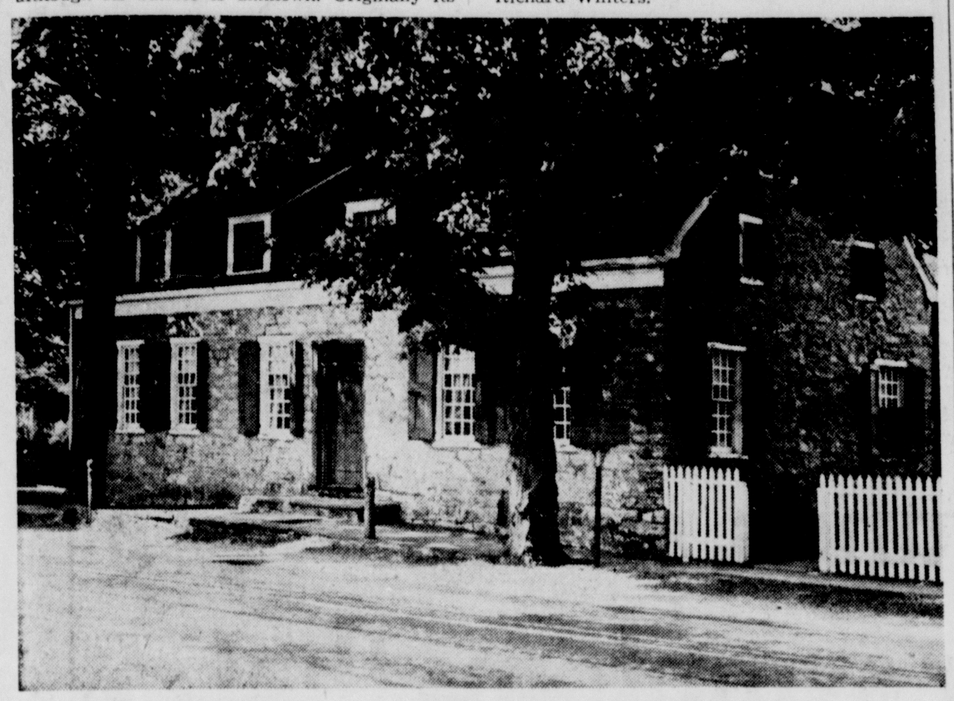
CRISPELL HOUSE—Among the 11 historical stone houses to be open to the public in Hurley Saturday is the Crispell House. The small house is believed to have been built about 1730, although its builder is unknown. Originally its lower level was used as a blacksmith shop. Several years ago, when repairs were being made, a "witch catcher" was found in the chimney. The house is presently owned by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Winters.



VAN DEUSEN HOUSE—The Jan Van Deusen House was the capitol of New York State after the burning of Kingston in 1777. The secret room in which state records were kept is found in this house which was built in 1723. Miss Ruth C. Waterbury is the present owner. Tours of old stone houses will start Saturday from the Hurley Reformed Church. Hours will be 11 a. m. to 5 p. .m. A cafeteria will be open at the church starting 11 a. m.

Diamonds Must Break to Win

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Most players would look over today's dummy sadly, go down one trick at their heart slam contract and charge the loss to experience or bad luck.

Charley Solomon of Philadelphia looked sadly at dummy, but he did not give up. Instead he worked out a play to make his slam.

The bidding had given him a chance to work his way out of his apparent difficulties. West surely held the ace of clubs for his three club opening and the nine of spades lead just had to be a singleton. In such case only one more ingredient was necessary for success. The diamonds must break 3-3.

Charley took dummy's ace of spades, discarded his king and queen of clubs on dummy's ace and king of diamonds, ruffed a third diamond, drew trumps and led the deuce of clubs.

West was in with the ace and had to lead another club, whereupon dummy's jack and a couple of the remaining diamonds accounted for Charley's spade losers.

While Charley was mopping his brow, afterwards he remarked, "I guess my five hearts was an overbid." I have to guess with Charley.

Negro Soldier Has Home for Family After Struggle

PLATTSBURGH, N.Y. (AP) — Tech. Sgt. Creston James is headed today for a new Air Force assignment in Turkey, confident after an encounter with stubborn racial prejudice that his wife and seven-year-old son have a place to live here until he returns

James and his wife, Eva, both Negroes and college graduates, learned in March that he was to be transferred from Plattsburgh Air Force Base to Turkey.

They decided that Mrs. James and their son, Lenel, should remain here. But since Air Force regulations prohibit families from remaining in military housing when a man is sent overseas, they had to find a place off the base for Mrs. James and the boy to live.

By remaining in Plattsburgh, a city of about 20,000 in Northern New York, Lenel would be able to continue his schooling here, and Mrs. James could fulfill her contract as a teacher at the base school.

It also meant that, since his family was not with him, James' overseas tour would last only two years, instead of three.

But until a few minutes before James was to leave for McGuire Air Force Base, N.J., for transfer to Turkey, their search fo living quarters was futile.

According to Mrs. James, one woman from whom they sought an apartment told them bluntly she "didn't 'believe in mixing the races.'"

On Monday, the Plattsburgh Press - Republican published a story describing the James' difficulties. Just minutes before James and his wife were to leave for New Jersey, two calls reached them offering to rent apartments. Mrs. James told a neighbor she would take one.

Later, at least 10 other callers told the newspaper they wanted to help. They offered apartments and furnshed houses.

Onondaga Favors $45 Million Line To Reach Lake

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Voters in Onondaga County have approved constructon of a 35-mile-long, $45-million pipeline to draw water from Lake Ontario.

The vote in the referendum Tuesday was 36,388 to 21,573, with all districts but two in Syracuse having reported.

The plan now must be approved by the State Water Resources Planning Commission, and an agreement must be reached with neighboring Oswego County through which the pipeline would run.

Construction is expected to begin next summer.

County officials have said the plan was necessitated because present sources now are near their limits. Skaneateles Lake is the water source for the City of Syracuse, while other sections of the county use other bodies of water.

Strong opposition to the plan came from the Town of Skaneateles, which said it did not want to be included in the county-wide water district to be formed under the plan because the town has a large lake of its own as a source.

The town was one of eight in the county that rejected the plan. The 11 other towns and the city of Syracuse approved it.

County Requires Reports on Purchases

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP) — Lawyers, doctors and dentists in Broome County are required to report quarterly on their out-of-county puchases under an amendment to the county's five-year-old sales-tax law.

The amendment affects about 300 lawyers, 300 doctors and 120 dentists. The amendment also applies to businesses that sell no taxable products but make out-of-county purchases subject to the 2 per cent use tax.

Last year, the sales and use taxes produced $4,728,000 in revenue for the county.

Clara Bow Back to Secluded Life

A Wave, Faint Smile, 'It Girl' Gone Again

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD AP)—A wave, a faint smile from the cupid's-bow lips and Clara Bow lapsed back into the secluded life that has enveloped her for a dozen years.

She emerged Monday to attend the funeral of Rex Bell, whom she married in 1931 when both were screen stars. After the services, she returned to the small home in West Los Angeles where she has lived quietly for the last seven years.

Special Room Didn't Help

Before that, she was in a sanitarium in Culver City, trying to conquer the nervous condition that plagued her as a result of long-time insomnia.

"Clara always had trouble sleeping," recalls her onetime leading man and still a friend, Richard Arlen.

"After Clara quit, I used to go up to the ranch she and Rex had in Nevada. Rex had built a soundproof room for her to sleep in, but that still didn't help."

Clara, who had been the symbol of flaming youth in the 1920s, retired shortly after her marriage. She returned for a couple of pictures at Fox in the early 1930s, but she wasn't happy. She retired once and for all to Nevada to be Mrs. Rex Bell and mother of their two sons.

But sleep still eluded her, with the resulting inroads on her emotional health. Bell attributed her trouble to the high-strung decade when she was the nation's "It Girl."

"Mentally she is fine and dandy," Bell told me eight years ago. "But she has had emotional disturbances that have knocked out her health. She has had to live an entirely different life since the trouble began."

Since proper facilities were lacking in Nevada, she moved back to California while he remained behind, rising to lieutenant governor. Bell said he and the sons visited her often.

Sees Few Others

She has seen few others. Her oldtime pals from the studio days get handwritten Christmas cards from her every year. But their requests to visit her are politely turned down.

What does she do?

"Oh, the days just aren't long enough for her," said an intimate. "She swims a great deal and watches television by the hour. She devours it. She watches after her business interests and often goes out on such errands. When she is out, she might go to a restaurant for dinner. But most of the time is spent at home."

She lives with a nurse, Estella Smith, who has been with the family 15 years. Also with a Siberian husky and French poodle—"They really run the house."

One thing is certain from having viewed her this week: the old Bow magic is still there. At 56, she is still a looker. She is small—only 5 feet 3—and remains trim. Judging from only a cursory look under trying circumstances, she still has the look of a star.

Retired Minister Dies

WATERTOWN, N.Y. (AP)—The Rev. Albert E. Budd of Sandy Creek, a retired Methodist minister, died Monday in a hospital here. He was 83.

The Rev. Mr. Budd, who retired in 1951, had been pastor at churches in Tupper Lake, Bracher Falls, Norwood, Heuvelton, Vernon, and Waddington.

Suing Albany, Cop For Beating Injuries

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Samuel E. Clark, 39, a Stratford, Conn., postal clerk who says he was beaten by Albany police, is suing the city and one of its policemen for $100,000 for injuries he claims to have suffered.

Clark, a Negro, filed a notice of claim Tuesday and named Patrolman William J. Schoonmaker as the man who allegedly beat him in a police station on Memorial Day after his arrest on a disorderly conduct charge.

Clark was convicted of the charge and was fined $25. Police said he used abusive language when they asked him to move his double-parked automobile.

Shell dealers list some causes and cures of

10 sounds, smells and other symptoms that often puzzle drivers

Even if your car's in good condition, it may act up occasionally. When puzzled, consult this chart. It doesn't cover every problem, but it will help with some of the more common ones.

DESCRIPTION	LIKELY CAUSE	WHAT TO DO
High-pitched squeal when you first start the engine.	1. Worn or glazed fan belt. 2. Loose fan belt. 3. Water pump seal needs lubrication.	1. Replace the belt if it looks worn. It could break. 2. Have the fan belt tension checked. A loose belt may not turn the generator fast enough to charge the battery. 3. Add Shell Cooling System Protector to radiator water.
Throbbing roar.	Damaged or worn muffler.	Replace muffler. Your Shell dealer can do this for you.
High-pitched erratic pinging noise—usually lasts just a few seconds. (Often called wild ping.)	Erratic combustion caused by glowing carbon deposits that flake off and ignite the fuel too soon.	Try Super Shell gasoline. It contains three anti-knock ingredients. One is TCP.* This famous Shell additive works to "fireproof" combustion deposits that could otherwise cause wild ping.
Screeching brakes.	1. Badly worn brake linings. 2. Glazed brake lining.	Any brake trouble should be checked immediately by your Shell dealer. It could be dangerous. If linings are badly worn or glazed, brakes should be relined soon.
Strong gasoline odor when you can't start the car.	Flooded carburetor.	Let the car sit a minute. Push the accelerator to the floor (don't pump it). Then try the starter.

Onondaga Favors $45 Million Line To Reach Lake

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Voters in Onondaga County have approved construcion of a 35-mile-long, $45-million pipeline to draw water from Lake Ontario.

The vote in the referendum Tuesday was 36,388 to 21,573, with all districts but two in Syracuse having reported.

The plan now must be approved by the State Water Resources Planning Commission, and an agreement must be reached with neighboring Oswego County through which the pipeline would run.

Construction is expected to begin next summer.

County officials have said the plan was necessitated because present sources now are near their limits. Skaneateles Lake is the water source for the City of Syracuse, while other sections of the county use other bodies of water.

Strong opposition to the plan came from the Town of Skaneateles, which said it did not want to be included in the county-wide water district to be formed under the plan because the town has a large lake of its own as a source.

The town was one of eight in the county that rejected the plan. The 11 other towns and the city of Syracuse approved it.

County Requires Reports on Purchases

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP) — Lawyers, doctors and dentists in Broome County are required to report quarterly on their out-of-county puchases under an amendment to the county's five-year-old sales-tax law.

The amendment affects about 300 lawyers, 300 doctors and 120 dentists. The amendment also applies to businesses that sell no taxable products but make out-of-county purchases subject to the 2 per cent use tax.

Last year, the sales and use taxes produced $4,728,000 in revenue for the county.

A Wave, Faint Smile, 'It Girl' Gone Again

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD AP)—A wave, a faint smile from the cupid's-bow lips and Clara Bow lapsed back into the secluded life that has enveloped her for a dozen years.

She emerged Monday to attend the funeral of Rex Bell, whom she married in 1931 when both were screen stars. After the services, she returned to the small home in West Los Angeles where she has lived quietly for the last seven years.

Special Room Didn't Help

Before that, she was in a sanitarium in Culver City, trying to conquer the nervous condition that plagued her as a result of long-time insomnia.

"Clara always had trouble sleeping," recalls her onetime leading man and still a friend, Richard Arlen.

"After Clara quit, I used to go up to the ranch she and Rex had in Nevada. Rex had built a soundproof room for her to sleep in, but that still didn't help."

Clara, who had been the symbol of flaming youth in the 1920s, retired shortly after her marriage. She returned for a couple of pictures at Fox in the early 1930s, but she wasn't happy. She retired once and for all to Nevada to be Mrs. Rex Bell and mother of their two sons.

But sleep still eluded her, with the resulting inroads on her emotional health. Bell attributed her trouble to the high-strung decade when she was the nation's "It Girl."

"Mentally she is fine and dandy," Bell told me eight years ago. "But she has had emotional disturbances that have knocked out her health. She has had to live an entirely different life since the trouble began."

Since proper facilities were lacking in Nevada, she moved back to California while he remained behind, rising to lieutenant governor. Bell said he and the sons visited her often.

Sees Few Others

She has seen few others. Her oldtime pals from the studio days get handwritten Christmas cards from her every year. But their requests to visit her are politely turned down.

What does she do?

"Oh, the days just aren't long enough for her," said an intimate. "She swims a great deal and watches television by the hour. She devours it. She watches after her business interests and often goes out on such errands. When she is out, she might go to a restaurant for dinner. But most of the time is spent at home."

She lives with a nurse, Estella Smith, who has been with the family 15 years. Also with a Siberian husky and French poodle—"They really run the house."

One thing is certain from having viewed her this week: the old Bow magic is still there. At 56, she is still a looker. She is small—only 5 feet 3—and remains trim. Judging from only a cursory look under trying circumstances, she still has the look of a star.

Retired Minister Dies

WATERTOWN, N.Y. (AP)—The Rev. Albert E. Budd of Sandy Creek, a retired Methodist minister, died Monday in a hospital here. He was 83.

The Rev. Mr. Budd, who retired in 1951, had been pastor at churches in Tupper Lake, Bracher Falls, Norwood, Heuvelton, Vernon, and Waddington.

Suing Albany, Cop For Beating Injuries

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Samuel E. Clark, 39, a Stratford, Conn., postal clerk who says he was beaten by Albany police, is suing the city and one of its policemen for $100,000 for injuries he claims to have suffered.

Clark, a Negro, filed a notice of claim Tuesday and named Patrolman William J. Schoonmaker as the man who allegedly beat him in a police station on Memorial Day after his arrest on a disorderly conduct charge.

Clark was convicted of the charge and was fined $25. Police said he used abusive language when they asked him to move his double-parked automobile.

Shell dealers list some causes and cures of

10 sounds, smells and other symptoms that often puzzle drivers

Even if your car's in good condition, it may act up occasionally. When puzzled, consult this chart. It doesn't cover every problem, but it will help with some of the more common ones.

DESCRIPTION	LIKELY CAUSE	WHAT TO DO
High-pitched squeal when you first start the engine.	1. Worn or glazed fan belt. 2. Loose fan belt. 3. Water pump seal needs lubrication.	1. Replace the belt if it looks worn. It could break. 2. Have the fan belt tension checked. A loose belt may not turn the generator fast enough to charge the battery. 3. Add Shell Cooling System Protector to radiator water.
Throbbing roar.	Damaged or worn muffler.	Replace muffler. Your Shell dealer can do this for you.
High-pitched erratic pinging noise—usually lasts just a few seconds. (Often called wild ping.)	Erratic combustion caused by glowing carbon deposits that flake off and ignite the fuel too soon.	Try Super Shell gasoline. It contains three anti-knock ingredients. One is TCP.* This famous Shell additive works to "fireproof" combustion deposits that could otherwise cause wild ping.
Screeching brakes.	1. Badly worn brake linings. 2. Glazed brake lining.	Any brake trouble should be checked immediately by your Shell dealer. It could be dangerous. If linings are badly worn or glazed, brakes should be relined soon.
Strong gasoline odor when you can't start the car.	Flooded carburetor.	Let the car sit a minute. Push the accelerator to the floor (don't pump it). Then try the starter.
Exhaust fumes. Most noticeable when driving in town or when your engine is idling.	Leaking tail pipe or muffler.	First, open a window—those fumes can make you groggy fast. Replace damaged part promptly. Note: Always have exhaust system inspected when your car is lubricated.
When cruising, dashboard generator light goes on—or ammeter needle continuously shows "discharge."	1. Broken fan belt. 2. Faulty generator or voltage regulator. Or loose connection in electrical system.	Stop at the first station to avoid running battery down. 1. Replace fan belt. Suggestion: Carry a spare belt—it could save you time and trouble. 2. Action May Come Today on Plea For Disaster Aid

HARRISBURG (AP) — The U.S. Agriculture Department was expected to act today on Gov. Lawrence's request 22 drought-stricken farm counties be declared federal disaster areas.

In a telegram to U.S. Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman Tuesday Lawrence urged prompt action that could make farmers in the affected counties eligible for special federal low-interest loans and other aid.

Lawrence's telegram followed a two-hour emergency meeting by the state USDA disaster committee. The committee designated these counties as drought disaster areas:

Armstrong, Bradford, Cambria, Carbon, Centre, Dauphin, Fayette, Fulton, Greene, Lackawanna, Monroe, Montour, Northumberland, Somerset, Snyder, Sullivan, Susquehanna, Tioga, Washington, Wayne, Westmoreland and Wyoming.

State officials said Freeman probably would send federal investigators into the areas designated. Then, based on these investigators' reports, he will decide whether to designate the counties as disaster areas.

'A' for Trying But Not for Performance

McCormack Falls Far Short Of Mr. Sam's Magical Reign

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — None of the luster has been rubbed off the memory of Sam Rayburn by his successor as speaker of the House, the lanky John W. McCormack of Massachusetts.

The 70-year-old New Englander is a pale figure compared with Rayburn, a Texan who, when he died last year at 79, had become the patriarch of the House Democrats.

Rayburn became speaker in 1940. Between then and the time he died McCormack had been his right-hand man as majority leader or Democratic whip.

Top Man From Start

Rayburn went home sick in 1961 before the Democratic-run House had finished its work for the year, leaving McCormack in charge. When the session was over McCormack spoke proudly of its record.

He can't do the same so far this year, although he has been top man from the beginning and Democrats heavily outnumber Republicans.

McCormack may get an "A" for trying but not for performance.

The simple fact is he was never as colorful as Rayburn, isn't now, and probably couldn't be or want to try to be. He has none of Rayburn's dramatics or his sense of dramatics.

What counts more — politically — is what kind of captain, soothsayer, and magician has he been in getting his Democratic administration's programs through?

He hasn't been particularly distinguished in any of those three categories. Take the soothsayer's role first.

Relations Not Good

Relations between House and Senate are not as good as when Rayburn was speaker and fellow Texan Lyndon B. Johnson, now vice president, was Senate Democratic leader. Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana is Johnson's successor.

Twice within a year the House, with McCormack in charge, has offended the Senate. At the end of last year, at the very end, the House passed an appropriations bill, sent it to the Senate on a take-it-or-leave-it basis and quit for 1961.

Mansfield didn't mention MacCormack by name (he didn't have to) when he told his fellow-senators: "It is outrageous. We have to swallow it. But I think it is a poor sign of the comity which should exist between the two bodies."

This week the House Appropriations Committee passed a resolution which, in effect, accused the Senate of being responsible for two-thirds of the $32 billion added to the national debt in the past 20 years.

The senators could, and did, take this as meaning they were being called wasteful spenders, Sen. A. Willis Robertson, D-Pa., called it "deliberately insulting."

Rayburn had worked hard to keep relations between the two bodies cool. If he had been around he might have been able to prevent both pokes in the Senate's eye.

Prestige Clash

The second poke was the product of a dispute going on for three months between the House and Senate Appropriations committee which handle money bills. It has been called a prestige clash. Government employes who had their pay held up a while because of it may call it something else.

The House committee demands that, when it meets with the Senate committee to discuss money, half the meetings be held on the House side of the Capitol with a House member presiding at half the meetings. It goes on and on.

Nor is McCormack likely to get any special decorations as a captain this year. The House-killed both President Kennedy's farm bill and his plan for a new department of urban affairs and housing. The farm bill slaughter was a shocker to the administration.

The Republicans, with one exception, voted against it. The Democrats had plenty of votes to beat them. But 28 Democrats joined the Republicans to demolish the bill, 215 to 205. Some Democrats, as Kennedy complained, have been splitting off for years to vote with Republicans.

But it's in this smoky field of drifting Democrats where Democratic leadership has to prove itself.

There's been nothing magical about the response of House Democrats to Kennedy's programs. A lot of those programs are bottled up in House committees and may never get out this year for a vote.

The area of Kentucky is 40,395 square miles, including 540 square miles of water area.

SWEETIE PIE By Nadine Seltzer

"I think she should stick with baseball! Bats don't bend so easily!"

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Wall Streeters say the average margin trader is a bull at heart. Bears also can use margins to sell short—that is, use credit when betting that prices will go down.

But the average margin trader uses credit to buy more stocks than his available cash would buy because he expects them to go up in price. And that is an underlying, if unacknowledged, reason in lowering margins when the bulls are downhearted.

Now the bull if he has regained his courage and found the money) can buy on margin two $100 stocks for only $100 in cash. If the price goes up he'll make twice as much on the two as he could on the one he would have got by paying cash.

Tumble Something Else

And by the same token, he'll make more paying out 50 cents on the dollar than he could have by putting up 70 cents as he was required to before the Federal Reserve Board lowered margins from 70 per cent to 50 per cent.

Of couse, if prices should take a further tumble, the optimistic margin trader would be out of luck—he might have to sell or put up more cash, or even lose the cash he'd already paid.

The Federal Reserve set the rules for margin trading. But the various stock exchanges have their own rules, in addition, which member brokers must obey. The New York Stock Exchange requires at least a $1,000 deposit before a margin account can be opened.)

And many individual brokerage firms impose even stricter margin rules than the minimum set by Fed and the exchanges.

Many brokerage houses require high credit ratings before allowing new traders to set up margin accounts. Also, many won't permit margin trading in the lowest priced stocks—those dear to the heart of the novice speculator. And most will call for more cash well before the stock's price has fallen below the cut-off level the Federal Reserve rules set.

Brokers say most margin accounts are active ones. That is, credit is most often used by in-and-out traders who buy and sell frequently. Only a small amount of inactive accounts by stock investors are on a margin basis. Most of the investor type trading is strictly a cash proposition with the stocks going into bank boxes until the investor decides they should be sold—for cash.

But even those who never buy on margin watch the Fed's change in rules closely. Rightly or wrongly, they feel that margins are dropped when it is felt that more stock buying would help the economy. And when margin traders buy more stock with their increased credit, the prices tend to go up.

The history of margin changes, however, doesn't always bear this out. Often when margins have been dropped, stock prices have risen only temporarily and if a bear market was already in progress, it has continued after a short upward spurt.

In the same way, hiking margins to chill speculative fever has not always worked either. Often prices have continued to rise, after a few days of indecision.

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Wall Streeters say the average margin trader is a bull at heart. Bears also can use margins to sell short—that is, use credit when betting that prices will go down.

But the average margin trader uses credit to buy more stocks than his available cash would buy because he expects them to go up in price. And that is an underlying, if unacknowledged, reason in lowering margins when the bulls are downhearted.

Now the bull if he has regained his courage and found the money) can buy on margin two $100 stocks for only $100 in cash. If the price goes up he'll make twice as much on the two as he could on the one he would have got by paying cash.

Tumble Something Else

And by the same token, he'll make more paying out 50 cents on the dollar than he could have by putting up 70 cents as he was required to before the Federal Reserve Board lowered margins from 70 per cent to 50 per cent.

Of couse, if prices should take a further tumble, the optimistic margin trader would be out of luck—he might have to sell or put up more cash, or even lose the cash he'd already paid.

The Federal Reserve set the rules for margin trading. But the various stock exchanges have their own rules, in addition, which member brokers must obey. The New York Stock Exchange requires at least a $1,000 deposit before a margin account can be opened.)

And many individual brokerage firms impose even stricter margin rules than the minimum set by Fed and the exchanges.

Many brokerage houses require high credit ratings before allowing new traders to set up margin accounts. Also, many won't permit margin trading in the lowest priced stocks—those dear to the heart of the novice speculator. And most will call for more cash well before the stock's price has fallen below the cut-off level the Federal Reserve rules set.

Brokers say most margin accounts are active ones. That is, credit is most often used by in-and-out traders who buy and sell frequently. Only a small amount of inactive accounts by stock investors are on a margin basis. Most of the investor type trading is strictly a cash proposition with the stocks going into bank boxes until the investor decides they should be sold—for cash.

But even those who never buy on margin watch the Fed's change in rules closely. Rightly or wrongly, they feel that margins are dropped when it is felt that more stock buying would help the economy. And when margin traders buy more stock with their increased credit, the prices tend to go up.

The history of margin changes, however, doesn't always bear this out. Often when margins have been dropped, stock prices have risen only temporarily and if a bear market was already in progress, it has continued after a short upward spurt.

In the same way, hiking margins to chill speculative fever has not always worked either. Often prices have continued to rise, after a few days of indecision.

Two Are Injured In Crash Today At Binnewater

Two persons were injured early today in a two-car collision which occurred on Binnewater Road south of Lucas Turnpike, according to Kingston State Police.

Trooper Richard Ryan said the cars were a 1961 vehicle driven by Joseph Norworth, 25, of R.F.D. Kingston, who said he would see his own physician, and a 1958 car owned and operated by Elmore Galm, 50, of Kingston.

Galm was taken to Kingston Hospital and treated for neck and other injuries.

Norworth was traveling south and the other vehicle was going in the opposite direction when the crash occurred.

Ulster Will Be Represented at Grange Session

Ulster county will be represented at the 13th annual Youth Leadership school at the Morrisville Agricultural and Technical Institute Sunday through Saturday (July 15-21). The six-day session sponsored by the New York State Grange will be climaxed by the adoption of a 1963 Grange youth program.

Among those assisting in determining next year's statewide projects will be Peter Kleeman, 17, and Mary Catherine Kopaskie, 18, both of Wallkill, members of Plattekill Grange, and Martha Gruner, a member of Highland Grange.

There will be classes throughout the week on leadership principles, dramatics, Grange values and ritualistic work of the nation's oldest rural organization and only farm fraternity. On Friday night, all youths attending will participate in a special program showing accomplishments of the school.

Members of the 1962 Student committee are Patricia Bush, Moravia, chairman; Richard Heit, Savannah, and Wendal Dishaw, Massena.

Miss Pat Emerson, Syracuse, Grange youth director, is in charge of the school whose staff will include Russell Curtis, Cazenovia, master of the State Grange and James W. Hatch, former supervisor in the state of the Future Farmers of America.

The State Grange Youth committee is headed by Barbara Curtis, Cazenovia, daughter of the state master; with Edna Smith, Pattersonville, secretary; Everett Bennett, Elmira; Neil Marlof, Castorland; Elizabeth Melody, Wallkill and Carol Wightman, Friendship.

Play Well Received

SPOLETO, Italy (AP)—American playwright Tennessee Williams' newest offering, "The Milk Train Doesn't Stop Here Anymore," had its world premier Tuesday night at Spoleto's Two Worlds Festival.

The audience, mostly Americans, gave the play a cordial reception, with waves of applause at the intermissions and final curtain.

The play deals with the tangled life of an American widow, married six times and now living in a villa on the Amalfi coast dictating her memoirs to a young secretary.

Dog Gets the Message

LOS ANGELES (AP)—After phoning several dog pounds in search of her lost pet Tuesday, Donna Hurley found one that answered the description.

"Just put him on the phone," Mrs. Hurley said to the startled attendant.

A few words from the woman, the kennelman recounted later, and "the dog went crazy. He jumped around and yelped. He's her dog, all right."

Rosendale - Tillson

G. W. Erts—Telephone OL 8-5317

The annual picnic of the Bloomingdale Unit will be held Tuesday, July 31 at the home of Pearl DeForce in Tillson. Members are requested to bring a covered dish and a place setting. Ham, rolls, coffee and iced tea will be provided.

Plans are progressing for the annual Library Fair on August 11. Henry Hartman of Bloomington, Howard Mansfield of Tillson and Mrs. Patrick Donnelly of Rosendale are serving on the general committee. Fred Fiedler and Mansfield are in charge of sponsors. George Mollenhauer, Albert Sperath and Hartman will supervise the barbecue and Mrs. Louis Mastro and Mrs. Ethel Quick the refreshment stand.

Other booths with their workers are: Jewelry, Mrs. Lottie Burns, Mrs. Henry Hartman, Mrs. Howard Mansfield and Mrs. Joseph Knubben; miscellaneous, Mrs. Donald Hasenflue, Mrs. Harry Wesp and Mrs. Robert Demarest; fancy articles, Mrs. Edward Huben, Mrs. William Knott, Mrs. Anna Auchmoedy, Mrs. William Kloepfer and Mrs. Stephen Reposky; garden—Mrs. Arthur Mulligan; Mrs. James Fahey, Mrs. Alfred Trandle and Mrs. Leon Thorpe; baked goods, Mrs. Vincent Steeley, Mrs. Cyril Tegler, Mrs. Charles George, Mrs. Albert Morelli and Mrs. Irvin Smith; homemade candy, Mrs. Francis VanLoan and Mrs. William Mundhenk; books, Mrs. Vernon Freese; miscellaneous, Mrs. Ira Ingram. Gerhardt Schneider is chairman of the art exhibit. Antiques will also be exhibited. Workers are needed at the various booths and Mrs. Auchmoedy, Mrs. Ingram, Mrs. Donnelly or any of the above mentioned may be contacted. Donations will be called for or may be left at the library or at Master's store. A meeting of all committees will be held Thursday, Aug. 2, at 8 p. m. at the library.

A meeting of the Rosendale Tillson Post 1219 of the American Legion was held at the Post Home in Tillson on Thursday evening. One of the main topics of discussion was the Supreme Court ruling of prayers in public schools. After a lengthy discussion it was found there are several ways of interpreting it. A motion was made and passed naming a responsible committee to investigate in detail just what the ruling means. The Post feels an obligation to do this for the community, members and their children. Because this post is in two school districts, Rondout Valley and Kingston Consolidated School District, the committee has promised to work on this untiringly and a report will be made to the public when the committee has completed its task.

Dividend Holding Loses in Senate Committee Voting

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee today voted 10-5 to knock out of President Kennedy's tax revision bill the withholding system on dividends and interest.

The vote was a sharp setback for the President. He had counted on the withholding provision, as the biggest revenue source in the bill, to pay for benefits promised to business.

It was a victory for the committee's veteran chairman, Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., who has vigorously opposed the withholding plan, and for many thousands of savers and investors who swamped senators with mail in opposition to it.

Protest Assessments

Upwards of 100 Dutchess County taxpayers protested assessments at Grievance sessions Tuesday in the 20 townships of the county where assessment rolls show increases of more than 26 million dollars for 1962. It was reported more than half of the protests were registered in Rhinebeck where assessments increased more than 20 million dollars in a reappraisal by an outside firm of experts.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market moved irregularly in slow trading early this afternoon after canceling much of an early decline.

Showing a minimal change, The Associated Press average for 60 stocks at noon was off .10 at 218.10 with industrials off .80, rails up 3.00, and utilities up .20.

Changes of most key stocks were fractional, some going to a point or so.

In early trading, the list continued to endure profit taking which followed Tuesday morning's vigorous rally on news that margin requirements had been cut to 50 per cent from 70 per cent. A number of issues firmed above their lows, however, and selected issues did quite well, among them American Telephone which was in continued demand due to the launching of its Telstar communications satellite.

AT&T was active as it advanced well over a point, continuing its strength begun early this week on preliminary news about the Telstar which was launched Tuesday.

Losses of a point or so were wiped out by some "growth" stocks, among them IBM which showed a net gain of about 2. Litton, Polaroid, and Xerox moved fractionally to the upside.

Ford's new split stock, which was strong Tuesday, added about a point at the start today then wiped out the gain following declaration of a 45-cent dividend, equivalent to the 90 cents paid on the old stock. Although the 90-cent payout was a boost from the prior 75 cents, there was apparently disappointment among some that, with the split now effective, another dividend hike was not declared.

Standard & Poor's 500-stock index at noon was up .02 at 57.22.

TELSTAR SATELLITE LAUNCHED — A Thor-Delta rocket roars away from launch pad at Cape Canaveral to carry a Telstar communications satellite into orbit. The sattellite is to test techniques for a global television, radio and telephone system in space. (AP Wirephoto)

Europe Joins . . .

the American flag rippling in the breeze.

British viewers stayed up late for the great event of instantaneous television from abroad, with the brief reward coming after 1 a.m.

Telstar's first feats were a prodigious demonstration of things to come in a future worldwide satellite communications system to meet mounting demands for telephone, news, business, and television circuits spanning oceans and continents.

Praising this joint venture of private industry and government —American Telephone & Telegraph Co. footed the entire $4 million cost of building, launching and tracking Telstar — Newton Minow, chairman of the Federal Communications Commission, remarked:

"Now we have increased opportunity to increase the flow of information among all nations, to surmount the walls of ignorance and prejudice and to use mass communications hopefully to avoid mass destruction."

12-15 Minutes Daily

Only for 12 to 15 minutes on some of its orbits each day will Telstar be in line of sight vision between Europe and Maine to permit television exchange.

But one plan calls for launching a series of 30 to 50 similar repeater satellites, so that one or more always would be in position for relay of television, telephone calls, photo or story and message transmission.

Ultimately, the instantaneous, continuous circuits might be provided by three satellites, orbiting 23,500 miles high so they appear to remain stationary over the same points on earth. Telstar's task is first to prove the capabilities, and help determine what problems still lie ahead.

Telstar to Mean Cheaper Toll Calls

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Telephone and Telegraph Co. spent $4 million to put the Telstar satellite into working orbit.

So Tuesday night when a vice president picked up a telephone to place a call via the satellite, a Bell telephone operator cooly suggested: "Deposit four million dollars, please."

Ultimately, telephone calls to foreign lands via communications satellites will probably cost less for three minutes, officials predict, than present tolls —$12.50 for three minutes—to European cities via submarine cables.

Observers Invited

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The Roman Catholic Church has sent out invitations to non-Catholic churches and church federations to send observers to its Ecumenical Council starting here Oct. 11.

Protesant observers never before have been invited to a world-wide gathering of the Roman Catholic hierachy.

A Vatican spokesman declined today to say how many observers are being asked to attend or what churches had been invited.

In Geneva Tuesday night, the World Council of Churches, the Lutheran World Federation and the World Presbyterian Alliance announced receipt of invitations. They were asked to submit names of the observers by the end of June—"one or two" from the World Council, "two or three" from the Presbyterian Alliance.

Nine British doctors arrived from London Tuesday night to fill vacancies created by the doctors strike. Officials said at least two dozen more doctors from Britain were due here later this week.

Earlier appeals from the government were answered by 11 other doctors from Britain, two from the United States and four from other Canadian provinces.

At the airport, the new arrivals passed one of Regina's best known physicians, Dr. J. M. Laidlaw, who said he was giving up his seven-year-old practice here because he was "afraid of the government." He is taking a new position in Champaign, Ill.

When to Sell Stock When Rate Slows Up

Q) "I'm the owner of a string of small camera shops. I understand that you've advised the sale of Eastman Kodak. May I ask why?" R.L.

A) You certainly may. Let me make it plain at the outset that my suggestion was in no way based on the quality of Eastman's products. I advised the sale because of conclusions derived from an analysis of the firm's earning power and the technical or market position of its shares.

Kodak has shown an uninterrupted uptrend in earnings for many years—enough to classify the issue as a sound growth situation. But, despite prospects of continued gains this year, it seemed to me that the company's underlying growth rate was slowing up. Furthermore, my charts indicated that the shares were quite vulnerable to decline around the $100 level.

These two facts, plus the presence of a fairly high price-earnings multiple and correspondingly low dividend yield, led me to believe that the downside risks far outweighed the upside potentials, for a while at least.

Q) "I've been a student of the market ever since I graduated from college in 1952. As I write this letter, the Dow Jones Industrial Average is at about 530. The steepness of the recent drop is well illustrated by the fact that only a few months ago the Dow was at 730, some 200 points higher than now. How does the move compare with the slide in 1937?" P.H.

A) In 1937, the Dow topped out at 194. After sinking to 163 in June, it rebounded sharply to the 190 level in August. Prices eroded to 118 in November and, following a recovery to 133 shortly thereafter, the market bottomed out at 99 in March 1938.

From an academic standpoint, such figures are undoubtedly interesting. However, I want to caution you against drawing parallels between what happened in the past and the present.

I've been in this business a long time and have yet to see two major market moves that were much alike, either in extent or in duration.

Ward Officials Pleased

Twelfth Ward alderman John Machione, and supervisor Clarence Raichle today commended city, county, and state officials for their excellent cooperation in bringing about a speedy solution to the Washington Avenue Viaduct situation.

The two 12th ward representatives called attention to the smooth "teamwork" between the Kingston Police Department and County Sheriff's Office, and between County Road Department and the Kingston Department of Public Works in controlling traffic, erecting barricades, and establishing detours.

Furthermore, Machione and Raichle pointed out that county road engineers were quick to confer with city officials on the condition of the viaduct, and that through the efforts of Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson, the New York State Department of Public Works made two engineers available to inspect and advise on the repairs to the viaduct.

The alderman and supervisor from the 12th ward, also were appreciative of the efforts of Assemblyman Wilson in urging the State Department of Public Works to speed up its timetable on replacement of the viaduct.

All in all, they said, it is encouraging to see how city, county, and state government can work so efficiently together to solve emergencies of this kind.

Fox said a 1½-inch hoseline was attached to the tank of fog and firemen fought the fire from a roof. Within minutes, the chief said, the fire was brought under control. Fire burned a hole in a ceiling to the attic, but, the chief said, fog played through the hole extinguished flames.

Firemen used the same technique in fighting the fire with fog as they viewed in motion pictures recently shown department members.

President Kennedy, in a broadcast four months ago, announcing plans to resume U.S. nuclear testing in the atmosphere, said the Soviet test series last fall was aimed, in part, at "improving their defenses against missiles."

But, he added: "While apparently seeking information which is important in developing an antimissile defense system, these tests did not, in our judgment, reflect a developed system."

The information Kennedy said the Russians appeared to be seeking was believed to involve the effects of nuclear blasts on radar and communications.

U.S. scientists were looking for similar information in detonating a hydrogen device more than 200 miles above the Pacific last Sunday night.

Defense Department sources said evaluation of the results of that high altitude shot are not expected for perhaps 48 hours. How much information will be made public is not known.

The names of 90 new firms were listed. In addition, the report said, construction plans of "a few major new companies were reported by confidential sources." The names of these companies will be added to the list when construction begins, the report said.

Ulster Will Be Represented at Grange Session

Ulster county will be represented at the 13th annual Youth Leadership school at the Morrisville Agricultural and Technical Institute Sunday through Saturday (July 15-21). The six-day session sponsored by the New York State Grange will be climaxed by the adoption of a 1963 Grange youth program.

Among those assisting in determining next year's statewide projects will be Peter Kleeman, 17, and Mary Catherine Kopaskie, 18, both of Wallkill, members of Plattekill Grange, and Martha Gruner, a member of Highland Grange.

There will be classes throughout the week on leadership principles, dramatics, Grange values and ritualistic work of the nation's oldest rural organization and only farm fraternity. On Friday night, all youths attending will participate in a special program showing accomplishments of the school.

Members of the 1962 Student committee are Patricia Bush, Moravia, chairman; Richard Heit, Savannah, and Wendal Dishaw, Massena.

Miss Pat Emerson, Syracuse, Grange youth director, is in charge of the school whose staff will include Russell Curtis, Cazenovia, master of the State Grange and James W. Hatch, former supervisor in the state of the Future Farmers of America.

The State Grange Youth committee is headed by Barbara Curtis, Cazenovia, daughter of the state master; with Edna Smith, Pattersonville, secretary; Everett Bennett, Elmira; Neil Marlof, Castorland; Elizabeth Melody, Wallkill and Carol Wightman, Friendship.

Play Well Received

SPOLETO, Italy (AP)—American playwright Tennessee Williams' newest offering, "The Milk Train Doesn't Stop Here Anymore," had its world premier Tuesday night at Spoleto's Two Worlds Festival.

The audience, mostly Americans, gave the play a cordial reception, with waves of applause at the intermissions and final curtain.

The play deals with the tangled life of an American widow, married six times and now living in a villa on the Amalfi coast dictating her memoirs to a young secretary.

The annual picnic of the Bloomingdale Unit will be held Tuesday, July 31 at the home of Pearl DeForce in Tillson. Members are requested to bring a covered dish and a place setting. Ham, rolls, coffee and iced tea will be provided.

Plans are progressing for the annual Library Fair on August 11. Henry Hartman of Bloomington, Howard Mansfield of Tillson and Mrs. Patrick Donnelly of Rosendale are serving on the general committee. Fred Fiedler and Mansfield are in charge of sponsors. George Mollenhauer, Albert Sperath and Hartman will supervise the barbecue and Mrs. Louis Mastro and Mrs. Ethel Quick the refreshment stand.

Other booths with their workers are: Jewelry, Mrs. Lottie Burns, Mrs. Henry Hartman, Mrs. Howard Mansfield and Mrs. Joseph Knubben; miscellaneous, Mrs. Donald Hasenflue, Mrs. Harry Wesp and Mrs. Robert Demarest; fancy articles, Mrs. Edward Huben, Mrs. William Knott, Mrs. Anna Auchmoedy, Mrs. William Kloepfer and Mrs. Stephen Reposky; garden—Mrs. Arthur Mulligan; Mrs. James Fahey, Mrs. Alfred Trandle and Mrs. Leon Thorpe; baked goods, Mrs. Vincent Steeley, Mrs. Cyril Tegler, Mrs. Charles George, Mrs. Albert Morelli and Mrs. Irvin Smith; homemade candy, Mrs. Francis VanLoan and Mrs. William Mundhenk; books, Mrs. Vernon Freese; miscellaneous, Mrs. Ira Ingram. Gerhardt Schneider is chairman of the art exhibit. Antiques will also be exhibited. Workers are needed at the various booths and Mrs. Auchmoedy, Mrs. Ingram, Mrs. Donnelly or any of the above mentioned may be contacted. Donations will be called for or may be left at the library or at Master's store. A meeting of all committees will be held Thursday, Aug. 2, at 8 p. m. at the library.

A meeting of the Rosendale Tillson Post 1219 of the American Legion was held at the Post Home in Tillson on Thursday evening. One of the main topics of discussion was the Supreme Court ruling of prayers in public schools. After a lengthy discussion it was found there are several ways of interpreting it. A motion was made and passed naming a responsible committee to investigate in detail just what the ruling means. The Post feels an obligation to do this for the community, members and their children. Because this post is in two school districts, Rondout Valley and Kingston Consolidated School District, the committee has promised to work on this untiringly and a report will be made to the public when the committee has completed its task.

Dividend Holding Loses in Senate Committee Voting

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee today voted 10-5 to knock out of President Kennedy's tax revision bill the withholding system on dividends and interest.

The vote was a sharp setback for the President. He had counted on the withholding provision, as the biggest revenue source in the bill, to pay for benefits promised to business.

It was a victory for the committee's veteran chairman, Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., who has vigorously opposed the withholding plan, and for many thousands of savers and investors who swamped senators with mail in opposition to it.

TELSTAR SATELLITE LAUNCHED — A Thor-Delta rocket roars away from launch pad at Cape Canaveral to carry a Telstar communications satellite into orbit. The sattellite is to test techniques for a global television, radio and telephone system in space. (AP Wirephoto)

Europe Joins . . .

the American flag rippling in the breeze.

British viewers stayed up late for the great event of instantaneous television from abroad, with the brief reward coming after 1 a.m.

Telstar's first feats were a prodigious demonstration of things to come in a future worldwide satellite communications system to meet mounting demands for telephone, news, business, and television circuits spanning oceans and continents.

Praising this joint venture of private industry and government —American Telephone & Telegraph Co. footed the entire $4 million cost of building, launching and tracking Telstar — Newton Minow, chairman of the Federal Communications Commission, remarked:

"Now we have increased opportunity to increase the flow of information among all nations, to surmount the walls of ignorance and prejudice and to use mass communications hopefully to avoid mass destruction."

12-15 Minutes Daily

Only for 12 to 15 minutes on some of its orbits each day will Telstar be in line of sight vision between Europe and Maine to permit television exchange.

But one plan calls for launching a series of 30 to 50 similar repeater satellites, so that one or more always would be in position for relay of television, telephone calls, photo or story and message transmission.

Ultimately, the instantaneous, continuous circuits might be provided by three satellites, orbiting 23,500 miles high so they appear to remain stationary over the same points on earth. Telstar's task is first to prove the capabilities, and help determine what problems still lie ahead.

Telstar to Mean Cheaper Toll Calls

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Telephone and Telegraph Co. spent $4 million to put the Telstar satellite into working orbit.

So Tuesday night when a vice president picked up a telephone to place a call via the satellite, a Bell telephone operator cooly suggested: "Deposit four million dollars, please."

Ultimately, telephone calls to foreign lands via communications satellites will probably cost less for three minutes, officials predict, than present tolls —$12.50 for three minutes—to European cities via submarine cables.

Observers Invited

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The Roman Catholic Church has sent out invitations to non-Catholic churches and church federations to send observers to its Ecumenical Council starting here Oct. 11.

Protesant observers never before have been invited to a world-wide gathering of the Roman Catholic hierachy.

A Vatican spokesman declined today to say how many observers are being asked to attend or what churches had been invited.

In Geneva Tuesday night, the World Council of Churches, the Lutheran World Federation and the World Presbyterian Alliance announced receipt of invitations. They were asked to submit names of the observers by the end of June—"one or two" from the World Council, "two or three" from the Presbyterian Alliance.

Nine British doctors arrived from London Tuesday night to fill vacancies created by the doctors strike. Officials said at least two dozen more doctors from Britain were due here later this week.

Earlier appeals from the government were answered by 11 other doctors from Britain, two from the United States and four from other Canadian provinces.

At the airport, the new arrivals passed one of Regina's best known physicians, Dr. J. M. Laidlaw, who said he was giving up his seven-year-old practice here because he was "afraid of the government." He is taking a new position in Champaign, Ill.

Warwick Boy Drowns

WARWICK, N. Y. (AP) — Henry Tenkate Jr., 12, of Warwick, was drowned Tuesday in Wickham Lake.

His 15-year-old sister, Carol Marie, said she had gone ashore when she saw the boy go under, police reported. Another swimmer pulled him ashore.

Crash Injuries Fatal

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Burton Hull, 58, of Buffalo, died in a hospital Tuesday night of injuries suffered in a collision of two automobiles here last Saturday.

When to Sell Stock When Rate Slows Up

Q) "I'm the owner of a string of small camera shops, I understand that you've advised the sale of Eastman Kodak. May I ask why?" R.L.

A) You certainly may. Let me make it plain at the outset that my suggestion was in no way based on the quality of Eastman's products. I advised the sale because of conclusions derived from an analysis of the firm's earning power and the technical or market position of its shares.

Kodak has shown an uninterrupted uptrend in earnings for many years—enough to classify the issue as a sound growth situation. But, despite prospects of continued gains this year, it seemed to me that the company's underlying growth rate was slowing up. Furthermore, my charts indicated that the shares were quite vulnerable to decline around the $100 level.

These two facts, plus the presence of a fairly high price-earnings multiple and correspondingly low dividend yield, led me to believe that the downside risks far outweighed the upside potentials, for a while at least.

Q) "I've been a student of the market ever since I graduated from college in 1952. As I write this letter, the Dow Jones Industrial Average is at about 530. The steepness of the recent drop is well illustrated by the fact that only a few months ago the Dow was at 730, some 200 points higher than now. How does the move compare with the slide in 1937?" P.H.

A) In 1937, the Dow topped out at 194. After sinking to 163 in June, it rebounded sharply to the 190 level in August. Prices eroded to 118 in November and, following a recovery to 135 shortly thereafter, the market bottomed out at 99 in March 1938.

From an academic standpoint, such figures are undoubtedly interesting. However, I want to caution you against drawing parallels between what happened in the past and the present.

I've been in this business a long time and have yet to see two major market moves that were much alike, either in extent or in duration.

works department can call for bids. M. Nicholas Sinacori, district state engineer at Poughkeepsie, said Tuesday that his office will move to expedite appraisal, which has been started, and Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson, said his office would cooperate in expediting procedure.

Ward Officials Pleased

Twelfth Ward alderman John Machione, and supervisor Clarence Raichle today commended city, county, and state officials for their excellent cooperation in bringing about a speedy solution to the Washington Avenue Viaduct situation.

The two 12th ward representatives called attention to the smooth "teamwork" between the Kingston Police Department and County Sheriff's Office, and between County Road Department and the Kingston Department of Public Works in controlling traffic, erecting barricades, and establishing detours.

Furthermore, Machione and Raichle pointed out that county road engineers were quick to confer with city officials on the condition of the viaduct, and that through the efforts of Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson, the New York State Department of Public Works made two engineers available to inspect and advise on the repairs to the viaduct.

The alderman and supervisor from the 12th ward, also were appreciative of the efforts of Assemblyman Wilson in urging the State Department of Public Works to speed up its timetable on replacement of the viaduct.

All in all, they said, it is encouraging to see how city, county, and state government can work so efficiently together to solve emergencies of this kind.

Fox said a 1½-inch hoseline was attached to the tank of fog and firemen fought the fire from a roof. Within minutes, the chief said, the fire was brought under control. Fire burned a hole in a ceiling to the attic, but, the chief said, fog played through the hole extinguished flames.

Firemen used the same technique in fighting the fire with fog as they viewed in motion pictures recently shown department members.

The second floor bedroom was completely charred by fire, and ceilings in adjoining rooms were charred.

President Kennedy, in a broadcast four months ago, announcing plans to resume U.S. nuclear testing in the atmosphere, said the Soviet test series last fall was aimed, in part, at "improving their defenses against missiles."

But, he added: "While apparently seeking information which is important in developing an anti-missile defense system, these tests did not, in our judgment, reflect a developed system."

The information Kennedy said the Russians appeared to be seeking was believed to involve the effects of nuclear blasts on radar and communications.

U.S. scientists were looking for similar information in detonating a hydrogen device more than 200 miles above the Pacific last Sunday night.

Defense Department sources said evaluation of the results of that high altitude shot are not expected for perhaps 48 hours. How much information will be made public is not known.

The report said it covered industrial construction "planned, under way or completed during 1961."

The names of 90 new firms were listed. In addition, the report said, construction plans of "a few major new companies were reported by confidential sources." The names of these companies will be added to the list when construction begins, the report said.

Burke Tells Police Story About Stabbing

James Burke, 54, of Ann Street, who told police early today that he had been stabbed by another man during an argument, was discharged from the Benedictine Hospital later this morning after treatment of head lacerations.

Officers Raymond Wells and Ira Hadsel reported at 2:12 a. m. that Burke told them on East Union Street that he had been stabbed by a man who argued with him in the downtown area over a bottle of wine. He was taken to the hospital in a Fatum ambulance.

Detective Albert Hutton and Acting Detective Thomas Carpino were assigned to investigate.

Blaze Destroys Third of Town

HAWSTONE, Pa. (AP) — This Mifflin County community faced the grim task today of cleaning up the ashes and rubble left by a fire that destroyed a third of the town and hundreds of acres of surrounding forest.

Some 73 persons in 13 families—including 59 children—were made homeless by the blaze that swept first through 21 frame dwellings then literally leaped into the Juniata River Valley woodlands.

Many of the 200 fire fighters and forest rangers who battled the successive fires for more than eight hours Tuesday prepared for possible further outbreaks today.

Though contained, the blaze still posed a threat to the narrow valley. The woodlands are tinder dry from a prolonged drought.

Brisk winds fanned the flames and spewed sparks across the forest. The firemen brought the town blaze under control at 5 p. m., within three hours after it began, but the battle against the rampaging flames in the woods continued until after 10 p. m.

Fire Chief Harry E. Sheaffer of Lewiston, placed the Hawstone real estate loss at $47,000 and an additional $10,000 in lost home contents.

In addition to the homes the town fire destroyed the Christian and Mission Alliance Church, a truck, two cars and a house trailer.

Sgt. Howard Hancock, Pennsylvania State Police fire marshal, and Sheaffer said they believed the fire was started by children playing with matches.

All Burning Is Banned Today In Esopus Town

Burning permits have been nullified in the Town of Esopus, is was announced today.

Fire Marshal Harry Mains of Esopus said the action has been taken because of the dry weather.

He stressed that all burning of brush and refuse on the ground is strictly forbidden.

Marshal Mains pointed out that wire burning baskets are not permitted, but that fireproof barrels with covers may be used if watched during the burning time.

Further information, he said, may be obtained by phoning him or district fire chiefs.

Retired From Politics

OMAHA (AP)—The first rule of politics is to know when to keep your big mouth shut. Jasper couldn't get that through his head so he was fired from the mayor's office.

It just isn't good politics, says Mayor James J. Dworak, to greet women visitors with a raucous "Oh Boy," and a lusty wolf whistle. What made it worse was that Jasper stayed out of sight and left the mayor and his two male assistants to face the music.

Jasper, formerly Mayor Dworak's pet Mynah bird, now resides at the Omaha zoo.

Vandals Damage Store

Police were notified Tuesday night that vandalism by an unknown group of boys resulted in damage to an awning and an electric wire at the Herman O. Dietz grocery store, 448 Hasbrouck Avenue. The wire, it was reported, was pulled from a pole. The Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp. was notified. Officer Edward Ortlieb investigated.

Still Hunting Here For Prison Escapee

Police on Tuesday night checked out a second report in two days that a man seen in the area resembled Donald Sims, who escaped from Wallkill Prison on last Saturday.

A report at 7:22 p. m. said a woman thought a man in a telephone booth at the Franklin Pharmacy, Broadway at St. James Street, might be Sims. Officers Meyer Levy and Harry Short were dispatched to check the report and found the man to be an area resident.

Previous questioning of a hitch-hiker headed down Route 9-W revealed that he was a Poughkeepsie resident.

AAUW Opera Show To Aid Scholarship; Performance Friday

June 22, Dr. Gwendolen M. Carter, professor of government at Smith College, Northhampton, Mass., was presented the 1962 achievement Award honoring a distinguished women scholar by the American Association of University Women in Washington, D. C.

Dr. Carter, whose $2,500 award will be used toward a research trip to Africa next summer, is the author of four books on Africa, as well as numerous pamphlets and articles on that Africa Council, advisory group to the State Department Bureau of African Affairs.

At the gathering of AAUW state presidents and National board, the Smith College professor spoke on the scholar's role in politics, and the special role for women scholars in society. A woman's sensitivity, combined with sharpness of perception, are valuable and distinctive. Although Dr. Carter expressed pride in the fact that there are more university trained women in the United States than in any other country of the world, she also stated her hope that many more of them would continue with advanced training, "to keep their skills sharp and their knowledge up to date. . . ." Genuine scholarship, even the smallest of issues, is to be encouraged, instead of continual watering down of knowledge to simplify it.

The Kingston branch of the American Association of University Women encourages scholastic achievment of women by their annual scholarship award and their generous contribution to the fellowship fund. This money is raised, in part, by the Opera benefit, to be held this Friday, July 13, at the Byrdcliff Theatre, Woodstock. The Turnau Opera Players will present The Barber of Seville as the opening feature of their summer season. Proceeds will be used directly to assist and encourage local and national women in their pursuit of scholarship.

Color Change

Chemical action can change the color of hydrangea flowers to blue. Aluminum sulfate is the most effective chemical for doing this, but common alum also will bring about the blue color.

Roudis-Rose Double Ring Wedding Rite Is Solemnized at St. Joseph's Church June 24

Wed in double ring ceremonies 2 p. m. Sunday, June 24, at St. Joseph's Church were Miss Georganna Kathleen Rose and Franklin John Roudis. The Rev. James V. Keating officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Jean Austin of Jeffersonville and George Rose of Norwich. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Nick J. Roudis of 64 Elmendorf Street.

Miss Shelia Sleight, soloist, sang Ava Maria and Mother Beloved, accompanied by Mrs Frank Rafferty, organist.

Given in marriage by her grandfather, Leonard A. Vida, the bride wore a gown of rose point lace and silk organza styled with a molded bodice, long sleeves tapered to points over the wrists and a Sabrina neckline. The full skirt swept back into a chapel length circular train. Her imported illusion veil was shirred to a bridal headpiece of seed pearls. She carried a white orchid on a prayer book with a shower of stephanotis.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Fred A. Schoonmaker of RD 3, Kingston. Bridesmaids were Miss Irene Roudis, sister of the bridegroom, Miss Janice Benicase and Miss Elaine Hafer, all of Kingston. They were gowned alike in embroidered organza dress styled with fitted bodices, short sleeves and scooped necklines. The full skirts featured deep hems and they wore matching rose headpieces with circular veils. Colors of their gowns were orchid, pink, aqua, and blue.

The matron of honor carried a cascade of orchid pompoms and orchid glamellias. Other attendants carried cascades of carnations in colors to match their gowns.

Miss Colleen Rose, sister of the bride was flower girl. Her gown of maize organza was styled similarly to the other attendants and she wore a matching crown of flowers in her hair. She carried a princess basket of assorted flowers.

Best man was Charles J. Tiano Jr. of East Kingston. Ushers were Fred A. Schoonmaker of Rd 3, Kingston, Joseph Natoli of Town of Ulster and Michael Sangaline of Kingston. Nicholas J. Roudis Jr. was junior usher for his brother.

Following a reception for 170 guests at the Capri Restaurant, Port Ewen, the couple left on a wedding trip to Canada. For traveling the bride chose a summer cotton dress of sunset colors with white accessories and a white orchid corsage. Upon their return they will be at home at 64 Elmendorf Street.

The bride attended Ellenville High School and is now employed as quality control inspector at Utility Platers Inc. A 1959 graduate of Kingston High School, Mr. Roudis is manager of Colonial Diner, this city.

Parish Picnic Is Scheduled Sunday On Church Grounds

The 23rd annual parish picnic of the Immaculate Conception Church sponsored by the combined societies will be held Sunday on the church grounds, Delaware Avenue, from 3 to 11 p. m., rain or shine.

The event will be held for the benefit of the new school. Many games and booths for children and adults will be featured.

John Grabiec, general chairman of this year's affair, assistant Peter Melnik and all of the various committees have been working hard for the past few weeks to assure all those attending an afternoon and evening of fun.

Mrs. Anna McCullough, chairman and Mrs. Florence Melnik, co-chairman, are in charge of the buffet supper which will be served from 4 p. m. on. Refreshments will be on sale throughout the afternoon and evening.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph Sieczek, pastor of the church, is looking forward to meeting all of his parishioners and their friends at the picnic.

Cat Set in Ways

BUDD LAKE, N. J. (AP) — Viewing television and reading newspapers has become increasingly difficult for Mrs. John Bartholomae. Remi, her Siamese cat, disapproves.

"He'll stalk around the house pouting if I watch television," Mrs. Bartholomae says. "And if I persist, he takes a swipe at me with his claw."

When she tries to read a newspaper, Remi jumps into her lap and settles himself on the paper, she says. But then Remi has a right to be rather set in his ways. He's 20 years old which, according to one theory, makes him 140 in cat years.

Woodstock Church Is Setting for Wedding Of Miss Betty Lou Wilber, Howard Haughey

Miss Betty Lou Wilber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Wilber of Woodstock and Howard John Haughey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Haughey of Kingston were wed in double ring ceremonies 2 p. m. Sunday, June 24, at Woodstock Reformed Church.

Officiating was the Rev. Harvey I. Todd of Mellenville Reformed Church, former Woodstock pastor. Musical selections were by Jean Cousins. The church was decorated with baskets of mixed flowers for the occasion.

The bride given in marriage by her father, wore a nylon lace full length gown styled with scalloped neckline and cap sleeves. The nylon tulle skirt featured a lace overskirt effect. Her headpiece was a queen crown of sequins and pearls attached to a fingertip silk French illusion veil. She carried a white Bible with white rosebud corsage.

Miss Bonnie Mae Wilber of Woodstock was maid of honor for her sister. She wore a ballerina length sky blue gown with draped neckline cap sleeves, bouffant skirt and sateen cummerbund. A queen's crown of pearls secured the circular veil and she carried an arrangement of daisies.

Other attendants, Mary Dispensa and Carol Quednau, wore gowns like that of the honor attendant in orchid and yellow and carried nosegay arrangements of daisies.

Verna Marie Quednau was flower girl for her aunt.

Robert Goodyear Remick of Bloomington was best man with Anthony Noto and Donald Markle, both of Kingston as ushers. Jeffrey Elliott, nephew of the bride was ringbearer.

Approximately 150 guests attended a reception at the Bearsvile Lodge Hall.

For traveling the bride wore a navy blue ensemble with red accessories and a corsage of white roses.

The couple will make their home in Woodstock. Mrs. Haughey is a graduate of Onteora High School. Her husband is a graduate of Kingston High School.

Miss Patricia E. Rein and Glenn O. Carle Are Wed at St. Peter's Church on July 8th

MRS. GLENN O. CARLE

Miss Patricia E. Rein of this city and Glenn O. Carle of Accord were wed in double ring ceremonies at St. Peter's Church 2 p. m. Sunday, July 8 by the Rev. John J. Murray.

Richard Scherer sang Panis Angelicus, Mother Beloved and Ave Maria, accompanied by Miss Nan Goldrick, organist.

The bride, daughter of Aloysius Rein of 19 York Place and the late Mrs. Rein, was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of white organza posed over bridal taffeta fashioned with a fitted bodice, abbreviated sleeves and a portrait neckline enhanced by Alencon lace motifs. The bouffant skirt swept back into a chapel length circular train. A princess crown of seed pearls secured the wide silk illusion veil. She carried a cascade of stephanotis, ivy with a white orchid.

Miss Joyce Jenvey of Thornwood was maid of honor. Her gown was of peony pink silk organza fashioned with a molded bodice, abbreviated sleeves and a circlet neckline. The pale pink cummerbund terminated at the back in streamers and a rose detail. She wore a single rose headpiece with matching tulle veil and carried a colonial bouquet of pink carnations, coral rosebuds and babies breath.

Other bridal attendants were the Misses Susan Bilyou of Wanamassa, cousin of the bride, Sally Carle of Accord, sister of the bridegroom, Donna Marie Frantz of West Camp, Patricia Wynne of Saugerties, Cynthia Baker of Kingston and Mrs. Ross Churchill of Kerhonkson, sister of the bridegroom.

Their gowns were styled identically to the honor attendant's in reverse color schemes. They carried colonial bouquets of coral carnations, pink rosebuds and babies breath.

Miss Jeanne Bilyou was flower girl for her cousin. She wore a pale pink gown and a circlet of matching flowers in her hair. Her bouquet was of coral carnations, pink rosebuds and babies breath.

Donald Juhl of Kingston was best man. Ushers were Ross Churchill of Kerhonkson, brother-in-law of the bridegroom; Charles Cassidy, bride's cousin, and Arnold Van Etten, both of Kingston; Richard Countryman, John Schoonmaker Jr. and Brian Lawrence, all of Accord. Cory Schoonmaker, Stone Ridge, cousin of the bridegroom was ringbearer.

For a wedding trip to Fort Lauderdale, Fla., the bride wore a strawberry pink suit with white accessories and a white orchid corsage.

They will make their home in Accord until August when Mrs. Carle will graduate from the Benedictine Hospital School of Nursing. They will then live in Fort Lauderdale.

Mrs. Carle is a graduate of Kingston High School Class of 1959.

Mr. Carle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Carle of Route 209 Accord, is associated with his father at Carle's Market, Accord. He is a veteran of two years service with the U. S. Army and in Germany. He attended Kingston High School.

APPLAUDING A STIRRING PERFORMANCE

Q—At the end of a performance, is it proper for the women in the audience to stand and say "bravo" or should the "bravos" be left for the men only? To see a woman in furs and evening dress shouting "bravo" has always seemed very undignified to me. May I have your opinion, please?

A—If practically all those in the audience rise in their enthusiasm over the performance, there is no reason why a woman should not stand and say "bravo" with the rest, but she should not be one of only a few to do so.

Bride's Thanks for Wedding Presents

Q—My questions deal with thank-you notes for wedding presents. I would like to know first of all what kind of note paper is proper? Would it be correct to use a printed "informal," and if so, should my name appear on it as Mrs. John Doe, or Mary Doe? Also, when is the proper time to send these notes? Should they be sent as the gifts arrive, before the wedding, or should I wait until I am married and send them all at one time?

A—Write your thanks as soon as you possibly can after the presents are received. Those that arrive too late to answer before the wedding should be acknowledged after you return from your wedding trip. Small conventional note size paper with an address at the top, is preferable but there is no objection to using the "fold-over" card if you wish. On "informals" used after you are married, your name should appear as Mrs. John Doe but the notes would be signed Mary (or Mary Doe) depending on how well you know the person written to.

When Invited to a Christening

Q—When relatives and friends attend a stork shower before the baby is born and they bring gifts for the baby, are they also expected to bring presents if invited to the christening?

A—Having given the baby one present, you are not expected to give him (or her) a second one.

Double Trouble

MILLINGTON, Tenn. (AP) — John C. Howard has a dog that eats socks from his clothesline and, what's worse, usually only one to a pair.

"He just goes up in the air and takes alternate socks," Howard said in a baffled tone.

Several brands of dog repellent have been applied to the socks. Once they were even sprinkled with cayenne pepper.

Hiking Is for Kids

HONOLULU (AP) — A group of Boy Scouts who took a week-long hike around the island of Oahu did fine—but their scoutmasters were just plain pooped.

The boys made 22 miles the first day, then covered 12 to 16 miles a day for the rest of the week. Says Scoutmaster Alfred Oliverira, one of the two scoutmasters who circled the island on foot:

"It was a wonderful idea—for the kids."

Area Girls to Be Among 10,000 Attending Vermont Scout Roundup July 18 Through 31

As a part of the 50th anniversary of the founding of Girl Scouts of the U.S.A., 10,000 of its girls and adult members will meet this summer from July 18-31 in Vermont on the shores of Lake Champlain for the 1962 Girl Scout Senior Roundup.

The campers, 14 through 17 years old, from the 50 states of the Union and U. S. posssessions will be joined by close to 200 Girl Guides (equivalent of Senior Scouts) from approximately 20 countries.

The girls will build a city of 6,000 multicolored tents in the 250-acre Button Bay State Park and adjacent fields and woodland. The roundup encampment, located 25 miles southwest of Burlington, will be temporarily the sixth largest city in Vermont.

The 1962 Roundup is the third to be sponsored by the Girl Scouts and is the largest event for teenaged girls in the free world.

The purpose of the international encampment, which is often the culminating experience of a girl's Scouting days, is to bring together girls of various races, national origins and creeds to share in a rich camping experience and a wide selection of activities.

Eight Seniors will represent the Ulster-Dutchess Girl Scout Councils. They are Ellen Kirshen, 28 Dinan Street, Beacon; Margaret Velardi, Route 52, Hopewell Junction; Judy Miller, P. O. Box 81, Cottekill; Tory Burkhart, Palaphene Road, New Paltz; Jane Dilworth, Wellisley Place, Fishkill; Anne Mitchell, Main Street, Fishkill; Carole Geisler, Route 2, Hill Side Lake, Wappingers Falls; Lynn Faurie, Old Indian Road, Milton.

For many months in preparation for roundup, the patrols in the Ulster-Dutchess Council have been training to perfect their camping skills—pitching tents in a high wind, lashing, building tables and benches and cooking out-of-doors on charcoal burners.

In addition to three major arena events, the campers will stage demonstrations illustrating typical features of their respected region or county. These will include folk dancing, singing, cooking and demonstrations of local occupations and industries from weaving to western branding. The local patrol has selected the skill of making shad nets and the hand carved tools used in making these nets.

Each girl will bring to roundup small items representative of her community to trade with other girls. "Swaps" include cotton balls, fool's gold, semi-precious stones, sea shells, miniature Dutch wooden shoes. Some of the local swaps are stone houses, ice boats, little bags of apple seeds.

One of the events to be carried out in a specially constructed arena will be a 50th birthday celebration. The 50th anniversary theme, Honor the Past—Serve the Future, will be carried out at Roundup.

The campsite is in a section of New England rich in the history of the nation. A reconstructed colonial village green in the center of the camp will spring to life with sugar house, bandstand, thimble factory, surreys, gigs and other mementoes of bygone days.

The role of women in the future will be discussed in the course of four youth forums on human relations and world affairs. The girls will also engage in such pursuits as arts and crafts, photography, meteorology and news reporting, any of which may suggest career possibilities.

As part of their service to the future, the girls will undertake a conservation project by planting trees in the still undeveloped Button Bay State Park.

Almost 2,000 of the campers will be accredited by their home town newspapers and radio and TV stations as girl correspondents or commentators to send back reports on Roundup. Girl photographers will keep a photographic or filmed record of roundup to share with their home troops and community organizations.

An art exhibit entitled "Picture Your Home Frontier" will be held at roundup. It will include a selection of the most representative works of art submitted by thousands of Girl Scouts of all ages. Each entry will depict a typical aspect of a community — its landscapes, historic landmarks or industrial life. There will also be an on-the-spot photography contest for all campers.

In accordance with the Girl Scout Promise ". . . to do my duty to God," the campers will attend religious services of their choice. For the first time, roundup staff will include resident chaplains of three major faiths—Protestant, Catholic and Jewish.

The staff will be comprised of 1,700 adult volunteers, many of whom are giving up their vacations to serve as leaders or program consultors, not to mention those responsible for the organization and maintenance of this huge tent city. A number of husband and wife teams will serve as volunteers.

The encampment will run through July 29. The girls will leave on July 30 and 31.

Among the girls attending roundup, Lynn Faurie has been accredited as a girl correspondent for the Kingston Freeman.

Elks and Auxiliary Plan Fete July 28th

Saturday, July 28, in the Grill Room of the Elk's Lodge, Fair Street, the Ladies Auxiliary and Elk's Lodge 550 are holding a combined "Elk's and Auxiliary" Night. There will be a Virginia baked ham cold plate served buffet style at 7:30 p. m.

All members and friends may attend. Tickets may be obtained from William Saveskie and the Mmes. Stella Morris and Janet Brooks.

STONE RIDGE FAIR ITEMS—Miss Sarah Lounsbery and Mrs. Dewitt Hasbrouck, fair chairman, look over some of the articles being assembled for the annual Stone Ridge Library Fair. The event which is open to the public will be held Saturday, June 28, on the library grounds, Route 209, 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. (Freeman photo)

Margaret Freedman and William Gold Wed; Couple Will Make Home in Chicago, Ill.

Miss Margaret Paula Freedman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Freedman of Accord, was married on Sunday afternoon, June 17, to Mr. Lawrence William Gold, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gold of Franklin Square, L. I. The wedding took place at the Pine Hill Hotel, Accord, and a reception at the hotel followed the ceremony, which was performed by Rabbi Herman Eisner.

The bride wore a gown of white peau satin with pearl applique, a scoop neckline, and a full skirt ending in a chapel train. Her fingertip veil was of imported silk illusion attached to a crown of pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations, stephanotis, and pink sweetheart roses.

Miss Thelma Freedman, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and Mrs. Rosalind Hershkowitz of Kerhonkson, was the matron of honor. The bridesmaids were the Misses Barbara Riesenberg of Maybrook, and Eleanor Gold, sister of the bridegroom. The bridesmaids wore dresses of sheer white eyelet over blue taffeta, with scoop necklines and bell skirts. The maid of honor wore a blue silk sheath dress with an overskirt. The attendants carried bouquets of white and pale pink carnations.

Martin Kornheiser of Jamaica, was the best man.

Mrs. Gold graduated June 10, 1962 from the State University College at Oneonta. She will enter the field of teaching in September at Brookfield, Ill. Mr. Gold is a 1961 graduate of Adelphi College, Garden City, and is a second year medical student at Chicago Medical School, Chicago, Ill.

After a wedding trip to Canada, the couple will reside in Chicago, Ill.

Happy Decimal Point

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Tulsa County has at least one happy taxpayer.

The man, whose name wasn't given, was billed for 60 cents. He apparently misread the bill because he mailed County Treasurer W. E. McIntosh a check for $60.

McIntosh sent the check back with a suggestion that it be destroyed and 60 cents be sent to the county. The man quickly compiled.

JOSEPHINE REICHEL, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reichel of Hurley Mountain Road, West Hurley will play at the Paris in Woodstock Bazaar, St. Gregory's Church, Woodstock, Saturday. She is a winner of the Catholic Youth talent contest and the Nissel achievement award. Other accordionists appearing at Woodstock will be Michel Spinelli, Deborah Allen, Warren Peckham, Barbara Lackner, Ormond Leighton and Francis Barry.

Summer Theatres

WoodstockPlayhouse Offers Shaw Comedy

The current offering at the Woodstock Playhouse is the great comedy Arms and the Man by George Bernard Shaw. It will run through Sunday, July 15.

Last year, Stephen Randall, director of the playhouse, staged the play at the Montowese Playhouse, Branford, Conn., where it was the hit of the season.

Featuring colorful costumes and a brilliant set by designer Betty Matta, the comedy promises to be fine summer fare for theater goers.

Cape Vacationers Treated to 'Gypsy'

The Cape Cod Melody Tent in Hyannis, Mass., presents its first musical of the season, GYPSY, featuring June Carroll, Phil Leeds, Pat Birch and Jill Harmon, through Saturday, July 14.

This tuneful memoir of Gypsy Rose Lee's formative years in show business and of "Mama" Rose—her ambitious, resourceful and redoubtable stage mother—will provide a delightful evening under the big top. The bouncy Everythings Coming Up Roses, Let Me Entertain You, and the nostalgic Little Lamb pervade this sparkling tale of a stage mother and her two reluctant daughters—Gypsy Rose Lee and June Havoc. The kiddie shows filled with star spangled banners, dancing horses, and screaming newsboys evoke the whole Orpheum Circuit in its happiest days. The woolly white lamb who gets sung to from time to time is enchanting.

Pat Birch, as a forlorn Gypsy Rose Lee thrown to the runway wolves for the first time, is an image at once moving, terrifying, and sorrowful funny.

June Carroll, remembered from last season's Take Me Along, is cast as the dynamic Rose, while Phil Leeds, a favorite Melody Tent performer seen there last year in The Chocolate Soldier, and The Merry Widow, will portray Rose's ever-faithful manager and swain, Herbie.

Box office open from 10 a. m. until 10 p. m. daily except Sunday.

Pipers Admitted To NBA, Now Will Jerry Lucas Play?

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The big riddle in the National Basketball Association today was: Will All-America Jerry Lucas stick with the Cleveland Pipers, the newest entrant in the league?

"I spoke with him Monday," said George Steinbrenner, principal stockholder of the Pipers, "and he agreed to play in the NBA. We are working out details now so he can continue his education.

"I think Jerry realizes now there is not much difference between the 80 games in the NBA and the 72 he would have played in the American Basketball League."

But Lucas, who is attending summer sessions at Ohio State, said: "We haven't come to any agreement. I really don't know what I'm going to do. I just don't have a contract to play in the NBA."

He said that if he does decide to play in the NBA, he will want a raise over his two-year, $60,000 contract.

It appears obvious that the Pipers, champions of the ABL, would not have been taken in Tuesday as the tenth team in the NBA if they could not promise that Lucas would play for them.

Lucas previously had objected strenuously to the long NBA season and gave it as one of his main reasons for casting his lot with the ABL.

The Piper move sounded the death knell for the ABL, which was in business just one season. There was talk of getting started again in 1963-64, but that is a long way ahead.

ABL attorney Allan Bloch conceded that the Pipers' entry into the NBA, plus San Francisco's withdrawal from the ABL last week finished the fledgling league.

Palmer Is Favored to Win Title

By TOM REEDY

TROON, Scotland (AP) — The 1962 British Open championship, one of the real prizes of golf, opened today in an atmosphere suggesting it was a match between the United States and Australia.

With the ever dangerous qualifying rounds behind them, the big belters of modern golf took on Old Troon's 7,045-yard, par 72 layout in search of glory which by American standards is about all they get out of it.

First prize is only 1,400 pounds —$3,920—but as defending champion Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa., said: "You can break even on expenses but the point is this is a matter of prestige. That is why I come here, and my wife and I also enjoy the trip."

Palmer led a contingent of eight Americans into the championship as a 2-1 favorite to retain the crown he won last year at Birkdale in England. But he knew full well he had to contend with Phil Rodgers of La Jolla, Calif., who qualified with 142 against Palmer's 143, old Sam Snead, U.S. Open champion Jack Nicklaus and Gene Littler, the San Diego, Calif. star who won the U.S. Open a year ago.

Palmer and his American buddies were also looking over their shoulders at the Australians.

They were Kel Nagle, won won the 1960 title at St. Andrews, beating Palmer by one shot, Bruce Devlin, an amateur turned professional who was the key to Australia's defeat of the United States in the Eisenhower World Cup play at St. Andrews in 1959, and the reliable Peter Thomson, four times British Open king.

Nagle served notice in the qualifying rounds he is to be reckoned with by breaking the Lochgreen course record with a 65 and tacking on a 76 at Troon for 141. Thomson just coasted around in 70-73—143 which was as good as Palmer. Devlin posted 72-68—140.

Perhaps one of the most dangerous of all was Gary Player of South Africa. He settled for 71-76 —147 in the qualifying.

After today's 18 holes and Thursday's repeat, the field of 119 qualiers will be reduced to the low 50. They go the final 36-hole route Friday.

OAKMONT, Pa. (NEA)—The caddy fees of Arnold Palmer, the Masters champion, totalled $8,000 in 1961.

Orioles to Meet All-Star Players

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The International Baseball League All-Stars get a chance to show up the big leaguers for the fourth straight year tonight, when a select squad faces the Baltimore Orioles at Rochester.

A sellout crowd of more than 15,000 is expected for the game the seventh annual IL All-Star contest.

The International Leaguers have won the last three against major league teams, after losing the first three.

The veteran Robin Roberts, having a good comeback year for the Orioles, who picked him up after the New York Yankees let him go, is expected to start for the Orioles. He is 4-3 for the Baltimore team.

Lefthander Don Rowe of the Columbus Jets, with a 6-5 mark, is the probable starter for the All-Stars.

The IL lineup was selected by the managers.

Two of the All-Stars, Vic Davalillo of Jacksonville and Luke Easter of Rochester, warmed up Tuesday night with home runs in winning causes.

Davalillo's homer drove Atlanta starter Dick Gregory from the mound and helped in a 7-3 Jacksonville win over the Crackers. The victory stretched the Jacksonville league lead to 8½ games, as second place Toronto dropped a 3-2 decision to Syracuse in 10 innings.

Easter's two-run homer evened a game between the Rochester Red Wings and the Buffalo Bisons, and the Wings then broke open the game with five runs in the 10th inning for a 9-4 victory.

The Columbus Jets got a doubleheader victory over the Richmond Virginians, 7-6 and 4-2.

BANGKOK—Veeranid Charoenmuang, Thailand, stopped Ikko Toratani, Japan, 4, featherweight.

The Board of Directors of the 1962 Miss New York State Pageant wishes to publicly acknowledge the efforts of all individuals and organizations who helped make this year's pageant an outstanding success.

We wish to thank in particular, Mayor John J. Schwenk and the city administration, the police and fire departments for their assistance in creating this year's pageant.

We're certain that our new Miss New York State, Paula Heins will be a credit to all of us and we hope that she will return to Kingston as Miss America.

Pipers Admitted To NBA, Now Will Jerry Lucas Play?

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The big riddle in the National Basketball Association today was: Will All-America Jerry Lucas stick with the Cleveland Pipers, the newest entrant in the league?

"I spoke with him Monday," said George Steinbrenner, principal stockholder of the Pipers, "and he agreed to play in the NBA. We are working out details now so he can continue his education.

"I think Jerry realizes now there is not much difference between the 80 games in the NBA and the 72 he would have played in the American Basketball League."

But Lucas, who is attending summer sessions at Ohio State, said: "We haven't come to any agreement. I really don't know what I'm going to do. I just don't have a contract to play in the NBA."

He said that if he does decide to play in the NBA, he will want a raise over his two-year, $60,000 contract.

It appears obvious that the Pipers, champions of the ABL, would not have been taken in Tuesday as the tenth team in the NBA if they could not promise that Lucas would play for them.

Lucas previously had objected strenuously to the long NBA season and gave it as one of his main reasons for casting his lot with the ABL.

The Piper move sounded the death knell for the ABL, which was in business just one season. There was talk of getting started again in 1963-64, but that is a long way ahead.

ABL attorney Allan Bloch conceded that the Pipers' entry into the NBA, plus San Francisco's withdrawal from the ABL last week finished the fledgling league.

The Board of Directors of the 1962 Miss New York State Pageant wishes to publicly acknowledge the efforts of all individuals and organizations who helped make this year's pageant an outstanding success.

We wish to thank in particular, Mayor John J. Schwenk and the city administration, the police and fire departments for their assistance in creating this year's pageant.

We're certain that our new Miss New York State, Paula Heins will be a credit to all of us and we hope that she will return to Kingston as Miss America.

Mrs. deLisio Advances In Women's Tourney

Woodstock Star Upsets Mrs. Allen In First Round

Mrs. A. J. (Wiggie) deLisio of Woodstock pulled a stunning upset in the 33rd annual State Women's Golf Tournament at Cooperstown yesterday with a 3 and 2 win over Mrs. Philip Allen of Syracuse. Mrs. Allen was the 1941 titlist and reached the finals in 1959.

The Woodstock champion is scheduled to face Miss Louise Ward of Buffalo in the second round today. Miss Ward advanced with an easy 7-6 win over Mrs. William Levin of Herkimer.

In another reversal on the tough Cooperstown Country Club course, Gail Purdy of Saratoga Spring, the defending champion, lost, 1-up, in her bid for a second straight title when she fired a two-over-par seven on the 18th hole and lost to Linda Leader of Schenectady.

Also advancing into the second round were Mrs. Harry J. Nevil Jr. of Cooperstown, a three-time state champion, and Cookie Swift Berger of Buffalo, the 1955 winner and medalist in Monday's qualifying round.

Mrs. Berger defeated Mrs. Henry J. Noerling of Valatie, 6 and 5, and Mrs. Nevil bettered Sharon L. Briggs of Rochester, 4 and 2.

In today's pairings, Miss Leader was pitted against Mrs. George Trainor of Rochester who Tuesday defeated Edytha A. Kelleher of Oneida.

Mrs. Berger was paired with Margaret Cramer of Amsterdam, who won over Mrs. J. Peter Bush of Rochester, 1-up.

Mrs. Nevil was matched against Mary Lou Hathaway of Binghamton, who defeated Mrs. Lou Witt Jr., of Loudonville, 2 and 1.

Other first-round results:

Mrs. John Youker, South Glens Falls, defeated Martha Clute, Elmira, 5 and 4.

Gayle Terwilliger, Snyder, defeated Mrs. Bruce Starzenski, Milan, Italy, 5 and 4.

Mrs. Joseph A. Nesbitt, Greenwich, Conn., defeated Sylvia Maurycy, Schenectady, 7 and 6.

Mrs. James Sherman, Clinton, defeated Mrs. A. L. Sayles, Schenectady, 4 and 3.

Mrs. Max Kutzer, Syracuse, defeated Mrs. John Griffin, Rome, 3 and 2.

Mrs. Henry Blatner, Slingerlands, defeated Mrs. James Judson, Sherrill, 2 and 1.

Susan Rich, Skaneateles, defeated Janet Seagle, Great Neck, 1-up.

Nancy Gunther, Troy, defeated Mary Diana, Middletown, 3 and 1.

Miss Leader vs. Mrs. Trainor
Miss Terwilliger vs. Mrs. Youker
Mrs. Nevil vs. Miss Hathaway
Miss Nesbitt vs. Mrs. Sherman
Mrs. Berger vs. Miss Cramer
Mrs. Kutzer vs. Mrs. Blattner
Mrs. deLisio vs. Miss Ward
Miss Rich vs. Miss Gunther.

Monticello DD Returns $173.40

MONTICELLO — Longshot Beautiful Melody paid $22.50 in the first race to set up the largest daily double of the season at Monticello Raceway, Tuesday night, a $173.40 payoff made up of numbers 7 and 3.

Tony Colombo moved Beautiful Melody to the top nearing the three-quarter pole and the three-year-old daughter of Gene Abbe went on to post a 2:11.1 win in a $700 conditioned pace. The place price on the winner was $11.10 and the show payoff $6.50.

Tiny D. rushed up on the outside to win the second race for driver George Szikalai and Lorelei Stable in 2:09.3. Tiny D., a three-year-old filly by Tar Heel, paid across the board mutuels of $8.90, 4.10 and 3.00 in winning her second straight race here.

Miller to Conduct Racing Seminar

MONTICELLO, N. Y., July 10 — Famed driver-trainer Delvin Miller will conduct a seminar on harness racing Thursday, July 12, at Monticello Raceway in the board of directors room.

Miller, master of Meadowlands Farm, will speak and answer questions on all facets of harness racing. Horsemen, prospective owners and the like are invited to the session.

However, visitors should call Leon Greenberg at the Raceway before hand so as an attendance estimate can be made.

With 18 Wins

Abbatiello Pacing Monticello Drivers

Monticello—The driving race at Monticello Raceway is still a two-man battle between leader Carmine Abbatiello and runnerup Bob Camper after 33 nights and six full weeks of racing.

Abbatiello kept his grip on the lead despite winning just one dash all last week. Camper, too, slowed down and won just one race, thus missing out on a golden opportunity of taking over the lead.

Abbatiello has 18 wins in 72 trips to the post as compared with 10 for 49 for Camper. Carmine made 14 drives last week and Camper just six.

Frank Popfinger still clings to third place with 13 wins despite failing to win a race last week. Popfinger is the busiest driver, having started 93 times.

Harold Dancer, Jr. remains in fourth place with 11 wins. Canadian Keith Waples has moved up into the No. 5 spot, causing the only change in the top five. Waples has 10 wins.

Other leaders are Norm Stephens, Bill Popfinger, Lucien Fontaine and George Sziklai, all with nine wins each, and Richard Custis and Ned Galentine with eight and seven respectively.

Top Area Golfers Slated to Compete In Annual Event

More than 80 entries have been received for the 5th annual Wiltwyck Invitational Golf Tournament and indications are that a record field will be entered. A total of 93 participated last season and it's hoped that more than 100 will compete this time.

Some of the early entries include many of the top amateur golfers in the area. Arnold Weis of Red Hook, a two-handicap player, has been entered. Other entries have been received from Jim Mau, Rip Van Winkle; Matt Skowronski, Berkshire Hills; Pete Pyrch, Dunwoodie C. C.; Tom Weiss, Dutchess; Ricky and Bob Bates, Stamford; Bob Botsford, Dutchess; John Adler, Southern Dutchess and Bob Aklen, Berkshire Hills.

Botsford, one of the top young players in Dutchess County, captured the recent Burlington Invitational Tournament and he's scheduled to compete in the Ike Tourney later this month in Westchester County.

Twenty-one different clubs are represented to date and contestants will compete for a stunning array of prizes.

Many Prizes

Among the prizes will be transistor radios, clock radios, steak knives, ice buckets, traveling clocks, cocktail shakers, silver dishes, cigarette lighters, salad bowls with matching forks and spoons, overnight bags, shaving kits, wallets, poker chip sets and an outstanding line of various golf merchandise.

Qualifying has been taking place all week and the low score to date is 35-38-73 by Harvey Bostic, who has won the tournament on two different occasions. Leon Randall, the defending champion, is the only other winner, having captured it twice, also.

The qualifying round for medalist prize will take place on Friday. The top 16 qualifiers will start play in the championship flight and the next 16 qualifiers will compete in the 1st flight. The next eight will then play in other flights down the line.

The first round of 18 holes is scheduled Saturday morning and the second round on Saturday afternoon. The third round is slated for Sunday morning and the finals will be held on Sunday afternoon.

Two-Year Old Trotting Colts Are Featured at Monticello

MONTICELLO—The Franklin E. Devlin Challenge Trophy Trot, named for the president and general manager of Monticello Raceway, will be raced for $16,242 as tonight's Grand Circuit feature at the Sullivan County resort oval.

The event, for two-year-old trotting colts and geldings, will be contested in two divisions with an $8,121 purse tag attached to each dash. The first division is scheduled for before the regular eight-race program at 7:30 with no betting. The second division is slated for the third race.

Rossi Hanover is the early favorite for the betting event. Sandera Russell co-owns the Dean Hanover Reine Hanover colt with Lawrence Sheppard. Russell will drive from post four against a field of seven. Rossi's latest start resulted in a 2:10 at Historic Track, Goshen.

Del Miller's Campbeltown and Arden Homestead Stable's Florlis are top contenders. Campbeltown won the $13,016 Battle of Saratoga Stakes in straight heats in 2:09.4 and 2:08.4. Hugh Grant owns the Scotch Victor colt which has post five.

Florlis, a son of Florican, has been close in three recent starts. He was third in an overnight at Goshen after finishing second and third in the Spa stake. Harry Pownall Sr. will take Florlis away from No. 3 lane.

Ralph Balwin will rein Castleton Farms' Speedy Scot from the rail. First Theme (Eddie Wheeler), Incorporator (Billy Haughton) and Fearless Hanover (Frank Ervin) complete the field.

Miller's Lullex has the pole position in the first division. The gelded son of Duke of Lullwater scored at Goshen in 2:11 after an appearance at Spa where he was fifth and sixth.

Bob Camper's Valid Hanover, and Russell's Dusty Dean appear to be the main threats. Sir Faffee, Captain's Boy, Devilish Song, Fred Walker and Diggs Dell round out the lineup.

Trotters will also be spotlighted in the $2 600 associate feature in the seventh race. Eight horses will face the barrier in the Class A/B-1 Handicap. George Sholty's Detour, on the extreme outside, and Mr. Midnight, in the next lane, are the Class A threats. Graceful Duke, Chilly Brook and Dundeen B. are some of the other top challengers.

Apache Batters Beat Sioux, 6-4

Tony Argulowicz doubled twice and singled in a losing cause as the Apache nine dumped the Sioux, 6-4, in a Metropolitan Knothole League contest yesterday.

The winners had only four safeties against 10 for the Sioux but some walks and defensive lapses aided the Apache cause.

Jim Esposito had a pair of doubles while Andy Magdalino, Gary Bittner, Vince Rapp and Al Eisele also doubled.

The line score:	R	H
Sioux	100 300—4	10
Apache	022 20x—6	4

Mrs. deLisio Advances In Women's Tourney

Woodstock Star Upsets Mrs. Allen In First Round

Mrs. A. J. (Wiggie) deLisio of Woodstock pulled a stunning upset in the 33rd annual State Women's Golf Tournament at Cooperstown yesterday with a 3 and 2 win over Mrs. Philip Allen of Syracuse. Mrs. Allen was the 1941 titlist and reached the finals in 1959.

The Woodstock champion is scheduled to face Miss Louise Ward of Buffalo in the second round today. Miss Ward advanced with an easy 7-6 win over Mrs. William Levin of Herkimer.

In another reversal on the tough Cooperstown Country Club course, Gail Purdy of Saratoga Spring, the defending champion, lost, 1-up, in her bid for a second straight title when she fired a two-over-par seven on the 18th hole and lost to Linda Leader of Schenectady.

Also advancing into the second round were Mrs. Harry J. Nevil Jr. of Cooperstown, a three-time state champion, and Cookie Swift Berger of Buffalo, the 1955 winner and medalist in Monday's qualifying round.

Mrs. Berger defeated Mrs. Henry J. Noerling of Valatie, 6 and 5, and Mrs. Nevil bettered Sharon L. Briggs of Rochester, 4 and 2.

In today's pairings, Miss Leader was pitted against Mrs. George Trainor of Rochester who Tuesday defeated Edytha A. Kelleher of Oneida.

Mrs. Berger was paired with Margaret Cramer of Amsterdam, who won over Mrs. J. Peter Bush of Rochester, 1-up.

Mrs. Nevil was matched against Mary Lou Hathaway of Binghamton, who defeated Mrs. Lou Witt Jr., of Loudonville, 2 and 1.

Other first-round results:

Mrs. John Youker, South Glens Falls, defeated Martha Clute, Elmira, 5 and 4.

Gayle Terwilliger, Snyder, defeated Mrs. Bruce Starzenski, Milan, Italy, 5 and 4.

Mrs. Joseph A. Nesbitt, Greenwich, Conn., defeated Sylvia Maurycy, Schenectady, 7 and 6.

Mrs. James Sherman, Clinton, defeated Mrs. A. L. Sayles, Schenectady, 4 and 3.

Mrs. Max Kutzer, Syracuse, defeated Mrs. John Griffin, Rome, 3 and 2.

Mrs. Henry Blatner, Slingerlands, defeated Mrs. James Judson, Sherrill, 2 and 1.

Susan Rich, Skaneateles, defeated Janet Seagle, Great Neck, 1-up.

Nancy Gunther, Troy, defeated Mary Diana, Middletown, 3 and 1.

Miss Leader vs. Mrs. Trainor
Miss Terwilliger vs. Mrs. Youker
Mrs. Nevil vs. Miss Hathaway
Miss Nesbitt vs. Mrs. Sherman
Mrs. Berger vs. Miss Cramer
Mrs. Kutzer vs. Mrs. Blattner
Mrs. deLisio vs. Miss Ward

Monticello DD Returns $173.40

MONTICELLO — Longshot Beautiful Melody paid $22.50 in the first race to set up the largest daily double of the season at Monticello Raceway, Tuesday night, a $173.40 payoff made up of numbers 7 and 3.

Tony Colombo moved Beautiful Melody to the top nearing the three-quarter pole and the three-year-old daughter of Gene Abbe went on to post a 2:11.1 win in a $700 conditioned pace. The place price on the winner was $11.10 and the show payoff $6.50.

Tiny D. rushed up on the outside to win the second race for driver George Szikalai and Lorelei Stable in 2:09.3. Tiny D., a three-year-old filly by Tar Heel, paid across the board mutuels of $8.90, 4.10 and 3.00 in winning her second straight race here.

Miller to Conduct Racing Seminar

MONTICELLO, N. Y., July 10 — Famed driver-trainer Delvin Miller will conduct a seminar on harness racing Thursday, July 12, at Monticello Raceway in the board of directors room.

Miller, master of Meadowlands Farm, will speak and answer questions on all facets of harness racing. Horsemen, prospective owners and the like are invited to the session.

With 18 Wins

Abbatiello Pacing Monticello Drivers

Monticello—The driving race at Monticello Raceway is still a two-man battle between leader Carmine Abbatiello and runnerup Bob Camper after 33 nights and six full weeks of racing.

Abbatiello kept his grip on the lead despite winning just one dash all last week. Camper, too, slowed down and won just one race, thus missing out on a golden opportunity of taking over the lead.

Abbatiello has 18 wins in 72 trips to the post as compared with 10 for 49 for Camper. Carmine made 14 drives last week and Camper just six.

Frank Popfinger still clings to third place with 13 wins despite failing to win a race last week. Popfinger is the busiest driver, having started 93 times.

Harold Dancer, Jr. remains in fourth place with 11 wins. Canadian Keith Waples has moved up into the No. 5 spot, causing the only change in the top five. Waples has 10 wins.

Other leaders are Norm Stephens, Bill Popfinger, Lucien Fontaine and George Sziklai, all with nine wins each, and Richard Custis and Ned Galentine with eight and seven respectively.

Top Area Golfers Slated to Compete In Annual Event

More than 80 entries have been received for the 5th annual Wiltwyck Invitational Golf Tournament and indications are that a record field will be entered. A total of 93 participated last season and it's hoped that more than 100 will compete this time.

Some of the early entries include many of the top amateur golfers in the area. Arnold Weis of Red Hook, a two-handicap player, has been entered. Other entries have been received from Jim Mau, Rip Van Winkle; Matt Skowronski, Berkshire Hills; Pete Pyrch, Dunwoodie C. C.; Tom Weiss, Dutchess; Ricky and Bob Bates, Stamford; Bob Botsford, Dutchess; John Adler, Southern Dutchess and Bob Aklen, Berkshire Hills.

Botsford, one of the top young players in Dutchess County, captured the recent Burlington Invitational Tournament and he's scheduled to compete in the Ike Tourney later this month in Westchester County.

Many Prizes

Among the prizes will be transistor radios, clock radios, steak knives, ice buckets, traveling clocks, cocktail shakers, silver dishes, cigarette lighters, salad bowls with matching forks and spoons, overnight bags, shaving kits, wallets, poker chip sets and an outstanding line of various golf merchandise.

Qualifying has been taking place all week and the low score to date is 35-38-73 by Harvey Bostic, who has won the tournament on two different occasions. Leon Randall, the defending champion, is the only other winner, having captured it twice, also.

The qualifying round for medalist prize will take place on Friday. The top 16 qualifiers will start play in the championship flight and the next 16 qualifiers will compete in the 1st flight. The next eight will then play in other flights down the line.

The first round of 18 holes is scheduled Saturday morning and the second round on Saturday afternoon. The third round is slated for Sunday morning and the finals will be held on Sunday afternoon.

Two-Year Old Trotting Colts Are Featured at Monticello

MONTICELLO—The Franklin E. Devlin Challenge Trophy Trot, named for the president and general manager of Monticello Raceway, will be raced for $16,242 as tonight's Grand Circuit feature at the Sullivan County resort oval.

The event, for two-year-old trotting colts and geldings, will be contested in two divisions with an $8,121 purse tag attached to each dash. The first division is scheduled for before the regular eight-race program at 7:30 with no betting. The second division is slated for the third race.

Rossi Hanover is the early favorite for the betting event. Sandera Russell co-owns the Dean Hanover Reine Hanover colt with Lawrence Sheppard. Russell will drive from post four against a field of seven. Rossi's latest start resulted in a 2:10 at Historic Track, Goshen.

Del Miller's Campbeltown and Arden Homestead Stable's Florlis are top contenders. Campbeltown won the $13,016 Battle of Saratoga Stakes in straight heats in 2:09.4 and 2:08.4. Hugh Grant owns the Scotch Victor colt which has post five.

Florlis, a son of Florican, has been close in three recent starts. He was third in an overnight at Goshen after finishing second and third in the Spa stake. Harry Pownall Sr. will take Florlis away from No. 3 lane.

Ralph Balwin will rein Castleton Farms' Speedy Scot from the rail. First Theme (Eddie Wheeler), Incorporator (Billy Haughton) and Fearless Hanover (Frank Ervin) complete the field.

Miller's Lullex has the pole position in the first division. The gelded son of Duke of Lullwater scored at Goshen in 2:11 after an appearance at Spa where he was fifth and sixth.

Bob Camper's Valid Hanover, and Russell's Dusty Dean appear to be the main threats. Sir Faffee, Captain's Boy, Devilish Song, Fred Walker and Diggs Dell round out the lineup.

Trotters will also be spotlighted in the $2,600 associate feature in the seventh race. Eight horses will face the barrier in the Class A/B-1 Handicap. George Sholty's Detour, on the extreme outside, and Mr. Midnight, in the next lane, are the Class A threats. Graceful Duke, Chilly Brook and Dundeen B. are some of the other top challengers.

Apache Batters Beat Sioux, 6-4

Tony Argulowicz doubled twice and singled in a losing cause as the Apache nine dumped the Sioux, 6-4, in a Metropolitan Knothole League contest yesterday.

The winners had only four safeties against 10 for the Sioux but some walks and defensive lapses aided the Apache cause.

Jim Esposito had a pair of doubles while Andy Magdalino, Gary Bittner, Vince Rapp and Al Eisele also doubled.

Houk's Strategy Questioned in 3-1 Loss

AL Pilot Pulls Maris for Landis In Late Stages

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Second guessers were questoning Manager Ralph Houk's early removal of his starting players in the American League's 3-1 All-Star loss to the National League and wondered today whether he would employ the same tactics in the second midsummer meeting in Chicago's Wrigley Field, Monday, July 30.

Houk's questioned strategy took place in the seventh inning Tuesday when he took Roger Maris, along with three others, out of the lineup and replaced last year's home run king with Chicago's Jim Landis, in center field.

As a result, Landis, a less distinguished long ball hitter, came to bat in the eighth with a man on base and two out. A Maris home run would have tied the game. Landis struck out.

"I thought six innings was about right for Maris," Houk explained in the losers' dressing room later. "I wanted everybody to play. After all, this is an All-Star game. They were picked from their clubs and I think they should have the opportunity to play."

Two Solid Drives

Don Drysdale, the National League starter, struck out Maris in his first time at bat but the major league home run king nearly knocked the ball out of the park in each of his next two times at bat. Facing Juan Marichal in the fourth, he drove Willie Mays to the center field fence for his 400-foot drive. In the sixth, with Bob Purkey on the mound, Mays made a spectacular catch of Roger's bid for a three-run homer. Wondrous Willie crashed into the fence in deepest right center as he made the leapng catch, his glove reaching above the eight-foot fence.

Rich Rollins, who had singled and gone to third on Billy Moran's single, scampered home after the catch for the Americans' only run as Purkey tossed out Rocky Colavito and fanned Jim Gentile to escape further damage. That was the Americans' last real bid as Bob Shaw held them to one hit in the last two innings.

Mays didn't get a hit but he was tremendous afield. Besides his long runs to haul down blasts by Maris, he cut off a potential run with a fine play on Moran's long single to left center in the sixth, and closed the game with a catch of Luis Aparicio's smash to the fence in deep right center.

Musial, who watched Drysdale and Marichal of the Nationals and Jim Bunning and Pascual of the Americans pitch scoreless ball through five innings, came off the bench in the sixth and slashed a pinch hit single to ignite a two-run rally. It was the 20th hit in the 22nd All-Star game for the great St. Louis Cardinal, who before the game had visited President Kennedy's box behind the American League dugout and chatted with the country's No. 1 citizen for a few minutes.

Wills, sent in to run for Musial, gave the American League their first taste of his famed speed by stealing second, then scored the first run of the game on Dick Groat's single. Groat advanced to second on Roberto Clemente's third hit, a single to left, reached third on Mays' fly to deep center and scored on Orlando Cepeda's infield out.

Wills was not through. The Dodger speed king who has stolen 46 bases this season, dropped a Texas League single into left off Cleveland's Dick Donovan in the eighth. When Jim Davenport singled to left, Wills tore around second. Colavito, playing left field, threw behind Wills to second base but Maury had picked up speed and continued on to third. Second Baseman Bobby Richardson's throw to Brooks Robinson came a fraction of a second too late to nip the diving runner.

Still Wills was not finished. When Felipe Alou fouled out to Leon Wagner along the right field foul line, Wills tagged up and scored, sliding in under catcher John Romano's tag.

"Nobody else would have been able to score on that short fly ball," said National League Coach Johnny Keane.

Marichal, San Francisco's right-handed ace, was the winner. He succeeded Drysdale, who gave up one hit in the first three runless innings, and permitted only a walk in the next two innings.

Musial, President Kennedy Prove Age is Not a Barrier

By W. B. RAGSDALE JR.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Baseball's elder statesman, Stan Musial, triggered the winning rally for the National League in the 32nd All-Star game with a pinch-hit single.

And one of the loudest rooters for old man Musial, age 41, was young Jack Kennedy, age 45, considered possibly a little young to be President of the United States.

When he was told of the President's cheers after the game, Musial let reporters in on what he and the President talked about in their meeting just before Tuesday's game.

"When I shook hands with him before the game today," Musial said, "he was telling everybody what a good job of campaigning I did for him.

"I reminded him of the time we first met. It was in Milwaukee in the summer of 1960. As we shook hands, he said, 'They tell me you're too old to play ball and I'm too young to run for president. I have a hunch we'll both fool 'em.'

Both Doing Well

"The President remembered all right," Musial said, "and he laughed when I added, 'And I think we're both doing a good job.'"

The capacity crowd of 45,480 at D. C. Stadium gave Musial an ovation before and after the hit. The National League scored two runs in the sixth inning after Musial's pinch hit single for pitcher Juan Marichal of San Francisco and went on to win 3 to 1.

"That ball of Maris' was really hit," Houk said. "I thought it was going to make it."

But center fielder Willie Mays of San Francisco grabbed the ball on a great catch more than 400 feet from home, then bounced off the wire fence in deepest center field.

One run scored after the catch, but that was all for the American League in the scoring department.

Houk thought pitching was the key to the game, but added that it always is "when you get this kind of pitching. Those guys are really pitchers, on both sides."

Chick Boice Now Third In Hitting With .455

Chick Boice of Kingston has advanced to fourth place in the New York-New Jersey League batting race. The slugging first baseman has five hits in 11 trips to the dish for a .455 average. He has also driven in three runs.

George Blednick of Newburgh paces the individual averages with a gaudy .700 mark—the result of 7 hits in 10 trips. John Leonetti of Newburgh is second with .625 and Deke Johnson of Poughkeepsie is third with .500.

Paul Gardner of Kingston is the leading hurler. Paul has pitched 18 innings and possesses a 2-1 record. He has allowed 16 hits, three earned runs, walked five and struck out 19.

The Braves are currently tied for first place with Spring Valley, both sides having 3-1 records. Kingston will entertain Beacon Saturday at Dietz Stadium.

Minoso, Freese Hope to Start Playing Again

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Two National League sluggers —Minnie Minoso of pennant-hopeful St. Louis and Gene Freese of Cincinnati's defending champions —face completely opposite outlooks today as the major leagues prepare to lift the curtain on part two of the 1962 baseball season.

Minoso has made a successful recovery from a skull fracture and wrist injury and is expected to return to the line-up shortly. But the reports on Freese, who became the major spring training casualty when he shattered his right ankle, have been anything but encouraging.

The 28-year-old third baseman, a vital cog in the Reds' drive to the 1961 pennant, is off crutches and can walk, but is unable to run well enough for Manager Fred Hutchinson to be optimistic about his chances of returning in the immediate future.

Third man in the Reds' power triumverate led by Frank Robinson and Vada Pinson, Freese hit .277 last year with 26 homers and 78 runs batted in. When he fractured his ankle, hopes were high that his big bat would be back in the batting order sometime in June.

Now it's July and the only official word on Freese's return comes from the team physician, who says tersely: "Freese will be back before the end of the season."

Minoso is only one step away from getting the go-ahead. A physical exam early next week will determine his fitness to return to active duty for the first time since May 11, when he slammed into a concrete wall while chasing a fly ball and suffered the skull fracture and wrist injury.

Minoso was hitting only .194 before he was hurt, but had been hampered by a rib injury. His reactivation is expected to provide the Cards, now in fifth place and nine games behind, with the power needed to cope with the leaders.

Minoso, who says he has shaken off all effects of the injury, will get his first chance to watch his teammates in action as the second half of the season rolls into high gear Thursday night. There is one game scheduled tonight—Houston at Philadelphia in a makeup of a rained out game.

As action picks up, National League-leading Los Angeles will be at New York Thursday night with second-place San Francisco, trailing by a half-game, at Philadelphia. Third-place Pittsburgh will be host to Houston, St. Louis is at Milwaukee, and the fourth-place Reds at Chicago for a day game.

In the American League, first-place New York meets the third-place Angels at Los Angeles while runner-up Cleveland is at Baltimore trying to cut down the Yankees' one-game edge. Washington is at Minnesota, Detroit at Chicago and Boston at Kansas city for a twi-nighter.

Wills Flashes Blinding Speed In NL Triumph

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Maury Wills convinced doubting American League All-Star fans that his blinding speed is a long shot threat indeed to Ty Cobb's base stealing record.

The fleet Los Angeles Dodgers shortstop stole a base and scored the first run in Tuesday's 3-1 victory by the National League in the 32nd All-Star game and impressed one and all with his dashing base running.

When Rocky Colovito of Detroit fielded a single by Jim Davenport of San Francisco in left and threw behind Wills, apparently trapping him between second and third, Wills shifted into high gear and beat the relay to third base in the eighth. A few seconds later he sped home on a foul fly to short right field.

Casey Stengel, whose New York Mets have been made aware of Wills' speed all season long, said he wasn't surprised at all.

"He's got the move of a snake when he slides" said 72-year-old Case, who spent the day on his feet, coaching at first base.

When a reporter asked Wills why he would risk injury with headlong play in a game that didn't count in the pennant race, he said:

"I don't think they would have asked me to play if they didn't think I'd go all out."

Wills made the big time only after Detroit, aching for a shortstop, passed him up and returned him to the Dodger chain in 1959. He came up to stay and starred with the pennant-bound Dodgers later in '59 and led the league with 50 stolen bases in 1960 and 35 in 1961.

Wills has stolen 46 bases for the league - leading Dodgers in 89 games. With 73 games to go, he is at least a long shot threat to break Cobb's modern major league mark of 96 set in 1915. He has a good chance to topping the National League mark of 80 set by Cincinnati's Bob Bescher in 1911.

Yogi Berra Became Rich Man With 325-Ft. Stadium Homers

By HARRY GRAYSON
Sports Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Some New York baseball writers already have written Lawrence Peter Berra off as an active player.

The chances are that they are jumping the gun, although, from what he has done, it is amazing that Yogi Berra, now 37, lasted as long as he has.

Berra came to the Yankees doing the extraordinary and will go out the same way. For example, here is a ballplayer closing out his career as an outfielder who will go into the Hall of Fame as a catcher. He caught practically the complete schedule for the Bombers for a dozen consecutive years.

During the past training season in Fort Lauderdale, Joe DiMaggio kidded Berra about being "a lucky guy who got rich hitting 325-foot home runs."

The truth is that Yankee Stadium with its 296-foot right field foul line was made for Berra's left-hand pull swing. Had Yogi played half the time in any other park he would have been just another good catcher and hitter, but the fact remains that he was accomplished and smart enough to take advantage of the situation.

Berra has been vastly more than just another fine ballplayer at Yankee Stadium. The Yankees have had three standouts since Babe Ruth—Joe DiMaggio, Berra and Mickey Mantle. Casey Stengel held that, for all-round value, Berra had to be rated second only to DiMag. Ralph Houk, whom Berra kept in the dugout as a catcher, contends DiMag, Berra and Mantle must be bracketed.

The intensely loyal Houk hasn't given up on Berra, and he happens to be the one whose opinion counts most.

"Yogi had a cold during training and was retarded bya leg injury," the manager explains. "He's swinging well and will start hitting again."

Yogi Berra

Berra made his detactors take another look when, as a pinch-hitter and getting in his 2,000th game as a Yankee, he broke up a deadlock with the Orioles with a three-run home run well into the right field seats. It was the Yogi Man's 343rd four-master.

Berra says that only about 20 per cent of the stories they told about him as a comic book reading recruit were true. For a stretch after he first came around in 1947, Yogi dropped malaprops all over the place, and Joe Garagiola, his boyhood friend and Frank Scott, then the road secretary, kept making up yarns about their favorite character.

Shrewd Yogi good-naturedly went along with them and kept making trips to the bank. Berra has for some time been paid $62,000 a year. He has highly successful outside interests and a $75,000 home.

As Ralph Houk observed "Yogi may not have had too much formal education, but he makes change very well."

Maybe the baseball writetrs had best put away their crying towels. the last thing a stick-out hitter is his swing, and Yogi still has his.

Anyway, when the time comes for him to hang up his tack, it won't be necessary to hold benefits for Yogi Berra.

Vols, Legion Get Wins In Babe Ruth Contests

The unbeaten Vols stopped Masons No. 10, 14-10, and the American Legion defeated Rotary Club, 5-3, in Kingston Babe Ruth League games last evening.

Two big innings enabled the Vols to record their win at Dietz Stadium. Three walks, two singles and three errors gave the winners seven runs in the fourth. Then in the fifth, a single, walk, hit batter, triple by Dick Koyan, another walk and single netted six runs more.

Rotary tallied three times in the second frame against the Legion but the winners rallied in the fourth and fifth to capture the contest. The tying and winning markers resulted from bases loaded walks to Pete Bonavita and slugging Joe Schabot in the fourth inning.

Tonight's schedule has the Masons meeting the Knights of Columbus at the Athletic Field and in a doubleheader at the stadium, the Elks play the VFW nine at 6 o'clock and the Vols and KPA collide at 8:30.

Casper Is Choice In Golf Tourney

DETROIT (AP) — Bill Casper Jr., in the absence of many of golf's touring elite, rates as the favorite of the 11th Motor City Open that starts Thursday.

Casper's long drives are designed to tear par apart on the Knollwood Country Club course in suburban Birmingham. Par is 36-35—71 on the 6,879-yard layout.

But the big reason Casper is the pre-tournament choice is he'll have little top drawer opposition. He's the only one of the year's top five money winners who's entered in the 72-hole, $35,000 event. The other stars—Arnold Palmer, Gene Littler, Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player—are in Scotland for the British Open.

Casper is No. 3 on the PGA earnings list, behind Palmer and Littler. The rotund player from Apple Valley, Calif., has three tournament victories in 1962 and has been in the top five money in 10 of his 18 tournaments. Casper has earned $50,458 this year.

Four others among the 10 top money winners will be in the Motor City along with Casper. They are Bob Nichols, Doug Sanders, Bob Goalby and Dow Finsterwald.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Second guessers were questoning Manager Ralph Houk's early removal of his starting players in the American League's 3-1 All-Star loss to the National League and wondered today whether he would employ the same tactics in the second midsummer meeting in Chicago's Wrigley Field, Monday, July 30.

Houk's questioned strategy took place in the seventh inning Tuesday when he took Roger Maris, along with three others, out of the lineup and replaced last year's home run king with Chicago's Jim Landis, in center field.

As a result, Landis, a less distinguished long ball hitter, came to bat in the eighth with a man on base and two out. A Maris home run would have tied the game. Landis struck out.

"I thought six innings was about right for Maris," Houk explained in the losers' dressing room later. "I wanted everybody to play. After all, this is an All-Star game. They were picked from their clubs and I think they should have the opportunity to play."

Two Solid Drives

Don Drysdale, the National League starter, struck out Maris in his first time at bat but the major league home run king nearly knocked the ball out of the park in each of his next two times at bat. Facing Juan Marichal in the fourth, he drove Willie Mays to the center field fence for his 400-foot drive. In the sixth, with Bob Purkey on the mound, Mays made a spectacular catch of Roger's bid for a three-run homer. Wondrous Willie crashed into the fence in deepest right center as he made the leaping catch, his glove reaching above the eight-foot fence.

Rich Rollins, who had singled and gone to third on Billy Moran's single, scampered home after the catch for the Americans' only run as Purkey tossed out Rocky Colavito and fanned Jim Gentile to escape further damage. That was the Americans' last real bid as Bob Shaw held them to one hit in the last two innings.

Mays, the defensive star of the game, shared hero honors with Stan Musial, the ageless wonder, and Maury Wills, the mercury-footed shortstop who hails from the nation's capital.

Mays didn't get a hit but he was tremendous afield. Besides his long runs to haul down blasts by Maris, he cut off a potential run with a fine play on Moran's long single to left center in the sixth, and closed the game with a catch of Luis Aparicio's smash to the fence in deep right center.

Musial, who watched Drysdale and Marichal of the Nationals and Jim Bunning and Pascual of the Americans pitch scoreless ball through five innings, came off the bench in the sixth and slashed a pinch hit single to ignite a two-run rally. It was the 20th hit in the 22nd All-Star game for the great St. Louis Cardinal, who before the game had visited President Kennedy's box behind the American League dugout and chatted with the country's No. 1 citizen for a few minutes.

Wills, sent in to run for Musial, gave the American League their first taste of his famed speed by stealing second, then scored the first run of the game on Dick Groat's single. Groat advanced to second on Roberto Clemente's third hit, a single to left, reached third on Mays' fly to deep center and scored on Orlando Cepeda's infield out.

Wills was not through. The Dodger speed king who has stolen 46 bases this season, dropped a Texas League single into left off Cleveland's Dick Donovan in the eighth. When Jim Davenport singled to left, Wills tore around second. Colavito, playing left field, threw behind Wills to second base but Maury had picked up speed and continued on to third. Second Baseman Bobby Richardson's throw to Brooks Robinson came a fraction of a second too late to nip the diving runner.

Still Wills was not finished. When Felipe Alou fouled out to Leon Wagner along the right field foul line, Wills tagged up and scored, sliding in under catcher John Romano's tag.

"Nobody else would have been able to score on that short fly ball," said National League Coach Johnny Keane.

Marichal, San Francisco's right-handed ace, was the winner. He succeeded Drysdale, who gave up one hit in the first three runless innings, and permitted only a walk in the next two innings.

Musial, President Kennedy Prove Age is Not a Barrier

By W. B. RAGSDALE JR.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Baseball's elder statesman, Stan Musial, triggered the winning rally for the National League in the 32nd All-Star game with a pinch-hit single.

And one of the loudest rooters for old man Musial, age 41, was young Jack Kennedy, age 45, considered possibly a little young to be President of the United States.

When he was told of the President's cheers after the game, Musial let reporters in on what he and the President talked about in their meeting just before Tuesday's game.

"When I shook hands with him before the game today," Musial said, "he was telling everybody what a good job of campaigning I did for him.

"I reminded him of the time we first met. It was in Milwaukee in the summer of 1960. As we shook hands, he said, 'They tell me you're too old to play ball and I'm too young to run for president. I have a hunch we'll both fool 'em.'

Both Doing Well

"The President remembered all right," Musial said, "and he laughed when I added, 'And I think we're both doing a good job.'"

The capacity crowd of 45,480 at D. C. Stadium gave Musial an ovation before and after the hit. The National League scored two runs in the sixth inning after Musial's pinch hit single for pitcher Juan Marichal of San Francisco and went on to win 3 to 1.

Over in the American League dressing room, Manager Ralph Houk was musing over what might have been.

Roger Maris of Houk's New York Yankees swatted a mighty drive in the sixth with two men on base that could have put his team ahead.

"That ball of Maris' was really hit," Houk said. "I thought it was going to make it."

But center fielder Willie Mays of San Francisco grabbed the ball on a great catch more than 400 feet from home, then bounced off the wire fence in deepest center field.

One run scored after the catch, but that was all for the American League in the scoring department.

Houk thought pitching was the key to the game, but added that it always is "when you get this kind of pitching. Those guys are really pitchers, on both sides."

Chick Boice Now Third In Hitting With .455

Chick Boice of Kingston has advanced to fourth place in the New York-New Jersey League batting race. The slugging first baseman has five hits in 11 trips to the dish for a .455 average. He has also driven in three runs.

George Blednick of Newburgh paces the individual averages with a gaudy .700 mark—the result of 7 hits in 10 trips. John Leonetti of Newburgh is second with .625 and Deke Johnson of Poughkeepsie is third with .500.

Paul Gardner of Kingston is the leading hurler. Paul has pitched 18 innings and possesses a 2-1 record. He has allowed 16 hits, three earned runs, walked five and struck out 19.

The Braves are currently tied for first place with Spring Valley, both sides having 3-1 records. Kingston will entertain Beacon Saturday at Dietz Stadium.

Minoso, Freese Hope to Start Playing Again

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Two National League sluggers —Minnie Minoso of pennant-hopeful St. Louis and Gene Freese of Cincinnati's defending champions —face completely opposite outlooks today as the major leagues prepare to lift the curtain on part two of the 1962 baseball season.

Minoso has made a successful recovery from a skull fracture and wrist injury and is expected to return to the line-up shortly. But the reports on Freese, who became the major spring training casualty when he shattered his right ankle, have been anything but encouraging.

The 28-year-old third baseman, a vital cog in the Reds' drive to the 1961 pennant, is off crutches and can walk, but is unable to run well enough for Manager Fred Hutchinson to be optimistic about his chances of returning in the immediate future.

Third man in the Reds' power triumverate led by Frank Robinson and Vada Pinson, Freese hit .277 last year with 26 homers and 78 runs batted in. When he fractured his ankle, hopes were high that his big bat would be back in the batting order sometime in June.

Now it's July and the only official word on Freese's return comes from the team physician, who says tersely: "Freese will be back before the end of the season."

Minoso is only one step away from getting the go-ahead. A physical exam early next week will determine his fitness to return to active duty for the first time since May 11, when he slammed into a concrete wall while chasing a fly ball and suffered the skull fracture and wrist injury.

Minoso was hitting only .194 before he was hurt, but had been hampered by a rib injury. His reactivation is expected to provide the Cards, now in fifth place and nine games behind, with the power needed to cope with the leaders.

Minoso, who says he has shaken off all effects of the injury, will get his first chance to watch his teammates in action as the second half of the season rolls into high gear Thursday night. There is one game scheduled tonight—Houston at Philadelphia in a makeup of a rained out game.

As action picks up, National League-leading Los Angeles will be at New York Thursday night with second-place San Francisco, trailing by a half-game, at Philadelphia. Third-place Pittsburgh will be host to Houston, St. Louis is at Milwaukee, and the fourth-place Reds at Chicago for a day game.

In the American League, first-place New York meets the third-place Angels at Los Angeles while runner-up Cleveland is at Baltimore trying to cut down the Yankees' one-game edge. Washington is at Minnesota, Detroit at Chicago and Boston at Kansas city for a twi-nighter.

Wills Flashes Blinding Speed In NL Triumph

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Maury Wills convinced doubting American League All-Star fans that his blinding speed is a long shot threat indeed to Ty Cobb's base stealing record.

The fleet Los Angeles Dodgers shortstop stole a base and scored the first run in Tuesday's 3-1 victory by the National League in the 32nd All-Star game and impressed one and all with his dashing base running.

When Rocky Colovito of Detroit fielded a single by Jim Davenport of San Francisco in left and threw behind Wills, apparently trapping him between second and third, Wills shifted into high gear and beat the relay to third base in the eighth. A few seconds later he sped home on a foul fly to short right field.

Casey Stengel, whose New York Mets have been made aware of Wills' speed all season long, said he wasn't surprised at all.

"He's got the move of a snake when he slides" said 72-year-old Case, who spent the day on his feet, coaching at first base.

When a reporter asked Wills why he would risk injury with headlong play in a game that didn't count in the pennant race, he said:

"I don't think they would have asked me to play if they didn't think I'd go all out."

Wills made the big time only after Detroit, aching for a shortstop, passed him up and returned him to the Dodger chain in 1959. He came up to stay and starred with the pennant-bound Dodgers later in '59 and led the league with 50 stolen bases in 1960 and 35 in 1961.

Wills has stolen 46 bases for the league - leading Dodgers in 89 games. With 73 games to go, he is at least a long shot threat to break Cobb's modern major league mark of 96 set in 1915. He has a good chance to topping the National League mark of 80 set by Cincinnati's Bob Bescher in 1911.

Yogi Berra Became Rich Man With 325-Ft. Stadium Homers

By HARRY GRAYSON
Sports Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Some New York baseball writers already have written Lawrence Peter Berra off as an active player.

The chances are that they are jumping the gun, although, from what he has done, it is amazing that Yogi Berra, now 37, lasted as long as he has.

Berra came to the Yankees doing the extraordinary and will go out the same way. For example, here is a ballplayer closing out his career as an outfielder who will go into the Hall of Fame as a catcher. He caught practically the complete schedule for the Bombers for a dozen consecutive years.

During the past training season in Fort Lauderdale, Joe DiMaggio kidded Berra about being "a lucky guy who got rich hitting 325-foot home runs."

The truth is that Yankee Stadium with its 296-foot right field foul line was made for Berra's left-hand pull swing. Had Yogi played half the time in any other park he would have been just another good catcher and hitter, but the fact remains that he was accomplished and smart enough to take advantage of the situation.

Berra has been vastly more than just another fine ballplayer at Yankee Stadium. The Yankees have had three standouts since Babe Ruth—Joe DiMaggio, Berra and Mickey Mantle. Casey Stengel held that, for all-round value, Berra had to be rated second only to DiMag. Ralph Houk, whom Berra kept in the dugout as a catcher, contends DiMag, Berra and Mantle must be bracketed.

The intensely loyal Houk hasn't given up on Berra, and he happens to be the one whose opinion counts most.

"Yogi had a cold during training and was retarded bya leg injury," the manager explains. "He's swinging well and will start hitting again."

Yogi Berra

Berra made his detactors take another look when, as a pinch-hitter and getting in his 2,000th game as a Yankee, he broke up a deadlock with the Orioles with a three-run home run well into the right field seats. It was the Yogi Man's 343rd four-master.

Berra says that only about 20 per cent of the stories they told about him as a comic book reading recruit were true. For a stretch after he first came around in 1947, Yogi dropped malaprops all over the place, and Joe Garagiola, his boyhood friend and Frank Scott, then the road secretary, kept making up yarns about their favorite character.

Shrewd Yogi good-naturedly went along with them and kept making trips to the bank. Berra has for some time been paid $62,000 a year. He has highly successful outside interests and a $75,000 home.

As Ralph Houk observed "Yogi may not have had too much formal education, but he makes change very well."

Maybe the baseball writetrs had best put away their crying towels. the last thing a stick-out hitter is his swing, and Yogi still has his.

Anyway, when the time comes for him to hang up his tack, it won't be necessary to hold benefits for Yogi Berra.

Vols, Legion Get Wins In Babe Ruth Contests

The unbeaten Vols stopped Masons No. 10, 14-10, and the American Legion defeated Rotary Club, 5-3, in Kingston Babe Ruth League games last evening.

Two big innings enabled the Vols to record their win at Dietz Stadium. Three walks, two singles and three errors gave the winners seven runs in the fourth. Then in the fifth, a single, walk, hit batter, triple by Dick Koyan, another walk and single netted six runs more.

Rotary tallied three times in the second frame against the Legion but the winners rallied in the fourth and fifth to capture the contest. The tying and winning markers resulted from bases loaded walks to Pete Bonavita and slugging Joe Schabot in the fourth inning.

Tonight's schedule has the Masons meeting the Knights of Columbus at the Athletic Field and in a doubleheader at the stadium, the Elks play the VFW nine at 6 o'clock and the Vols and KPA collide at 8:30.

Casper Is Choice In Golf Tourney

DETROIT (AP) — Bill Casper Jr., in the absence of many of golf's touring elite, rates as the favorite of the 11th Motor City Open that starts Thursday.

Casper's long drives are designed to tear par apart on the Knollwood Country Club course in suburban Birmingham. Par is 36-35—71 on the 6,879-yard layout.

But the big reason Casper is the pre-tournament choice is he'll have little top drawer opposition. He's the only one of the year's top five money winners who's entered in the 72-hole, $35,000 event. The other stars—Arnold Palmer, Gene Littler, Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player—are in Scotland for the British Open.

Casper is No. 3 on the PGA earnings list, behind Palmer and Littler. The rotund player from Apple Valley, Calif., has three tournament victories in 1962 and has been in the top five money in 10 of his 18 tournaments. Casper has earned $50,458 this year.

Four others among the 10 top money winners will be in the Motor City along with Casper. They are Bob Nichols, Doug Sanders, Bob Goalby and Dow Finsterwald.

EMPLOYMENT

NOTICE TO JOB APPLICANTS
The Kingston Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept help wanted advertisements from employers covered by the Federal Wage-Hour Law if they offer less than legal minimum wages. Beginning September 3, 1961, employees engaged in interstate or foreign commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce must be paid not less than $1.15 an hour and at least time and one-half for hours worked after 40 in a workweek, unless specifically exempt. Employees of certain large retail, service, construction, and other enterprises must be paid not less than $1.00 an hour after September 3, 1961, but no overtime for such employment is required until September 3, 1963. If you are offered less by covered employers, or if you have questions concerning this law or other activities of the U. S. Department of Labor, call or write the Department's local office at Bronx: Abraham Klainbard. Investigation Supr., 881 Gerard Ave., Bronx, N. Y. WYandotte 2-1235.

EMPLOYMENT

NOTICE TO JOB APPLICANTS
The Kingston Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept help wanted advertisements from employers covered by the Federal Wage-Hour Law if they offer less than legal minimum wages. Beginning September 3, 1961, employees engaged in interstate or foreign commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce must be paid not less than $1.15 an hour and at least time and one-half for hours worked after 40 in a workweek, unless specifically exempt. Employees of certain large retail, service, construction, and other enterprises must be paid not less than $1.00 an hour after September 3, 1961, but no overtime for such employment is required until September 3, 1963. If you are offered less by covered employers, or if you have questions concerning this law or other activities of the U. S. Department of Labor, call or write the Department's local office at Bronx: Abraham Klainbard, Investigation Supr., 881 Gerard Ave., Bronx, N. Y. WYandotte 2-1235.

Three Waders Drown

PORT ALLEGANY, Pa. (AP) —A man and two children drowned near this McKean County community Tuesday at a creek swimming hole where they had been wading.

They were Archie J. Grimes, 39, of Port Allegany, his daughter, Jayne, 2, and a family friend, Marjorie Finn, 13, of Wilcox, Elk County.

Cool Air Due Most of Period

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Extended forecasts, prepared by the U. S. Weather Bureau, from 7 p. m. today to 7 p. m. Monday:

Eastern New York—Continued rather cool most of the period with temperatures averaging 2-5 degrees below normal. Cool at beginning, warming trend by Saturday and cooler by Monday. A few scattered light showers at beginning and fair chance of scattered showers again by Saturday. Total rainfall light and spotty.

Western New York—Temperatures will average 4-6 degrees below normal. A period of cool but pleasant weather is indicated except for a brief period of warm, more humid conditions about the end of the week. Precipitation will average about one-tenth of an inch as widely scattered showers tonight and again about Saturday.

Temperature normals — Daytime highs 78-84. Nighttime lows 58-62.

Woman Driver Is Fair Today After Auto Overturns

A Kingston woman was injured shortly after 4:10 p. m. Tuesday, when her 1962 car went out of control and overturned on guard rails off Route 9W near the Esopus Motel.

Highland State Police said Lynne Herriott, of 322 Albany Avenue, formerly of Peekskill, was driving north when she went off the east shoulder of the highway struck a wire and overturned on guard rails.

The injured woman was taken to Benedictine Hospital and treated for multiple bruises and abrasions. Her condition today was described as fair. The driver was issued a summons, troopers said, charging her with being an unlicensed driver.

The summons is returnable Monday, July 16 before Town of Esopus John O. Beaver.

It was reported that the injured woman was assisted from her overturned car by Miss Mary Brands, Box 194, West Park, and Winona Wynkoop, also of West Park.

News Guild Told Of Red Goofs

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — The Communists make their share of goofs in foreign aid programs, says a State Department official. Some examples:

—Red shipments to Conakry, the sweltering Guinean capital near the equator, included a snow plough and tractors built for use in places like Siberia.

—To Accra, the capital of Ghana—even nearer the equator—the first gift from the Polish-Ghana Friendship Society included winter caps with fur ear flaps.

Carl T. Rowan, a deputy assistant secretary for public affairs, cited these examples in a speech Tuesday night before the American Newspaper Guild's 29th annual convention. Rowan said some red miscues in their foreign aid programs "make our bureaucracy look like a management dream."

The five-day meeting of the newspaper union runs through Friday. More than 250 delegates are on hand.

Local Driver Arrested

John W. Frazier, 36, of 77 Hasbrouck Avenue, was arrested in the Town of Esopus by state police on a charge of operating an unregistered vehicle. Before Justice Allen Dargie of Town of Esopus a 30-day jail sentence was imposed.

Tri-Mount Given Rating of A-99, Best Mark Ever

An A-99 rating was awarded the Camp Tri-Mount Scout Reservation Tuesday when the annual inspection by the national officers of the Boy Scouts of America was held.

This one-point-from-perfect rating was the highest ever achieved by the local Boy Scout camp, which in 1961 led the 68 camps in Region Two with an A-98 score.

Cooperation Cited

According to Walter Horsely, Deputy Regional officer of Region Two, comprising the states of New York, New Jersey, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands, the facilities, program and staff at the East Jewett reservation meet practically every requirement of the standards for camps as outlined by the Boy Scouts of America.

"Cooperative effort" was listed by Camp Chairman Henry P. Eighmey of Kingston as the reason for the A-99 rating.

Eighmey said that the high rating comes from the "efforts of volunteer workers, professional scouters, the camp staff, and the Boy Scouts themselves." He pointed out that this "cooperative effort is responsible for the physical progress at camp, the quality of the program available to the campers on a year-round basis, and the cleanliness and neatness that prevails at the reservation."

The camp chairman further paid tribute to the efforts of Camp Director Robert E. Hensel and assistant camp chairman Irving Benjamin "who have directed the abilities of many volunteers in building Camp Tri-mount into one of the leading Boy Scout camps in the region."

Hall Nears Completion

In line with the program of progress in recent years, which has brought a nature lodge, health lodge, new trading post and two new troop sites to Camp Tri-mount, the current project of a new dining hall is nearing completion. The construction of the dining hall was started late last fall and work has brought steady progress throughout the winter and spring months.

"The opening of our new dining hall will bring to Camp Trimount even greater facilities for the advancement of the youth of Ulster and Greene Counties," the camp chairman said.

U.S. Crewman Struck

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—An American crewman was struck by a Communist bullet Tuesday night while his U. S. Air Force C123 was flying at about 3,000 feet on a sight training exercise for South Vietnamese personnel.

U. S. authorities said the airman, whose name was withheld, was not seriously injured.

Retail Sales Dip

WASHINGTON (AP) — Retail sales, one of several key economic indicators, declined 2 per cent in June.

The sales report, based on preliminary figures, was issued Tuesday by the Commerce Department. It showed that retail sales were down by $431 million to a total of $19.1 billion in June, the sharpest dip since the end of the 1961 recession. Retail sales were off by $117 million in May.

July 25 Deadline For Many Under GI Home Program

A final reminder was issued today by Charles Culver, counselor, New York State Division of Veterans' Affairs and John Tyler, director of the Ulster County Veterans' Service Agency, that many veterans of World War 2 eligible for GI Home Loans, have only until July 25 to take advantage of the GI Housing Program. In some cases WW 2 veterans entitlement will not expire until July 25, 1962.

Both WW 2 and Korean veterans who have existing GI loans, but who would find it necessary to dispose of their present holdings and move elsewhere, under certain conditions, can obtain a new loan, the veterans' officials further said.

Those who have any questions about the provisions of the GI loan program may obtain expert counseling and assistance at Tyler's and Culver's office, 32 Main Street.

Savings for U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department is closing 80 military installations in 29 states and Canada because they are no longer deemed necessary.

Facilities involved originally cast the government $273.8 million, the department said Tuesday. By closing the bases and selling them as surplus, the government is expected to save $5,410,000 a year in maintenance expenses.

Syria Opens Fire

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Syrian positions opened fire in the direction of Tel Kazir settlement, in Israeli territory south of the Sea of Galilee Tuesday night, official sources said today. No Israeli casualties were reported.

Court Voids Tax In Two Counties

GLENS FALLS, N. Y. (AP) — Sales taxes adopted by the boards of supervisors of Warren and Washington counties were voided today by a court order that said the counties must submit the issue to the voters.

Opponents of the taxes had appealed to State Supreme Court.

Justice Harold R. Soden said that, although he had no doubt the boards had "acted in good faith and in the public interest," they could not refuse to hold referendums when legal action for such had been brought.

The taxes had been scheduled to go into effect July 1 but the effective date was put off to July 15 while the judge considered the suit.

The boards voted in March to impose a 2 per cent tax on most retail sales and a 3 per cent levy on hotel and motel bills and restaurant checks of more than $1.

Neighboring Essex County also adopted the taxes in March but abandoned them before the effective date as opposition mounted among resort operators, merchants and others.

The city of Plattsburgh, just north of Essex County, recently enacted sales taxes without holding a referendum. But the rest of Clinton County has no sales taxes.

Five Upstate counties now have sales taxes. Six other cities, including New York, also have them.

Zimmerman Sent For Treatment

Daniel Zimmerman, 63, of Chichester, who was the object of a wide search Monday night and Tuesday morning after he had disappeared from his home, was committed to a state hospital yesterday.

Zimmerman disappeared from his home after he had disposed of a quantity of personal belongings. When he was not located after a wide search by troopers and members of Sheriff Claude Bell's staff, the assistance of bloodhounds from Putnam County was sought by Sheriff Bell.

The Putnam County undersheriff and his wife, who trains the bloodhounds, tracked Zimmerman for some time Monday until darkness called a halt. Tuesday morning the hounds again took up the trail but while some distance away, Zimmerman was located walking toward Hunter and County Identification Officer Earl Conro induced the man to return home.

Many, volunteers were involved in the search. After an examination Tuesday, Zimmerman was committed to a hospital.

Firemen, Ladies Plan Block Party, Bazaar in August

Plans have been completed for the 12th annual block party and bazaar sponsored by A. H. Wicks Engine and Truck Co., Inc., and the Ladies Auxiliary of the company.

The party is scheduled August 16-17-18 at the Schryver Lumber Company property on Wiltwyck Avenue.

After a meeting Tuesday in the firehouse, 17 Wiltwyck Avenue, it was announced by Herman Sickler, general chairman, that his committees have planned what is expected to be the best block party and bazaar in the history of the company.

There will be booths with merchandise, games and rides for adults and children.

26th Pacific Blast

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has announced firing of another airplane-dropped nuclear test device in the skies over the Pacific.

Tuesday's blast, the 26th announced by the government since the series began last April 25, was described as in the intermediate range, meaning its blast force was equivalent to 20,000 to 1 million tons of TNT. Detonation was in the vicinity of Christmas Island.

Climber Loses Life

JACKSON, Wyo. (AP)—One mountain climber was killed and another injured Tuesday when they fell on 12,798-foot Middle Teton Mountain in Grand Teton National Park.

U.S. Park Service officials withheld names of the men pending notification of relatives.

We The Women

The Sure Way to Be 'In' Is to Stay Way, Way 'Out'

RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Having just finished reading "What's In? What's Out" in the June issue of Pageant Magazine, in which a panel of experts rates the reader's tastes. I've decided that the happiest people must be those who are so far out they don't even know they're not in.

For those who want to be "in" life must be a never-ending struggle to stay one step ahead of the masses. Once a style in houses, furniture, cars or entertaining is taken up by many, those who want to be "in" know it is no longer for them and so they have to get rid of the old and get on with the new.

For instance, to be "in" at the moment you would have to get rid of your wall-to-wall carpeting (it's out), your big flashy American-made automobie (also out), sell your ranch house (a real has-been), throw out your back yard barbecue, (casual entertaining is way, way out) and stop watching television (except on Sunday afternoon).

And that is just a start on the things you would have to get rid of if you wanted to impress those who are "in" with your unerring good taste in living.

It's enough of a job for most women to try to keep their hemlines the proper distance above or below their knees and their hair done in the latest fashion without having to worry about whether or not everything the family owns is "in" or "out."

So the only way to win the race to be "in" is obviously to stay so far "out" nobody thinks you are even trying to be "in."

Along with all the time and energy and money you'll save being content to be "out," the day will surely come when all you own that is "out" will again be "in"—including the wall-to-wall carpet and the out-door barbecue.

A Kingston woman was injured shortly after 4:10 p. m. Tuesday, when her 1962 car went out of control and overturned on guard rails off Route 9W near the Esopus Motel.

Highland State Police said Lynne Herriott, of 322 Albany Avenue, formerly of Peekskill, was driving north when she went off the east shoulder of the highway struck a wire and overturned on guard rails.

The injured woman was taken to Benedictine Hospital and treated for multiple bruises and abrasions. Her condition today was described as fair. The driver was issued a summons, troopers said, charging her with being an unlicensed driver.

The summons is returnable Monday, July 16 before Town of Esopus John O. Beaver.

It was reported that the injured woman was assisted from her overturned car by Miss Mary Brands, Box 194, West Park, and Winona Wynkoop, also of West Park.

News Guild Told Of Red Goofs

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — The Communists make their share of goofs in foreign aid programs, says a State Department official. Some examples:

—Red shipments to Conakry, the sweltering Guinean capital near the equator, included a snow plough and tractors built for use in places like Siberia.

—To Accra, the capital of Ghana—even nearer the equator —the first gift from the Polish-Ghana Friendship Society included winter caps with fur ear flaps.

Carl T. Rowan, a deputy assistant secretary for public affairs, cited these examples in a speech Tuesday night before the American Newspaper Guild's 29th annual convention. Rowan said some red miscues in their foreign aid programs "make our bureaucracy look like a management dream."

The five-day meeting of the newspaper union runs through Friday. More than 250 delegates are on hand.

Local Driver Arrested

John W. Frazier, 36, of 77 Hasbrouck Avenue, was arrested in the Town of Esopus by state police on a charge of operating an unregistered vehicle. Before Justice Allen Dargie of Town of Esopus a 30-day jail sentence was imposed.

Tri-Mount Given Rating of A-99, Best Mark Ever

An A-99 rating was awarded the Camp Tri-Mount Scout Reservation Tuesday when the annual inspection by the national officers of the Boy Scouts of America was held.

This one - point - from - perfect rating was the highest ever achieved by the local Boy Scout camp, which in 1961 led the 68 camps in Region Two with an A-98 score.

Cooperation Cited

According to Walter Horsely, Deputy Regional officer of Region Two, comprising the states of New York, New Jersey, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands, the facilities, program and staff at the East Jewett reservation meet practically every requirement of the standards for camps as outlined by the Boy Scouts of America.

"Cooperative effort" was listed by Camp Chairman Henry P. Eighmey of Kingston as the reason for the A-99 rating.

Eighmey said that the high rating comes from the "efforts of volunteer workers, professional scouters, the camp staff, and the Boy Scouts themselves." He pointed out that this "cooperative effort is responsible for the physical progress at camp, the quality of the program available to the campers on a year-round basis, and the cleanliness and neatness that prevails at the reservation."

The camp chairman further paid tribute to the efforts of Camp Director Robert E. Hensel and assistant camp chairman Irving Benjamin "who have directed the abilities of many volunteers in building Camp Tri-mount into one of the leading Boy Scout camps in the region."

Hall Nears Completion

In line with the program of progress in recent years, which has brought a nature lodge, health lodge, new trading post and two new troop sites to Camp Tri-mount, the current project of a new dining hall is nearing completion. The construction of the dining hall was started late last fall and work has brought steady progress throughout the winter and spring months.

"The opening of our new dining hall will bring to Camp Trimount even greater facilities for the advancement of the youth of Ulster and Greene Counties," the camp chairman said.

U.S. Crewman Struck

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—An American crewman was struck by a Communist bullet Tuesday night while his U. S. Air Force C123 was flying at about 3,000 feet on a sight training exercise for South Vietnamese personnel.

U. S. authorities said the airman, whose name was withheld, was not seriously injured.

The shot, apparently fired from the ground, was the only one to hit the plane.

Retail Sales Dip

WASHINGTON (AP) — Retail sales, one of several key economic indicators, declined 2 per cent in June.

The sales report, based on preliminary figures, was issued Tuesday by the Commerce Department. It showed that retail sales were down by $431 million to a total of $19.1 billion in June, the sharpest dip since the end of the 1961 recession. Retail sales were off by $117 million in May.

July 25 Deadline For Many Under GI Home Program

A final reminder was issued today by Charles Culver, counselor, New York State Division of Veterans' Affairs and John Tyler, director of the Ulster County Veterans' Service Agency, that many veterans of World War 2 eligible for GI Home Loans, have only until July 25 to take advantage of the GI Housing Program. In some cases WW 2 veterans entitlement will not expire until July 25, 1962.

Both WW 2 and Korean veterans who have existing GI loans, but who would find it necessary to dispose of their present holdings and move elsewhere, under certain conditions, can obtain a new loan, the veterans' officials further said.

Those who have any questions about the provisions of the GI loan program may obtain expert counseling and assistance at Tyler's and Culver's office, 32 Main Street.

Savings for U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department is closing 80 military installations in 29 states and Canada because they are no longer deemed necessary.

Facilities involved originally cast the government $273.8 million, the department said Tuesday. By closing the bases and selling them as surplus, the government is expected to save $5,410,000 a year in maintenance expenses.

Syria Opens Fire

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Syrian positions opened fire in the direction of Tel Kazir settlement, in Israeli territory south of the Sea of Galilee Tuesday night, official sources said today. No Israeli casualties were reported.

Court Voids Tax In Two Counties

GLENS FALLS, N. Y. (AP) — Sales taxes adopted by the boards of supervisors of Warren and Washington counties were voided today by a court order that said the counties must submit the issue to the voters.

Opponents of the taxes had appealed to State Supreme Court. Justice Harold R. Soden said that, although he had no doubt the boards had "acted in good faith and in the public interest," they could not refuse to hold referendums when legal action for such had been brought.

The judge mailed his decision from his office in Lake Placid to attorneys representing both sides in the two Northern New York counties.

The taxes had been scheduled to go into effect July 1 but the effective date was put off to July 15 while the judge considered the suit.

The boards voted in March to impose a 2 per cent tax on most retail sales and a 3 per cent levy on hotel and motel bills and restaurant checks of more than $1.

Neighboring Essex County also adopted the taxes in March but abandoned them before the effective date as opposition mounted among resort operators, merchants and others.

The city of Plattsburgh, just north of Essex County, recently enacted sales taxes without holding a referendum. But the rest of Clinton County has no sales taxes.

Five Upstate counties now have sales taxes. Six other cities, including New York, also have them.

Zimmerman Sent For Treatment

Daniel Zimmerman, 63, of Chichester, who was the object of a wide search Monday night and Tuesday morning after he had disappeared from his home, was committed to a state hospital yesterday.

Zimmerman disappeared from his home after he had disposed of a quantity of personal belongings. When he was not located after a wide search by troopers and members of Sheriff Claude Bell's staff, the assistance of bloodhounds from Putnam County was sought by Sheriff Bell.

The Putnam County undersheriff and his wife, who trains the bloodhounds, tracked Zimmerman for some time Monday until darkness called a halt. Tuesday morning the hounds again took up the trail but while some distance away, Zimmerman was located walking toward Hunter and County Identification Officer Earl Conro induced the man to return home.

Many, volunteers were involved in the search. After an examination Tuesday, Zimmerman was committed to a hospital.

Firemen, Ladies Plan Block Party, Bazaar in August

Plans have been completed for the 12th annual block party and bazaar sponsored by A. H. Wicks Engine and Truck Co., Inc., and the Ladies Auxiliary of the company.

The party is scheduled August 16-17-18 at the Schryver Lumber Company property on Wiltwyck Avenue.

After a meeting Tuesday in the firehouse, 17 Wiltwyck Avenue, it was announced by Herman Sickler, general chairman, that his committees have planned what is expected to be the best block party and bazaar in the history of the company.

There will be booths with merchandise, games and rides for adults and children.

26th Pacific Blast

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has announced firing of another airplane-dropped nuclear test device in the skies over the Pacific.

Tuesday's blast, the 26th announced by the government since the series began last April 25, was described as in the intermediate range, meaning its blast force was equivalent to 20,000 to 1 million tons of TNT. Detonation was in the vicinity of Christmas Island.

Climber Loses Life

JACKSON, Wyo. (AP)—One mountain climber was killed and another injured Tuesday when they fell on 12,758-foot Middle Teton Mountain in Grand Teton National Park.

U.S. Park Service officials withheld names of the men pending notification of relatives.

We The Women

RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Having just finished reading "What's In? What's Out " in the June issue of Pageant Magazine, in which a panel of experts rates the reader's tastes, I've decided that the happiest people must be those who are so far out they don't even know they're not in.

For those who want to be "in" life must be a never - ending struggle to stay one step ahead of the masses. Once a style in houses, furniture, cars or entertaining is taken up by many, those who want to be "in" know it is no longer for them and so they have to get rid of the old and get on with the new.

For instance, to be "in" at the moment you would have to get rid of your wall-to-wall carpeting (it's out), your big flashy American-made automobie (also out), sell your ranch house (a real has-been), throw out your back yard barbecue, (casual entertaining is way, way out) and stop watching television (except on Sunday afternoon).

And that is just a start on the things you would have to get rid of if you wanted to impress those who are "in" with your unerring good taste in living.

It's enough of a job for most women to try to keep their hemlines the proper distance above or below their knees and their hair done in the latest fashion without having to worry about whether or not everything the family owns is "in" or "out."

So the only way to win the race to be "in" is obviously to stay so far "out" nobody thinks you are even trying to be "in."

Along with all the time and energy and money you'll save being content to be "out," the day will surely come when all you own that is "out" will again be "in"—including the wall-to-wall carpet and the out-door barbecue.
